Washington Beautiful

ODAY a grateful nation rejoices that its forefathers had the wisdom and foresight to insure for posterity a Federal Capital, appropriate to the simple dignity and majesty of the United States. It was at the close of the eighteenth century that Washington and Jefferson conceived the idea of this city, and appointed as its designer Major L'Enfant, a young Frenchman who had served with distinction in the Revolutionary War. The vision of L'Enfant has formed a framework for the building of the City of Washington. The plan has been deviated from in a few instances, but we are grateful that these instances are few. We are still able to accomplish the ideals of Washington, Jefferson, and L'Enfant, and we will have at their complete execution the most beautiful city in the world.

The very heart of the Government is the Capitol. When L'Enfant wrote of the proposed site of the Capitol, he described it as a "pedestal awaiting its monument." Today we can appreciate the truth of this statement. No one can behold this edifice without a feeling of awe at its beauty and majesty. No one can stand in the shadow of this great dome without being imbued with a sense of the responsibility of citizenship.

The Executive Mansion stands perhaps second in the interest of tourists. In the home of the Presidents there is "no suggestion of the pretentiousness of a palace. The architecture of the White House reflects the dignity, the simplicity, and the stability of a government of the people, by the people, and for the people."

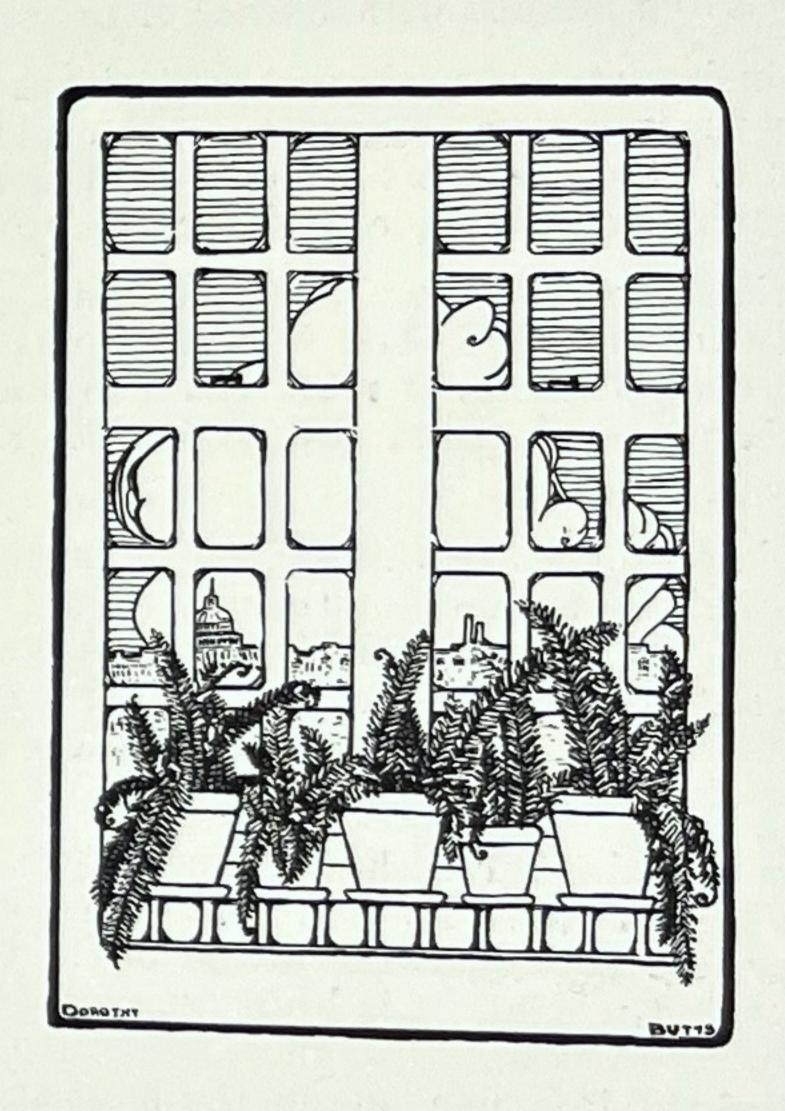

Visible from practically every point in the nation's capital is the towering monument to the Founder of Our Country. The Washington Monument is not only one of the most remarkable accomplishments of man, but also one of the most beautiful of all human creations. "It is at once so great and so simple that it seems almost a work of nature."

At the foot of the knoll on which this lofty monument stands, lies the Mirror Lake. It reflects not only the majesty of the Monument but the beauty and grandeur of the Lincoln Memorial. On the banks of the Potomac stands this Memorial; a gem of art; a fitting tribute to the nation's truly great. Ultimately a Memorial Bridge, typifying the reunion of the North and the South, will span the Potomac connecting this shrine of Lincoln to the Silent City of Arlington.

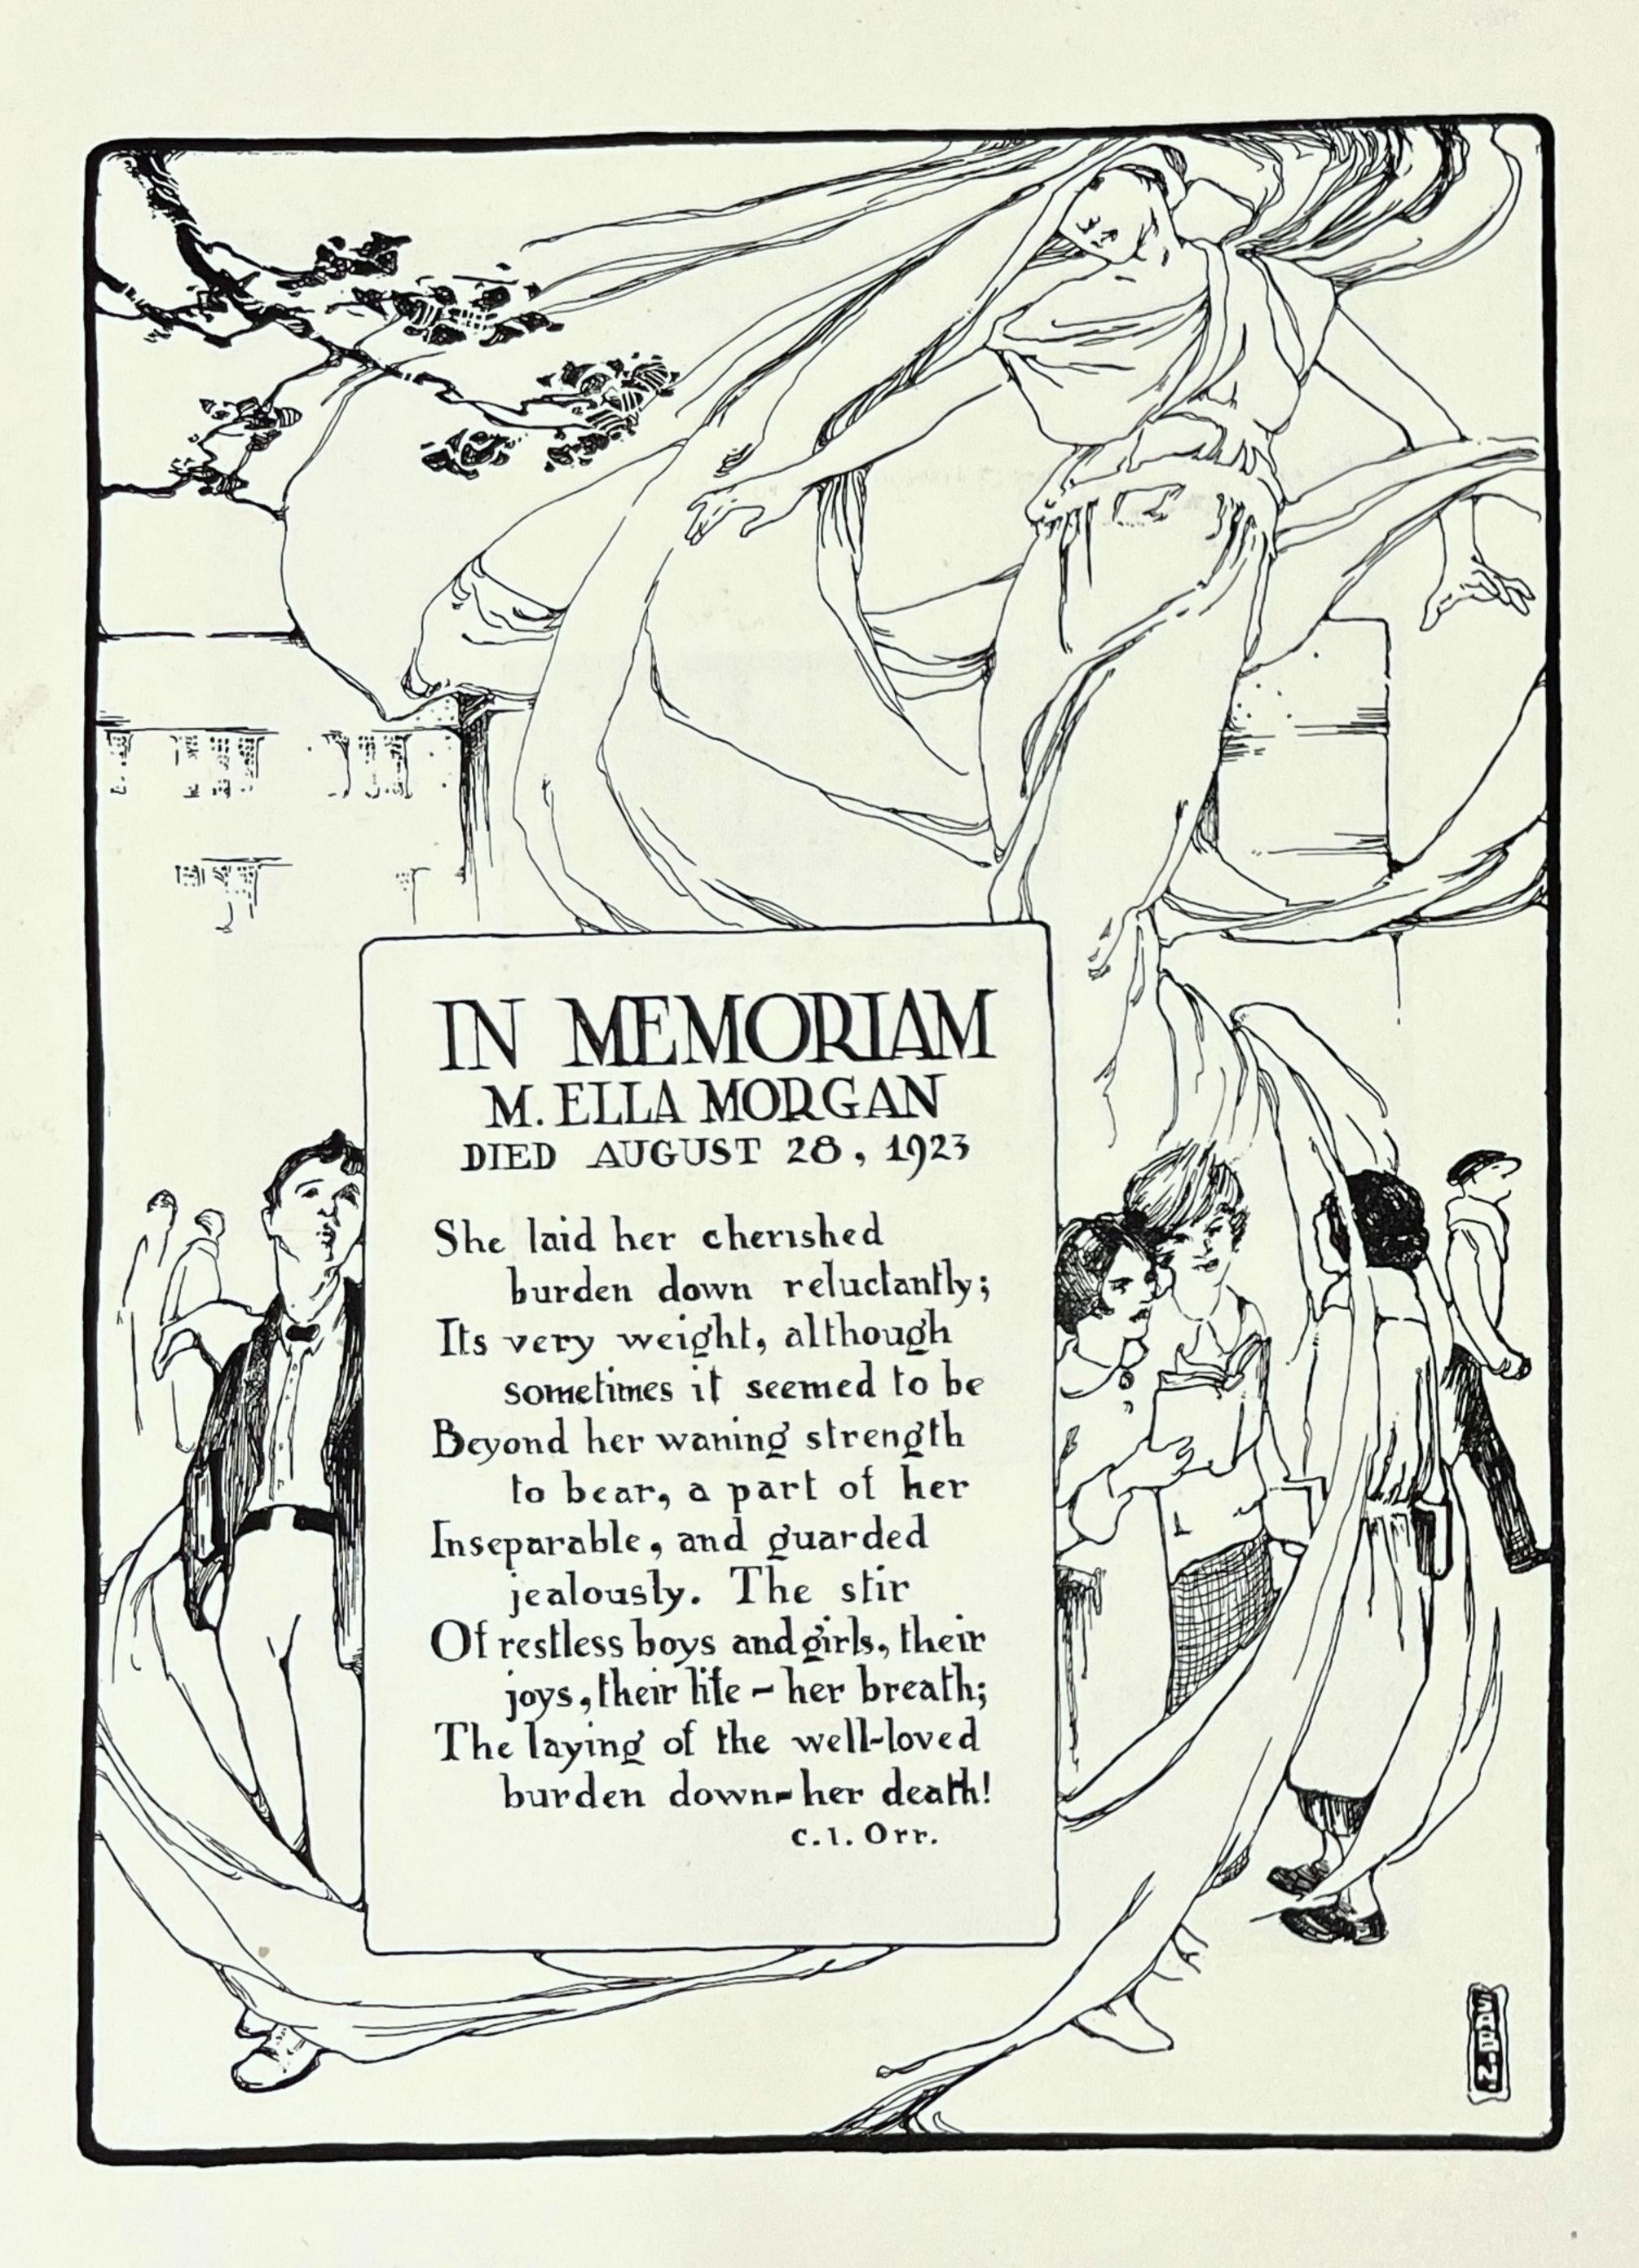

One cannot live in Washington without being impressed by the unique and varied forms of beauty which it possesses. The delicate grace of the National Cathedral, the majesty of the Treasury, the gold-domed splendor of the Congressional Library—all are distinct features of a perfect whole. It is built beside the broad waters of the Potomac, with the blue hills of the Old Dominion in the distance. Twelve miles above Washington are the Great Falls of the Potomac, one of the most splendid cataracts of the Atlantic watershed. The beauty of this upper stream dashing over its rocky bed, spreads out into a broad expanse as it flows past historic Mount Vernon, serene and dignified. Passing the City of Washington, it resembles a vast sheet of silver. Here its banks pass Potomac Park. At one time these grounds were a hopeless swamp. Today they form a peninsular park, with miles of driveway, which in season are outlined with lovely flowers. The speedway around our Tidal Basin is transformed into a veritable fairyland as the Japanese cherry trees burst into bloom. The most beautiful trees of the temperate zone have been brought to Washington and provide the wooded charm of the wide avenues and the numerous parks at their intersections. Rock Creek Park, famous throughout America for its charming wooded vistas and endless winding paths, is the crowning glory of the scenic beauty of Washington.

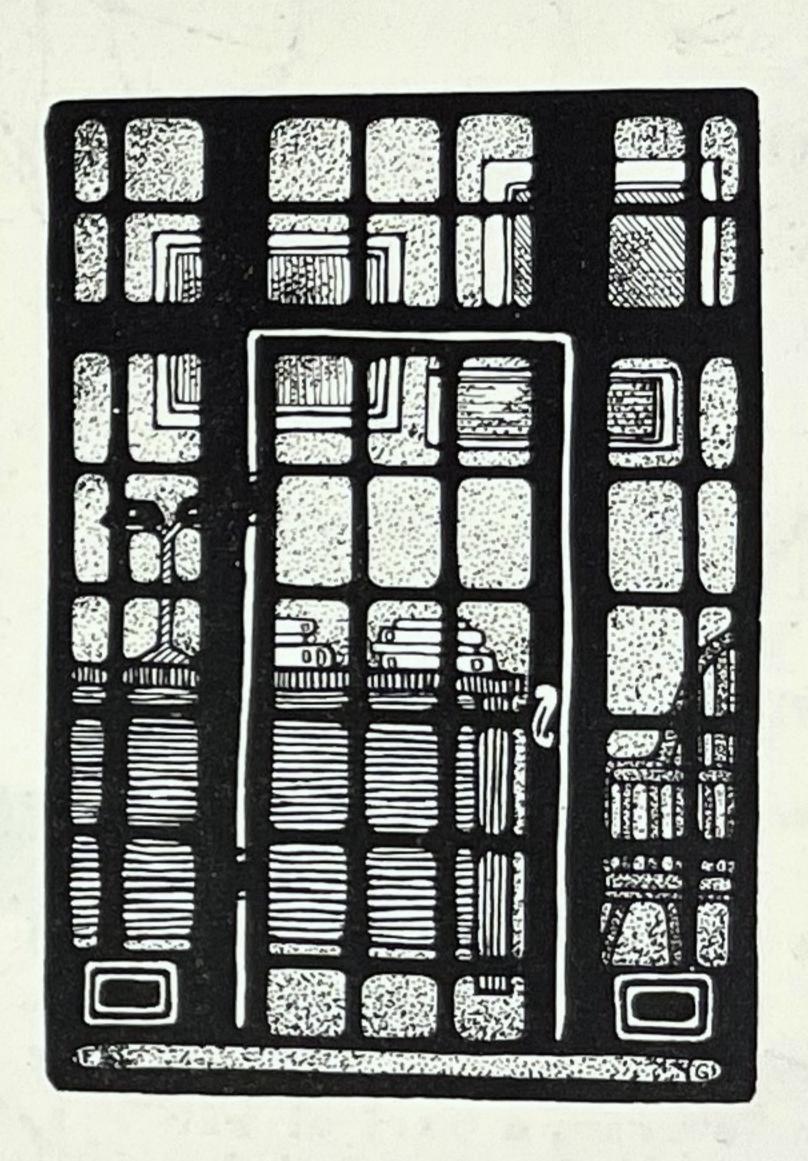

In the words of Viscount Bryce, "May not the City of Washington feel that its mission in life is to be the embodiment of the majesty and the stateliness of the whole nation, representing all that is the finest in American conception, and all that is largest and most luminous in American thought; embodying the nation's ideal of what the capital of such a nation should be."

A TO PROPERTY.

Wears to come when we yearn for past associations and long for old friends. In moods such as these, we can take down the 1924 Brecky, and, leafing through its pages, live again our years at Central. The turning of each page will unfold to us a new memory. Every picture will bring back a once familiar face; every biography a characteristic bit of an old friend. As we look at the pictures of the different teams, vivid recollections will come to mind of the games on the gridiron, the court, and the field where we have often cheered Central on to victory. The faculty pictures will remind us of the hours we spent—or should have spent—in study.

It is hard for us now, with the happenings at Central fresh in our minds, to imagine a time when these memories will grow dim. But after we have gone our several ways in life, and harder tasks which claim our attention tend to obscure school days, let the Brecky be the bond that holds us together—a veritable storehouse of recollections.

Prologue

HINK back to the first day you entered Central and eagerly set about the momentous task of becoming a student. Remember how you were ushered into the auditorium along with hundreds of other Rookies, and how an exceedingly kind and friendly gentleman talked to you? You soon learned that the name of this gentleman was "Bob" Maurer. Will you ever forget the first time he spoke to you, actually calling you by name? After that the world seemed brighter and you carried your head just a little higher. As you became interested in school activities and took part in some of them, you noticed that Mr. Maurer came and talked to the teams, giving them friendly criticisms and advice. How remarkable, you thought, that such a busy man could find time to take an interest in whatever was going on around Central. But such a man was Mr. Maurer—not only our Principal but a true Centralite.

It is no wonder, then, that the announcement of Mr. Maurer's resignation was received with deepest regret and disappointment. But after serving Central well for eighteen years, he answered the call to another field of work. Stephen E. Kramer, the one who took his place, seemed to the students just as good a leader, just as cheery and sincere as "Bob." And so, in the fall of 1923, Robert Maurer gave to Stephen Kramer the key to the hearts of Centralites.

RUTH NEWBURN.

On The Wall

'HENRY here, ladies, O'Henry here!' is the familiar cry of the candy man, who parks his little cart in front of the Thirteenth Street entrance of our school. Business must be prosperous, for everyday, rain or shine, his familiar voice can be heard caroling above those of all the students who occupy the wall.

The spectators, who are seated on the wall, have many different sources of amusement. The sidewalk is a perfect "peacock alley," and a far better fashion book than the Pictorial Review, for here we have living models walking by. Last spring we had only to use a little imagination, and we saw ancient Egypt as it was in the days of King Tutankhamen. When the girls passed by in their bright-colored shoes and dresses, we were made to wonder if some fairy tale had not come true.

Another familiar but extraordinary sight is a very tall boy doing some queer antics. At first everyone asks, "Who can it be?" But our curiosity is soon satisfied, for we find that it is Dick Nash doing his daily dozen. We all know his favorite stunt, walking on his hands, with his tall body towering in the air. Never mind, Dick, your act has received worthy applause, and you have made many youngsters envious of you.

How many of us ever realized that Central had a pasture, and a wonderful herd of goats? Everyday after lunch, the goats are led to the pasture by their masters, who band themselves together in clubs. This pasture is found on Thirteenth and Clifton Streets. Many students sit on the wall and watch these unusual goats, which, as you must know, are trained to do many tricks. One stands in the middle of the street and directs the traffic, while another blows the horns of all the automobiles parked on the street. Sometimes their masters tie bright-colored ribbons around their heads or necks, and make them skip up and down the street. Most trained animals seem to enjoy doing their tricks, but these goats are usually very glad when the bell rings, and they can return to their fold.

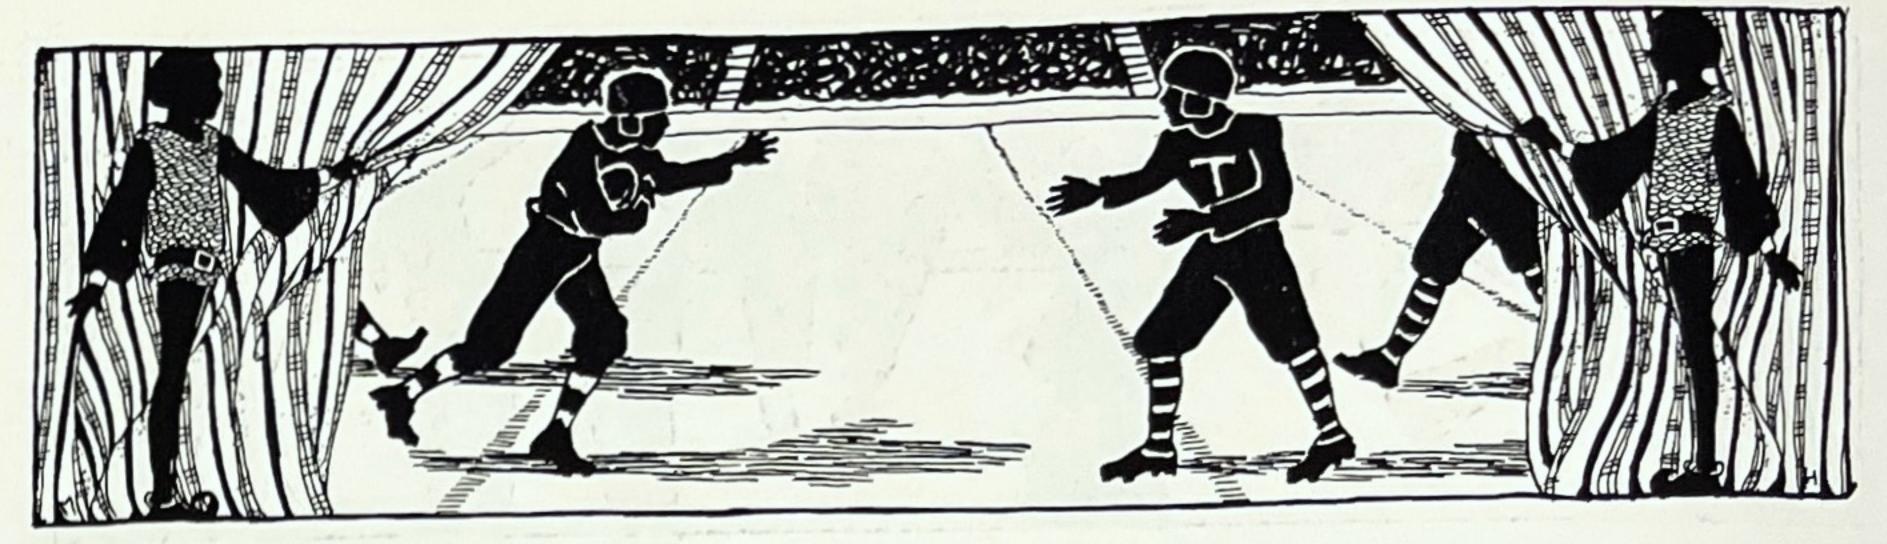

On Mondays and Thursdays after school, many of us gather on the wall to see our cadets march by. "One! Two! Three! Four!" says the captain. Two Central girls were overheard talking about Captain Budlong. One of them remarked, "You would think that Herbert would have learned to count up to five after four years at High School!" Though none of our cadets can apparently count up to five, they should be praised for their untiring work, which they have done to make it possible for Central to win the Competitive Drill.

When school is over for the day the wall is the last center of social attraction. It will be by the side of this wall that we seniors will say good-bye to our many friends, whom we will leave behind us to spend many more enjoyable hours on this favorite

Now that our High School days are finished we realize what a wonderful institution this wall surrounds, and to our minds comes the closing refrain of our school song,

We must depart, boys, each on his way,
But Central shall stand, shall stand for aye,
Bright star to guide us throughout the years.
Here's to old Central—three rousing cheers.

FRANCES BURGER.

On The Gridiron

WEARILY dragged one foot after the other into the living-room. Before I could drop into a chair, the phone rang. I answered it.

"Hello?"

"This is Daisy. I'm coming right up to hear all about the game."

"Please don't bother." I tried to be cutting, but was not successful because my throat was so hoarse. "I've my own opinion of an alumna who doesn't go to the Tech-Central game."

"Poor dear, you're too tired to talk. I'll be right up."

Well, to start with, we had a rally chapel this morning. Mr. Kramer had some ideas about cheering, and they were very effective.

Mr. Kramer told of the knights of old who were given a challenge which meant that they were to come back with their shields or on them. Central's challenge was a football. Polly Tomlin threw it, and Joe Cranford caught it. Then Mr. Kramer held up his finger, and we knew that meant first-hour classes.

Of course, everyone recited beautifully, and no one looked at the clock during the day.

Dismissal time came, and we reported to the auditorium. Bee Aitchison, Katheryne Severance, Laura Lee, Dot Creager, and I went out together. I will never understand how it was that we, who sat so far front in the auditorium, sat so far back in the stadium.

After we got comfortably seated, with someone's head almost on our knees, and someone's feet in the middle of our spinal columns, we looked around to see who was there. I looked for Dot Gilligan until I had sun spots in my eyes. I saw Dotty Latterner in a new hat that was very becoming.

About that time the band struck up. Tech had a band this year too. Our boys had megaphones, and the girls had pennants. I know the papers will come out with, "The Wilson Stadium was a blaze of color." I was beginning to tire of trying to recognize people by their hats, when the band struck up that screechy rumble it evidently thinks is "Hail the Conquering Heroes Come." The cheer-leaders began to "dog paddle" their arms, and we got up and cheered.

The ball was tossed. I stopped searching for people, and looked at the ball. Just then the sun caught Catherine Magill's hair, and my mind roamed to Aurora for a moment. Suddenly I found that something was happening that demanded my attention. Jennings Haskin was standing in front of me cheering wildly. I wondered what he was doing there when I had heard him say that he thought football was dangerous, and that he didn't approve of it.

Just at that moment I saw a fur tail frisk, and I thought that Araminta had come out to view the game. I was mistaken. It was the trimming on the coat of a girl I did not know.

At that instant I saw the Tech men perilously close to their goal line. For almost ten minutes I paid attention to the game. During the half, I pointed out some of our celebrities.

We did not win the game, but what difference does that make? Our boys came home with their shields, for they played a good sportsman-like game. In my stay at Central we have won three games out of four. That is not a bad average, is it?

A Day At School

XCUSE me! But you know how crowded these locker rooms always are. Is that the 'quarter-of'? Well, hurry up, I want to stroll down the 'Alley' a few times before section—everyone is always up there. It's nearly 'five-of.' (Proceeding further down hall.) Say, Mary, wait a minute. I want to see you. Have you studied any for that test? No? Well, neither have I. See you later. Come on, there's the 'five-of,' and you know how the teacher is about being in section. I certainly do hope there is Under-class Chapel."

(Opening period, and no chapel.)

"Don't bother me now, Sue, I've got to do some lessons. Oh, Bill, have you done your shorthand? Read me your notes please."

"Good night! There's the bell. Pray for me, please—two tests today: one in Latin and one in Burke. Have you had one of those 'True and False' tests yet? I hope I pass—I don't know anything. Meet me at lunch."

(In class.)

"Oh goodness, I know I 'flunked.' What did you put for the fourth question?-I guess I got that wrong. They mark those tests in such a funny way, too. I don't see why they should take off so much, do you? Well, there's no use worrying, now, over it."

(Lunch period.)

"I'm glad that is over anyhow. I am glad to say we will soon be finished with Burke now. Have you heard the latest? Well, it's like this—Oh, hello, Jane. Yes, we have the next two pages.—As I started to say, Louise was telling me she had the most 'wonderful date' with Bill. You don't mean to tell me she had a 'date' with him? I certainly do, and I do wish you would let me talk. She went to the City Club with him the other night and a dreadful thing happened."

"Really, I ought to study some, but you talk so much, no one could do anything if she wanted to. Thanks, but you know how it is. Besides, you ought to do your lessons at home."

"Come on, let's go down to the drug store. I am hungry, and I feel rich, so I'll treat. It is nice out anyway, and everybody is always down there. Oh, there goes Dot.

I'll bet that she's 'skipping.' "

(And during the walk from school to the corner drugstore, we see almost everybody at school, either coming or going to the drugstore or already there. A popular place, that drug store! Many times shall we look back and think over the things that happened there.)

"You are the slowest! Hurry up! The bell is ringing, and I have got to go to the third floor too. I didn't see him down there. I certainly will be glad when this day is over! It will be one great relief, I tell you."

"Are you going to the movies after school? I can't; I've got too many lessons for tonight. It is nearly time for our marks, and I really have got to begin to study. If I were as brilliant as you, I would never have to worry about marks.

"Guess I'll see you after school, but don't wait for me if I'm not at the locker. Tomorrow's another day of studying and suspense. 'So long,' I'll see you tomorrow.''

VIRGINIA MAE STOY.

Pramatic Memories

RADUATION brings an end to our high school days, but nothing can ever bring an end to our high school memories. They are ours to keep forever and ever. They are ours to bring out and freshen when we walk again through the familiar corridors. Many of us will be able to return to Central and take delight in reliving the scenes which happened there. Many of us will be able to return only in our imaginations. But whether I return to it actually or in my imagination, I shall always seek one place in the dear old building. And there are many, I know, who will do the same. We will all instinctively return to the stage. There we worked and toiledthere we laughed—there we cried—there we made our friends—there we had our little squabbles and downfalls of pride—there we lived.

The dominant memory will be of "Trelawney of the Wells," this year's Spring play. We'll remember the weeks and weeks of rehearsals. We'll remember the many days —the disappointing days—the satisfying days—the happy days. Whether the rehearsals went well or not we enjoyed them. Oh, how we enjoyed them. We'll remember the days of fitting clothes and the endless anxious conversations about hoop-skirts, and peg-top trousers.

"Miss Baker, I can never sit down in this rig."

"You ought to see me in my evening togs, girls, you won't be able to resist 'em."

"My hat's awful. These front things wobble so."

And the performances. How we'll thrill at the very mention of them. Again we'll rush around getting our costumes—helping others—laughing—singing.

Competitive Drill Day

OROTHY LATTERNER, brown-eyed and rosy, gazes out expectantly into the sea of faces before her.

"Not here yet," she sighs, "and it's most 10:30; I just knew she'd oversleep." Oh, there's George Muth, and I do want him to sign my 'Adjutant.' Stay here, Anna, while I get my book signed."

Without waiting for "Annabell's" astonished, "Oh, here she comes," Dots dashes madly through the maze of armbands and boys, to where a curious scene is being enacted. Five rows deep they stand, with but a single purpose—to gain the side of the bewildered young man in the center. . . .

"We thought you would never come," exclaims Dorothy to Dorothy, as they face each other. "Whatever kept you?" "Let's! hurry!" interrupted Flora, the peacemaker, "Paul and the boys promised to save us seats, you know. Oh, I must have a balloon—" much scrambling finally produces the desired dime. "Now do begin to try to advance. . . .

Through the gateway off the drill field, file the ranks of the boys in blue. Dead, half from fright, half from exhaustion, they break ranks and disappear, while the next company forms in a hush of expectancy, and goes on amid cheers of encouragement—their hearts afire!

"There goes our last company, Anna. Do hurry, girls, it's A, and I strictly promised John, and Karl and Frank and—, that I'd watch them drill. . . ."

"Now let me see?" says Annette, thoughtfully, "two O'Henrys, three bags of peanuts, and two ice-cream cones. How shall I ever carry all that! I—oh, look at the mob. I'll never get through, much less, back—besides—" glancing at her 'Adjutant,' "Oh, Anna Helene Beall, you'd have let me go!"

"Look," says Lydiagene, gleefully, more to prevent the bloodshed, which seems inevitable, than anything else, "Nearly all of them have lost their caps. This drill has simply got to be our victory."

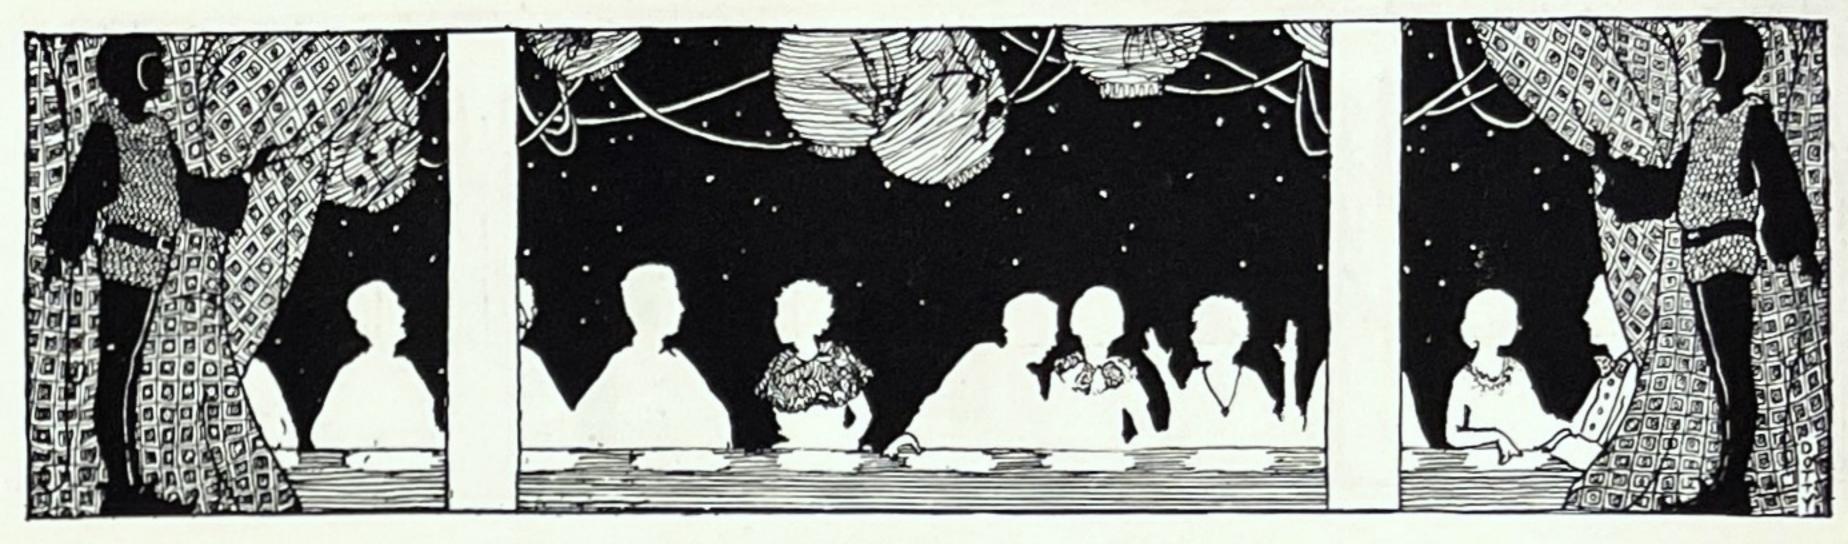

The last company, looking for all the world like ants to those in the stands, and wishing they were perhaps less conspicuous to the judges, make their final rush towards the printed enemy and then march off the field.

"I hope," sighs Margaret, whispering in her tense excitement, "that they won't be long. I'm dying of suspense. It's terrible. . . ."

This suspense, which Margaret had spoken of as terrible, has lasted fifteen minutes, when—a rustle, a murmur, and then a shout, greet the companies as they return to the field in regimental order, as the band plays "The Stars and Stripes Forever."

"A, B, C," says Dots, counting them off on her fingers. "Is that C? Yes, it must be, 'cause there's Max Irland and I know he's in C."

"Please be still now, Dots, dear. How can you talk? Why I'm nearly frantic," says Eileen.

The Publications Banquet

THE age of miracles is not yet past! We have now a chance to view the publications staffs collectively, and at the same time, seated peacefully (?) around the same table without entering into heated discussions as to the relative merits of each publication. It must be the presence of food which causes this sudden cessation of hostilities.

As Mr. Kramer begins to pronounce the blessing, hurried footsteps are heard, and Carlos Van Leer, whose tardiness is the result of a last and fatal attempt to brush his hair, enters hastily, incidentally coming into damaging contact with three chairs, one table, and half the scenery.

"Has it been taken yet?" Carlos shrieks, and John Denniston, who has preceded even the blessing, replies between mouthfuls, "No, I was waiting to finish my own before

I started on your plate."

"But I mean the picture, not the dinner," wails Carlos, desperately. "Am I too late?" "Oh, yes that's been over long ago,"—"and Margaret Loeffler was in the midst of telling about a debate and had her mouth open,"—"couldn't bring Anne Jones over and so she was late,"—"Yvonne Levy sneezed just then."—"just back of Mr. Kramer, so"—

Even as they look around to see that none of the other literary lights are out, Bill Burleigh, the last arrival, detained because of a broken shoestring, rushes in just in time to prevent Guy Harper from strangling in an attempt to consume two men's shares with one man's mouth, the second man's share being Bill's.

Through the sudden hush which fails, as all compose themselves to enjoy, or take part in, the stunts, which groups from each staff are about to present, Bill Shreve shrieks, "Fork for the next course, Ford." We perceive that, in spite of the fact that soup is the next course, Ford struggles manfully to do as he was told.

Now that the soup has been devoured, the uproar ceases as Miss Coolidge rises to say a few words. As she speaks of the good (always good) work the staffs have done, of the friendships made, the fine times had, a realization comes to all that this night marks the close of another year of hard work and fun. To some it means leaving school for the last time; to others a summer's separation, but the thought of parting brings feelings of regret to all.

At this point Alden Bradford unceremoniously implants his salad on Peg Mesny's new dress, and in the excitement regrets are forgotten.

We will now draw a curtain over the scene of concentrated attention to the process of partaking of all the food possible between stunts. But even the drawn curtain does not shut out the clatter of lunchroom silver (?) on lunchroom china (?), and an occasional strangled cough caused by some of Elizabeth Wiltbank's wise cracks brought forth at an inopportune moment.

When the curtain is raised, Miss Murray attempts to speak above the clamor. At last she is able to make herself heard and announces the editors for the coming year. Dot Gilligan and Ford Sammis at this point are heard to sigh in unison, whether from regret or sympathy it is not known. Also it becomes constantly more noticeable that all those possessing cars gain a sudden and startling increase of popularity. And now we hear the voices of all uniting in the farewell song—and before we have been able to recover from the mad rush for hats and coats, the party has adjourned to "The Lake," there to continue the evening's festivities.

EMILY PILKINTON.

The All-Important Autograph

A autograph collector will be in his element during those periods in the lunchroom and senior alley when the various seniors are autographing their pictures in the 1924 Brecky! Even my deep pride in my Alma Mater does not allow me to insinuate that the names of the senior class are as yet famous, but who can tell how many of them will, at some more or less future date, receive requests for their autographs? For instance, there is a shining example in that of our beloved principal, Mr. Kramer. I might be accused of assuming the prerogative of the Class Prophets and Historian if I predicted that numerous Centralites, already conspicuously brilliant, will some time fill niches in the Hall of Fame, but this is my conviction.

However, I can honestly assure you that the collecting of these respective signatures rivals in interest and excitement that of the coming political conventions at New York City and Cleveland, respectively, and makes them pale into insignificance. For the benefit of the uninitiated, I will endeavor to describe the procedure on this momentous occasion. The familiar slogan, "The time, the place, the girl" (and ofttimes the boy) is most appropriate. At this hectic time, class spirit is most desirable, with cooperation as an important by-product. A humorist on the scene would exclaim with C. D. Gibson, "Find the student whose autograph is wanted." This individual is easily recognized by her manner, which strives to be nonchalant, also modest, and yet not humble. You, gentle reader, will readily see that only an expert cartoonist could depict these varied expressions! As for the unfortunate seeker of a coveted signature, the main expression resembles that of an official, perchance an income tax collector, who, with the sweetest of smiles, requests you to sign on the dotted line. Truly,

"If it were done when 'tis done, then 'twere well

It were done quickly."

Having roughly sketched the Dramatis Personae, I must beg your indulgence while I outline the stage on which they play their parts. The dear old lunchroom at Central!—how shall I ever do it justice? We all love it, even if it seems but a glorification of a restaurant made famous by a certain Mr. Childs. We would not have it different. A room capable of accommodating one thousand hungry students all at once naturally is a bit noisy—but the noise of all the eager voices only adds to its charm. Here they come! Brandishing fountain pens in one hand and cherished Breckies in the other, they dash madly down "Peacock Alley" into the lunchroom. A pretty blonde (whose hair is not bobbed) is calling to a dark-haired beauty, who boasts a shingle, "Please sign my Brecky!" In the meantime, Seniors have arrived en masse and the chatter and racket are fairly deafening.

But this is not a circumstance to the thrilling scenes that are taking place in Senior Alley. Here our esteemed faculty assert their authority and remind the Seniors—the majority of whom, I regret to state, seem to be afflicted with brain-storm—that it is most advisable, not to say necessary, that they adjourn to the lunchroom. The edict goes forth that the traffic must not be held up. There being no "Stop-and-Go" signals handy, the confusion is great, and "life is at its worst" for all concerned. Subject, however, for four long years, to stern discipline, we find the Seniors gladly obeying orders. "Theirs not to reason why." Let us drop the curtain (which need not be asbestos), hoping that everyone will get the autographs most desired.

Epilogue

And there's a hand my trusty fier And gie's a hand o' thine Should auld acquaintance be forgot And Auld Lang Syne!

POR a single day, at the close of our career at Central, the hands of time were reversed. Seniors—hair down and skirts up—had been transformed into Rookies. Rookies we were in appearance and in actions, but four years have altered opinions. Looking forward, these years seemed to us an eternity; looking backward, they seem a day. The time has been filled with work and with play. We know that we have learned many things; and we know that we have much still to learn. At our Farewell Chapel, we "Rookies" sang, for the last time together, the song "Tenax Propositi." We are entering the school of life. Whatever be our goal, let us keep for our motto, "Steadfast of Purpose."

RUTH NEWBURN.

Captain G'Keefe And The Cadets

HE Cadets have always held a high place in the activities of Central during the forty-two years of its existence. Ever since the founding of Old Central in 1882. the annual Competitive Drill has reigned as the biggest event of the scholastic year. At the close of each year the entire student body waits with anxious hearts while the Adjutant stands in the center of the field and counts the proverbial "100" before announcing the verdict of the judges.

Year by year the Cadet Corps has risen in prominence until it is now recognized as "the model high school military unit in the country," as it is termed by Secretary of War John W. Weeks. This national reputation for excellence in drill is a result of forty years of the highest ideals and a thorough knowledge of military science derived from the finest military training.

As the Washington Cadet Corps graduated from its infancy and gradually commanded a position of national respect, the War Department saw fit to assign to the Corps experienced officers of the United States Army as instructors of infantry drill and military tactics.

These instructors were constantly changed, but each newly appointed officer has been as worthy as his successor. In the fall of 1922 came a vacancy at Central due to the transfer of Captain A. C. Strecker. This vacancy was filled by Captain Arthur J. O'Keefe, U. S. A., who came here from teaching a Junior R. O. T. C. unit in Pennsylvania, and assumed the position of Assistant Professor of Military Science and Tactics in direct charge of Cadet work at Central. Captain O'Keefe has long been associated with the Army, and served in France during the World War. He received several citations for heroic action, including the Distinguished Service Cross for gallantry in action near Soissons on July 21, 1918.

The esprit de corps and the high standard of drill favorably impressed this experienced Army man during his first year at Central. Nevertheless, because of his thorough knowledge of military science, he detected some flaws in individual companies which were corrected in open meetings of the Cadet officers, so that every Central company could benefit. He succeeded in having every company of the First Regiment go on the field with a uniform drill.

At the beginning of the school year 1923-24 the Cadet Corps was placed under considerable difficulty because of two complete changes of Infantry Drill Regulations within two months. Nevertheless, Central was equal to the task and was drilling under the new regulations months before the other schools had mastered them. This was accomplished through the untiring efforts of Captain O'Keefe, who obtained pamphlets for officers and lectured the officers, commissioned and warranted, on the execution and details of the new and confusing drill confronting them. As a result, Central companies distinguished themselves at inspections and reviews held during the year. Early in April meetings of officers were called so that the details of extended order could be completely mastered.

The sweeping success of Central's entry in the Inter-High War Game Series is due in a large measure to the coaching of Captain O'Keefe. His background of experience in actual campaigns did much to perfect the members of the teams in the science of military warfare.

"The Captain," as he is known to those Cadets with whom he has been in almost daily contact, has always been ready to answer perplexing questions and to explain the intricacies of the Drill Regulations. At the time of writing, the result of the 1924 Competitive Drill is not known, but the writer feels safe in saying that Central will be successful—and that success will, of course, be due to the officers and men of the individual companies, but it will also be the result of the untiring efforts of Captain Arthur O'Keefe.

February Class Poem

The ship lies waiting in the port;
She's trim and ready to sail.
Her great white wings are stretched out wide,
Ready to catch the gale.

Friendship composes her cargo;
Love has painted her white.
And in her bow an anchor lies,
To keep her through storm and night.

She's eager to see the future,
And yet she hates to go.
She hates to leave behind the friends,
Who have loved her and caused her to grow.

We, like the ship, are eager
To discover what lies ahead;
To find out what the future holds,
And where we will be led.

We know success is waiting.

We have shaped our courses straight,

And we will journey to the goal,

Hand in hand with fate.

Knowledge, advice, are the cargo.

Our parents have given us love.

And the anchor to keep us safe through storms,

Lies in the Hands above.

And so we are to journey,
Over the sea of life.
And we must each one, take our share
Of worry, toil, and strife.

We hate to leave this dear old school;
We've learned to love it so;
She'll be our Alma Mater,
No matter where we go.

You teachers who have stood by us
Though you were sorely tried,
Will always be our staunchest friends,
For you were by our side

Whenever we had need of help,
Encouragement, or cheer;
And though you're not aware of it,
To us you're very dear.

And now to you, our parents, dear,
Great homage do we pay,
For though we've failed you many times,
You've kept the faith each day.

And when we've reached the goal, success, We'll wave the praise to you, For through the years you helped us on; To you the honor's due.

February Class History

OR the last time we have come to Central as students; tomorrow we go to join the ranks of the alumni, and to help spread the fame of this school to the world. For four years we have been studying and working for this night. The time has come and gone so quickly that we have not been able to stop and look back, but have always kept moving forwards. It is therefore proper at this time to pause and look over the events that have occurred since we entered.

Our arrival at Central was saddened by the death of Mr. Wilson. Although we never knew him as a principal, his influence over us has been very great.

Under Mr. Maurer we began to take up our work here. We owe much to him for getting us interested in the school activities early in our career.

During our Sophomore year, we witnessed the institution of the Undergraduate "C" Club and the Senior Council. These interests are still in their infancy. Under the supervision of Mr. Kramer they promise to become two of the most powerful organizations of the school. The "C" Club has been a wonderful help in adding to the school spirit. Through the Senior Council the cooperation of the student body with the faculty is accomplished.

Our class has always been well represented in athletics. We have had representatives in nearly every sport: football, basketball, baseball, track, tennis, swimming, rifle, and crew. We have especially helped the cadets. We have given our support to every activity of the school.

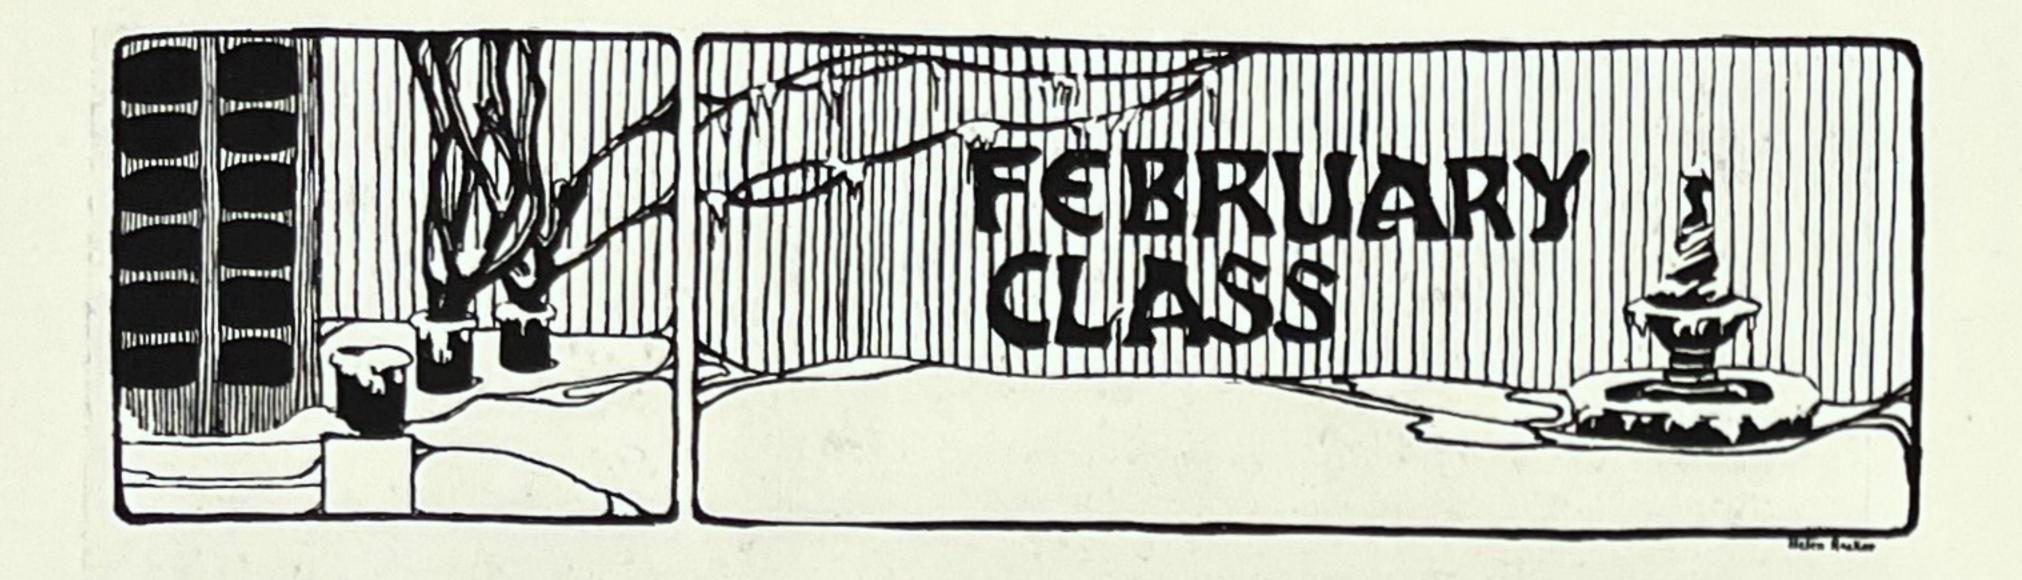

During our last year we shared in the dedication of the stadium to Mr. Wilson which Mr. Maurer had worked so long to accomplish. Mr. Wilson was always a great encourager of athletics. Much credit is due him for the extraordinary number of championships which Central won while under his supervision. Nothing could have been more suitable as a shrine to his memory than the stadium.

It was learned with the deepest of regret that Mr. Maurer would leave us this fall. When he was with us we never appreciated him as we should, which is in accordance with human nature. Now, as we see the fruit of his labor, we can realize the magnitude of his efforts. We wonder how he found time personally to help so many of the school activities. No matter in what branch a student was engaged, he would always find our principal willing to give his help to it. With the departure of Mr. Maurer we thought we would lose another of Central's hard workers. This, however, did not prove to be the case, as "Bob" gave his car to the school.

Although we regret the loss of Mr. Maurer, the school should be congratulated on getting Mr. Kramer as principal. He is an old Centralite, and, therefore, loves the school as we do. For many years he has been connected with the schools of the District. He realizes the needs of Central. During the time he has spent here, we have noticed the beginning of many improvements. The most striking of these is the part the students are taking in the chapels. This makes these events much more interesting to the students as a group and is very beneficial to the pupils taking part. It should be encouraged as much as possible. He is helping the Junior and Senior Councils really to take the part they should in carrying on the work of the school.

And now as we leave this great institution, the time which we have spent here seems altogether too short. The years seem as so many days. However, these years will never be forgotten but will shine among the brightest of our lives. It is with a feeling of regret and sadness that we leave the place where we have worked so hard and enjoyed so many pleasures.

MORRIS ALLEN MILLER.

BEATRICE AITCHISON Scholarship Review Staff, 1923-24

Our brilliant "Bee" hails from Oregon. While at Central she has placed herself in its "Hall of Fame" by attaining a scholar-ship record in three and one-half years. We do not know what her plans for the future are, but we know that "Bee" will be successful, no matter what she does. Central wishes her luck!

ALICE ALTHEA ANDERTON Scholarship

Alice is the type of girl of whom one hears little but who is a fine student. She has many friends who stick to her because they know that she will stick to them and because of her willingness to help them at all times. Her ambition? Well, she is going to Normal, and you know what that usually means!

FRANCES ADELE AVERILL

Ladies and gentlemen, here we have one of that almost extinct species, a native Washingtonian. Dell has inhabited this fair city during her whole lifetime, but she has had time to do some traveling too. Ask her about that California trip! She is fond of sodas and Latin. Her one ambition is to be an oriental dancer in her old age.

ANNA CORNELIA BABINGTON
Scholarship

Four short years ago there entered into our midst a timid and demure little rookie, who was no other than our famous Anna. She is one of those persons who knows how to have a good time and maintain a fine scholarship record, also. Anna has some secret ambition, but we have never been able to discover what it is.

DOROTHY MARY BELLER

This picture is very characteristic of Dot, for she always has a smile for everyone. Her winning smile and her cheery disposition have won her many friends. She is going to Normal, and we know that she will be even more successful there than here; also that she is entirely too charming a girl to remain just a teacher all of her life.

ETHEL BAILEY
Debate, 1923-24
Review Staff, 1923

Our "Teddy," the girl with big dimples and blue eyes, has completed her high school course in three and a half years. Besides playing in the school orchestra, "Teddy" won a medal for debating last year, and was elected vice-president of the Debating Society. We do not know her ambitions, but here's wishing her a bright future.

IVA ESKEW BENEDICT

Iva, that "red-headed gal" with a smile, came from Indiana a year and a half ago and joined our ranks. She will take her diploma, if she doesn't lose it, back there this summer, and Purdue will possibly claim her in the fall.

HORTENSE BANE Class Secretary

Charm, personality, and spice, and everything else that's nice—that's what Horty's made of. She is well known and beloved by all her classmates, because she possesses that rare quality of sympathy and sincere interest in the trials and tribulations of others. Her charming gayety, unselfish nature, and love of true sportsmanship have like wise endeared her to us forever.

CLARENCE EVERARD BIRGFELD

Central will miss from its halls the gay laugh of a promising musician. He will continue his education at Georgetown University, and from our association with him we are confident of his success. We wish Clarence the best of luck.

MARY HELEN BLANKENSHIP

We all know Helen's smile. It greets us every morning, noon and evening. Helen was born in Pennsylvania but came to Washington when she was very young. She graduated from Eckington Grammar School in 1920. Since then she has attended Central. While at Central, Helen has made many friends, who will miss her a great deal when she leaves.

KATHRYN ISABEL BROWN

Why is Kitty so far famed and well liked? As Virgil says, the tale is too long to tell here. She is our class poet, the one most capable of writing poetry in the opinion of the class. She always has a smile for her innumerable friends, and in everything she undertakes is successful! Is it any wonder that she is so popular?

HAROLD PRESTON BOSS

"Dinty" is that little redheaded, freckled-face fellow with the big smile and the glad hand. So far he hasn't been influenced by the fairer sex, but they all fall some time, so be careful, "Dinty!" Some day old Princeton will produce a great civil engineer, and it will be our little stand-by.

LUCILLE MABEL BROWN

Here's to one of our girls with a crown of lovely curls. When she's good she's very good, but when she's bad? She never is. We are glad that her high school days were all spent here, and we are certainly going to miss her good nature and fun-making. Do we love her? I'll say we do!

RUSSELL PARK BOWEN

"Russ" is one of Central's most versatile athletes. He is claimed by tennis, golf, and basketball. This fellow is a true example of a "real Centralite." His ambition is to go to Washington and Lee University in the fall and take a business course. Good luck to you, "Russ."

WALTER A. BROWN, JR.

Walter needs no introduction. He is one of our distinguished seniors whose personality has made him popular. If you want something well done, just hunt up Brown. As for his future after he graduates from Swarthmore, he expects to follow in his father's footsteps in the real estate business. May his future be as bright as his present.

FRANCES AMELIA BURKE

We all know Frances—the girl with the sweet smile, fair hair, and girlish blush. She is a good sport and is full of fun, although she seems so shy and demure. Remember Frances as a sophomore at Central, with her long hair plaited down her back, mastering her favorite subject, chemistry?

"Never argue with a woman," says Frances.

JOHN WARREN CASADY

Everyone knows Warren. You need but mention his name and you get a smile! Everybody knows him and likes him. He intends to go to Georgetown University to realize his ambition of becoming one of the leading surgeons of the country. While in Central he has attained high marks. May he do the same in college.

JANICE BURROUGHS

All who know Janice agree that she is just the right kind of a girl, a sincere friend and a true Centralite. Her willing smile and genial disposition have won for her many friends of both sexes. She expects to attend Normal school, and I am sure that we all wish her great success.

WILLIAM SNYDER CHANDLER

William Chandler, a native Washingtonian, graduated from Powell School and entered Central in February, 1920. His preferred studies are civics, history, and law. He believes that travel is an aid to education, therefore he has visited the Northern and Southern states and has toured the West and Pacific Coast. "Bill" will enter George Washington University and later study law, his chosen profession.

HELEN CARBAUGH Class Prophet

Helen of the laughing brown eyes, a disposition as sunny as her hair, and a charming flow of gay wit, burst through the doors of Central four years ago. Her ringing laughter and happy smile have made her widely known. Her good nature, ambition, and pep should make her successful in anything she undertakes.

HELEN CHASE

About Helen? Without flowers or spotlights, we sincerely feel that she is not only a good student but a girl whom we can rely on for good-will and cheerfulness. She was tossed in by the ocean waves three years ago, landed on the rock of the promised land, and is now one of us.

LOUIS FRANKLIN COHEN

"Louie" came to Central a year and a half ago after having spent two successful years at Western. His future is still undetermined, but we think there is a leaning towards Georgetown, where he hopes to study law. We all feel sure that he will attain his ambitions. "Good luck."

BLANCHE CHRISTINE COOK

One reason why the class of 1924 is a good one is because Blanche is one of its members. Always smiling and willing to help others, she has made many friends. With her successful record in Central, there is no doubt that she will realize her ambition—to become a domestic science teacher.

JOSEPH BLAIR COLES

years he has been working at night in the Post Office and driving taxicabs. He has taken a business course and will be an aspiring young stenographer during the next few years. He will enter George Washington University this fall and take mechanical engineering in the night school.

HELEN UMBAUGH COOPER

Four years ago a pair of blue eyes and an ever ready smile entered Central's doors. Today they leave, and Central loses one of its truest daughters. Helen has worked hard, and we know that she will realize one of her ambitions, that of being an accountant. The other one, being an old maid-well, let's wait and see.

MELVIN HAZEN COLVIN

Blair came to Central in Colvin was born February 1, November, 1921. The past two 1905. After eight years of grammar school, he came to Central. Someone gave him the name of "Hay," and now all of the girls are speaking of that wonderful fellow "Hay." He expects to graduate as president of the dentistry class at the University of Maryland.

BESSIE ELLA COPES

Whenever we are in doubt about history, we ask Ella. She has a habit of walking off with E's in history. Although she is studious, she has had time to make a host of friends in her quiet way. Ella comes from the "Sunny South," and her chief wish is to return there. We wonder why!

MARGARET NEATON CORDER

Margaret is the best ever. She is always willing to help a fellow out. Her friends will vouch for this. All who know her listen for her cheerful greeting of "hi there." Margaret is quite an artist, so, since "Art is long and time is fleeting," she is going to cultivate this gift at some art school.

LEROY COUNSELMAN

Class President

As life is measured by actions and not by time, these four short years have enshrined our "Roy" in the hearts of his classmates. Without any show or effort he has arisen to the presidency of his class. He has indeed, by native instinct, learned to "Stand well poised, equally bathed in the sunshine and shadows of life."

LOUISE COSDON

Louise is a shy little miss who is somewhat of a mystery to us when it comes to the boys around school, but we have the understanding that there is a tall gentleman on the outside who holds her smiles from those who seek them within. Her plan for the future is to work, but we wonder what his plans are?

CALVIN CRUICKSHANK

Class Treasurer

Calvin Cruickshank entered Central four years ago, and in that time he has made a record that anyone might be proud of. As a crowning achievement, "Cal" was elected treasurer of his class and has filled this office in an admirable manner. His cheery disposition has made him a host of friends here at school, who all wish him the best of luck in the future.

KATHERINE PATRICIA COTTER

Can you imagine little Kitty teaching "readin, 'ritin, and 'rithmetic" to small boys and girls in a schoolroom? Well, that is what she is going to do after her career at Wilson Normal is ended. We wonder if the kids will mind her! Good luck to you, Kitty, in the schoolma'am business.

EILEEN THERESA CUSH

Everyone who is acquainted with Eileen knows that she is a typical Irish girl who is simply overflowing with pep and vim. She is a loyal friend and always ready to do a good deed for someone else. She expects to enter Maryland University in the fall, and we wish her luck with whatever she undertakes.

LEAH ISABEL DEMOLL

It is not necessary to introduce Leah, for who does not know this "happy-go-lucky" young lady with the cheerful smile and winning personality? She says she has no accomplishments, but we wonder at that. Outside of the fact that she has won so many friends through her good disposition, she has made a fine scholastic record during her four happy years at Central.

EDITH VIRGINIA DUNLAP

There is an old saying, "To know her is to love her." This might be said to be "more truth than poetry" when speaking of Edith. She is a girl whom everyone likes when he knows her, and when she once becomes your friend, you will always wish to keep her so. Good luck to you, Edith.

FREDERICK EDWIN DIESTE

"Ed" came to Central in September, 1919. He was out for basketball last year. He is now on the basketball team and doing his best to bring athletic honors to the school. In the fall of 1924 "Ed" will enter the Coast and Geodetic Survey where we all wish him the best of success.

ISABELLA RUTH DURAND

Central is indeed proud to name among her graduates the talented Miss Ruth Durand. Since the day that a kind fate directed the steps of our charming Ruth to Central, we have all enjoyed her company. Upon leaving Central, Ruth expects to enter a nationally known school of designing in New York City, where we feel assured she will succeed.

JOHN EDWARD DIETZ

He has not sought to make the Hall of Fame nor tried to thrill us with his daring deeds. The papers do not often print his name, yet he's the sort of chap this old world needs. To his own work alone does he lay claim. Could this be said of those who seek for fame?

ROBERT BRUCE EMERSON

This pleasant-looking fellow is very popular. He has a smile and a good word for everyone, and is well liked by his fellow students that know him. Even his teachers like him. Although he has not participated in scholastic events, he is with our teams, heart and soul. He has lived up to the standards of a true Centralite.

MARIE HELEN ENGELMANN

To our mind Colorado has but one claim to fame, namely, as the birthplace of Helen Engelmann. Ever since Helen entered the halls of Central she has won a place in the hearts of all of us, teachers as well as students, owing to her congenial and unpretentious manner. We will all miss her when she leaves.

KATHERINE CECELIA FOLEY

Katherine is our little Irish girl with the blue eyes and a happy smile for everyone. She has won many friends by her wit and sunny disposition. She now expects to become an efficient stenographer for someone. Although she has a number of ambitions, her chief one is to grow taller. Here's hoping that Katherine's ambitions will be fulfilled.

CALVIN ALEXANDER FADER

Calvin has been a true Centralite. He studied conscientiously and now is carrying off the victory. The fable of the grasshopper and the ant was not written in vain! Besides being a successful high school senior, Calvin is quite an artist. All his drawings reveal an enviable talent. Who can tell what lucky newspaper will amuse its readers with his witty cartoons?

MARY VIRGINIA FUGITT

Our "Jinx," who is anything but a Jinx, radiates the glory of the "Sunny South"—from where she hails. A wonderful little actress, a whiz at the piano, an adorable dancer, with a voice like a songbird—she is one of Central's prettiest and best-loved girls. Her ambition is to be a kindergarten teacher, but we have our doubts!

ESMA DORA FARRAH

One bright day in the year 1905 a dark-haired girl was born in Colombia, South America. This was Esma. She spent most of her childhood in Panama. In 1922 she was fortunate enough to come to Washington and attend Central, leaving a fine record. Esma is bound to follow her father's footsteps and study medicine. Good luck, Esma!

JOHN WENDELL GASKINS

In spite of "Windy's" absence at the beginning of this semester, he completed his four years by passing with good marks. Perhaps his absence was the reason for Central's failure in football, as he had intended to try for the team this year. We wish him luck in his studies at George Washington, and hope that he will make even a better record there than at Central.

LUCILLE GERSTIN

Lucille is a true daughter of Washington with a smile that wins everyone to her. She came to Central as a rookie. Her one big ambition is to go to Wilson Normal School and to become a teacher. We all hope that she will be successful, for Central sends her off with best wishes of good luck.

LOUISE ANNA HANCOCK

The girl with light hair and blue eyes is our Louise. During her four years at Central she has proved a fine scholar and a good pal. In this time she has won the hearts of many people. Her future is not yet known, but we are sure that it will be a bright one.

LUIS GRANADOS

A known fact is one that has been proved. It is well known that the Debating Society will suffer a loss in the graduation of Luis, but it is not so well known that Luis will be missed by the girls. It is believed by Luis's intimate friends that with experience gained at Central he can outdistance "Valentino" for the title of "Sheik."

GERTRUDE ELIZABETH HEARE Scholarship

This is Station XYZ, broad-casting from the land of the Wanga-Wanga birds. The above may resemble a wise old owl, but a merrier soul never lived. Nothing else is essential when you have feet that syncopate like hers. May she in the forward march of life still make friends and bring joy to others. Station XYZ signing off.

JOHN WILLIAM GREEN

John Green is a native of Washington, D. C., having been born in this city in 1906. He attended the Park View graded school, from which he was graduated. He entered Central in the fall of 1920. During his first year he joined Bill Foley's army of sprinters. He otherwise distinguished himself by his good work on the junior class basketball team.

EMMA JOSEPHINE HEFLIN Scholarship

Emma, quiet and demure, hails from "Ole Virginie." During her course at Central, she has made not only a host of friends but also a scholastic record. She is always amiable and ready to help her friends. One can always find her with her head buried in a book, which accounts for her many E's. She expects to attend Normal.

CHARLES EDWIN HEIM

'Way out in Maryland—just across the District Line—we find this quiet chap living. Quietness and slowness usually run together—but ye gods!—Ask a Springer about Eddie's speed! Baseball, and otherwise! The Montgomery County League knows, and for the 'otherwise'—well that's telling.

JOHN ROBERT HUETTNER

It is not everyone who can get through school successfully and enjoy himself as Johnny has. If an agreeable nature and good looks count anything in life, he surely is not going to be a failure. Although we do not know what his profession is to be, it is a good bet that whatever he starts he will finish.

EMMA-LEE HELD

People don't usually connect beauty and brains, but here we have them combined wonderfully. Chemistry and art are the reasons for the brains, and for the beauty—there are reasons! "Buster" expects to take a post-graduate course at Central until June, after which she intends to go on with her study of the aforementioned reasons for brains. Central wishes her luck!

LENA ROSE HYATT

"To be or not to be"—such is the problem that confronts our young graduate now. Lena aspires to be a lawyer. Let us hope that her dream will be realized in spite of neighborly opposition. She has an admirable character—we marvel at her good nature. Contrary to the usual saying, the latter assertion is not followed by a "but."

HARRIET DOWLING HINE

You have missed a lot, if you don't know Harriet. Ask all her friends, and see what they say. She can dance, play the piano, and is she a good sport? I'll say so! She expects to go to college next year, and let me tell you that she will have many good friends wherever she goes.

JOHN HAROLD JENNINGS

Although you may not know it, John Jennings is a Southern gentlemen. Yes, suh! He was born in Chattanooga, Tennessee, in 1903. He took up his abode in our fair city and attended the Corcoran school here. He graduated to Central in 1919. While unable to take part in athletics, he is one of the most ardent backers Central has.

RITA ANNA JOHNSON

We are proud to have among those of our class such a clever and attractive blond as Rita. Although not a born Washingtonian, she has earned the admiration of all at Central. Rita's ambition at present is to visit the Philippines. We wish her success in that and many other worthy things that she may undertake in her future years.

MARGARET LOUISE KILTON Tennis "C," 1921-22 -23

Louise is another one of Central's child-prodigies. But she isn't all studious, for, having the Central spirit, she has a habit of walking off with "C's" in Tennis, besides having unusual ability at murdering her opponents in Basketball. We're wishing her luck in her future match with Mlle. Lenglen.

MIRIAM JONES

"Hail to Thee, blithe spirit!"
Miriam is always full of pep and has a smile for everyone.
Her jolly spirit is contagious because wherever she is there is bound to be loads of fun.
She has won many friends at Central. Why? Because she is a friend herself. To know
Miriam is to love her.

MARY LOUISE LEWIS

Yes, everyone of us knows Louise, with her chestnut brown curls, her sparkling eyes, and her sweet smile. And who is there among us who does not love and admire her? Louise has two great ambitions. One is to study short-story writing, and the other—well have you ever noticed anything sparkling on her left hand?

EDWIN HARVEY KEEFE

Central sustains a loss in the graduation of Harvey Keefe—popular with his classmates, energetic in his studies, and earning well-merited success in the cadets. Energy and ambition seem to be the ingredients of his make up; when combined, they achieve success in any undertaking. Good luck, old boy!

MILDRED KELLOG LEWIS

Stop! Look! Listen! Here is our Mildred. We often wish there was more of her or at least more like her. If there were, what a wonderful place Central would be. Mildred expects to go to Normal School. It is hard to think of her as a teacher, but we know that she will succeed in anything she attempts.

MARTHA VIRGINIA LITTLE

Here's to "Baby" with her ever-ready smile. Is she funny? I should say so. She's the best ever. This Marylander has been with us four years. Endowed with the true spirit of the blue-and-white, she has freely given her time and musical talent to her school. Next year will find her at college. Good luck, "Baby!"

NAOMI HAZEL MCKENNEY

Naomi doesn't like her middle name because she says it sounds nutty. She is one of our dark-eyed, sweet-tempered friends, and she deserves credit for the effort she has put in her work at Central. She has not decided, yet, what she is going to do after graduation, but we are sure that she will succeed in whatever she takes up.

VIRGINIA LEE LYNHAM

Here we have another Virginia planning to leave Central after four years of study. Her ambition is to become a stenographer, and she plans attending a business college after graduation. She has done fine work at Central, and the class of nineteen twenty-four join in wishing her luck.

MABEL ELIZABETH MCNAMEE.

Mabel, one of our most loyal and studious Centralites, has lightened our halls and class-rooms with her bright smile for the past four years. She has not yet decided where she will finish her education, but we are sure that wherever she goes she will carry sunshine and happiness with her. Central wishes her luck.

CATHERINE AKERMAN McIntire Scholarship Debate, 1923-24

Kitty? Yes, that's the name that means success—success in debating, in school records, and in numerous other things. This popular schoolmate of ours has completed her course in three and a half years, besides getting a great number of E's; and—that Harrisburg debate! She helped to send the visitors back home "weeping." Yes, considering all, Kitty means success.

LOUISE MARLOW

One of the bright spots at Central is Louise. She is the kind of girl that can be depended on for enthusiasm over anything, even a rainy day. She says that she has no ambition, but what does a girl like Louise want with ambition? WE know that she will be a success, ambition or not.

HELEN MEENEHAN

Helen was born in Washington, D. C., but when just a tiny tot she went abroad. She spent eight years at school in Ireland and returned to this renowned city two years ago. Perhaps her sojourn in the land of sprites and fairies may have tended to develop the very charming personality that lurks behind her apparently demure demeanor.

VIRGINIA NATALIE MURRAY

This picture manages to hide the color of Virginia's shining, auburn hair, but surely one can see evidences of her sportsmanlike disposition, both friendly and modest. She is a Jack of many trades, which one she will master—Art, a business career, or domesticity, is in "the lap of the Gods." Who may say?

MORRIS ALLEN MILLER Class Historian

"Motts" has been a very hard worker for Central. He has taken an active part in athletics. He likes to dance, which may be the cause of some of his friends calling him "Sleepy." He intends to go to Maryland to study finance. We wish him the best of luck in any career which he may take up.

ANNA NADELMAN

Here's to our dear little Yankee girl, who hails from Connecticut State. But old Gotham is going to claim her and has opened its portals wide, for she's going to Columbia, pals, to learn what's great and true. So we wish her luck, we wish her joy, for the things she's going to do.

MARION ALICE MITCHELL

"Merry" hasn't been with us long, but she has made a host of friends with her winning smile and helping hand. She is a valuable asset to the office. Her ambitions are to go to college and be an accountant. It may be so, but this I know, she loves black hair and blue eyes. Good luck, "Merry."

AMY MARIE ODEN

We have known many girls, but have found none with a truer heart than Amy. Her ambition is to become a drawing teacher—so she goes to Wilson Normal next year. She is the kind that will not stop there, but expects to study in New York. She likes Domestic Science, too. May success attend her.

FRANK PALEY

Our friend, Frank, may his tribe increase, awoke one morn from a deep dream of peace, and sadly realized that he was about to graduate. Yes, graduate, and show the world that Russia, Frankie's birthplace, is to be known for something else besides Bolshevism. He will become a lawyer and plead so earnestly that the judges will surely invite him to dinner.

DORA SYLVIA PEVENSTEIN

May the years pass gently for little Dora! In 1920 she left Jefferson-Amidon for Central. In 1924 she plans to leave Central and, having obtained certificates in harmony and music, will continue her study of music in Philadelphia or New York. We think there is a niche in the "Hall of Fame" waiting for her.

MARY PARDEE

Mary first opened those flashing brown eyes in the State of Montana. But as luck would have it, she has graced the halls of Central these four years—a true Centralite, with loads of wit and an ever ready smile. She has given an unfailing response to every opportunity, especially that of an expert stenographer in the bank.

LEWIS HARVEY PHELPS

It has been Lewis's misfortune to spend only one semester at Central. It shows his good judgment to have come all the way from New Jersey to spend his last high school days with us. While he has been here only a short time, he has made many friends, and we all wish him the best of luck!

PHYLLIS MARY PERROTT

Phyllis came to Central from North Dakota in her second year. Her genial disposition and wit account for her unrivaled popularity. She is without doubt the most brilliant and capable student that ever attended Central, for she has graduated with less studying than has ever been done in the history of the school. May she do as well at the University of Vermont!

LERA FRANCES POWELL

Frances has only honored Central for two short years with her beautiful presence, so of course her achievements in any direction have been handicapped. However, this has not stopped her from being a "winner" when it comes to popularity. Frances formerly lived in Kentucky, so no wonder that we can refer to her as a "blue ribbon Centralite."

ORIS LESTER RADER

Oris may be characterized as a hard and steady worker who is liked by all with whom he comes in contact. If he keeps up his good work, he will be sure to succeed in the future. We wish him all the luck to make a name for himself and Central.

EDITH ELIZABETH ROBEY

Edith is just that kind of a girl that everybody likes to have around because of her sunny disposition. She has a winning smile, an attractive manner, and a special weakness for tripping the light fantastic. During her four years at Central, Edith has made friends and is known to them by her inevitable greeting of, "Hey, there."

JACK RAPPAPORT

Graduating from the Force School in 1920, Jack steered his course to Central. His four years here have been devoted to toiling with text-books. Because of his good nature and quiet ways, he has won many friends, and, although he has kept his ambitions secret, we are sure that he will succeed in whatever he undertakes. Here's luck to you, Jack.

KATHERINE RUPP

"Katie" is a miracle. She claims that she "never opens a book," yet she never gets below "G." She is eager to face the cruel, cruel world and earn her own living. She also aspires to be a "bachelor," but one look at her brown eyes and shiny brown hair would show you how hopeless her ambitions are.

ELIZABETH KATHERINE RICE

Elizabeth is a girl known to all true-blue Centralites. When we think of her, we always think of the slogan, "Always on the job." Her friends will tell you when you are in need just to call on her. Next fall Elizabeth is going to attend a Southern college. All of us wish her the very best of success.

BARBARA AUGUSTA SALMON

Here we introduce "Bobbie," the girl with the rubber-tired eyeglasses. Emulating the proverbial salmon, she swims and dives with superb ability. Although she is an ardent admirer of King Neptune, it is also known that she has no mean ability to land, vying with Tilden, Sarazen, and Pavlowa, for highest honors in their respective fields.

Gertrude Berliner Sanders

Scholarship

Bulletin Staff, 1921-22-23

Assoc. Editor, Bulletin, 1923-24

Basket-ball "C," 1923

Here is a girl who can do many things at once and do them all well. Central will miss Gertrude because she accomplishes so much and, moreover, she doesn't boast about it. She is going to tour the Mediterranean and visit Asia and Africa before entering college in the fall. We know that she will be successful in whatever she undertakes.

RUTH SHALLCROSS

Friends come and friends go, but Ruth is a real true friend to every one who knows her. She came to Central a year and a half ago from Nebraska. She expects to return to her native state after finishing at Central, and attend the university there. She wants to study music. Here's luck to you!

Robert Sedam Scholarship Valedictorian

Bob Sedam, the valedictorian of the February class, entered Central just a year and a half ago, and in that short time has made an excellent record. He is one of the best-known and best-liked boys at Central, and with his wonderful personality and scholastic ability, we feel sure of his success in whatever line of endeavor he may undertake.

MARTIN SHEFFERMAN

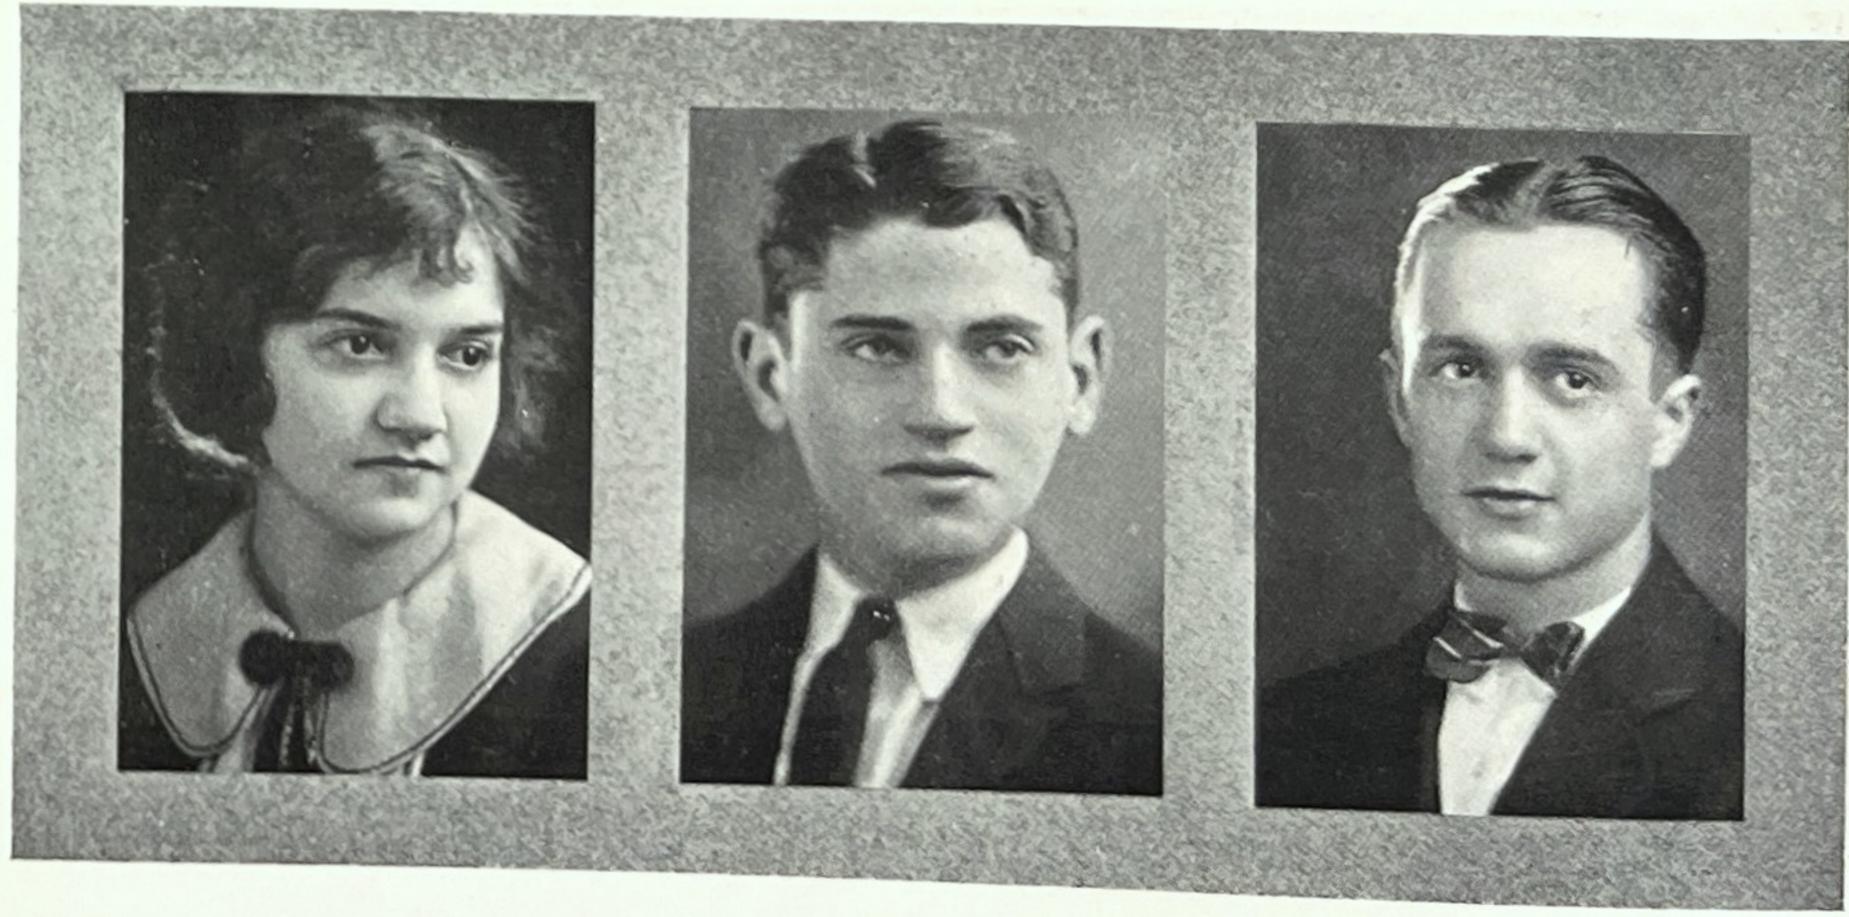

"Sheff," as he's commonly known around school, hails from Ohio. He came to Washington nine years ago. A student of good ability, "Sheff" expects to enter the University of Pennsylvania to study finance. We feel sure that he will be most successful in the business world and uphold the good reputation of Central. We wish him the best of success.

PERCY SEGAL

One of the most studious fellows is "Jack," who has made himself well liked by all who know him by his congeniality and wit. Upon leaving Central, he expects to enter business for himself. If he does as well in his life-work as he has done in Central, he will soon be controlling Wall Street. Central wishes him great success.

CHARLES EVERETT SHREVE

Who doesn't know this popular young fellow? "Charlie," because of his dry wit and pleasing personality, has won the hearts of many Centralites. Not only is he popular as a gentleman, but also a scholar. He has always maintained a high scholastic standing. He intends to study law after leaving Central. We wish him all the luck in the world.

FRANCES RITA SHUGRUE

Central regrets to bid adieu to this jolly, blue-eyed girl, who, after only three and one-half years among us, goes her way with a diploma as a birthday present. With an active mind, keenly observant, quick witted, nimble fingered on the ivories, and feet that can not remain quiet, she has made a host of friends.

KATHARINE LOUISE SMITH

Katharine has been in Central only three years, but in that time has succeeded in making herself well liked by many. Her main desire is to go to the University of Vermont, where she has many friends. Our parting wish is that during college she will enjoy life as much as she and Phyllis have enjoyed their career at Central.

FLORENCE MAY SIMONDS

Florence May Simonds is a Yankee by birth, a Virginian by residence, and a Centralite by preference. She plans to specialize in "bugs." To her any laboratory is paradise, chemicals and insects like nectar and ambrosia. She wanted physics also, but she obtained expert instruction in electricity, having traveled by trolley fifty-two miles daily for four years. Education under difficulties is appreciated.

LEO SOLET

A smile, a laugh, a reassuring slap on the shoulder—that's Leo! For four years Leo has prepared his way for college, making good marks and winning the love and respect of all with whom he has come in contact. He is going to study medicine. If he gives to college what he gave to Central, he will be a success.

FRANCES ELIZABETH SMITH

Frances, with her sweet voice and a shy and gentle manner, has won many friends at Central. She hails from Chicago, but she will soon be a Virginian, for, after finishing her musical education at the Washington College of Music, she will retire to the green hills of Virginia to milk the cows and raise chickens.

JEAN ELIZABETH STORMONT

"Gin" is Central's red-headed "gal," with gray eyes and a mischievous smile to top it off. After she returns from an extended trip down South, she expects to follow her two chief ambitions, which are "buck dancing" and short-story writing. Although these are rather contrasted ambitions, we are sure that she will succeed in both.

EDITH MARIE STRETCH

"Eddy" is of the Irish type—dark haired, blue eyed and humorous. She manages her studies with no visible effort at all and, judging from that muscular exercise we call smiling, is always happy and untroubled by worldly cares. Among her ambitions, she features the desire to be a crack stenographer. We of Central say, "Here's luck to you, Eddy."

FRANCES GRACE SUTTON

Frances' jollity, wit, imagination and good nature outside of the classroom, and her alertness inside, have captured for her the love of her classmates and the admiration of her teachers. "Sweeny," the world owes a good time to such as you, and the February class of 1924 wishes you the best of luck along your way.

MILDRED LOUISE SYMONS

Milly, as she is better known among her friends, is loved by everyone who knows her. Although she is demure and sweet in disposition, she can also be very merry. On the other hand, in her school work she is conscientious and a true Centralite. So here's wishing that her good luck stays with her in the future.

BEATRICE CATHERINE TEPPER

For the past four years there has been a "Bee" buzzing through the halls of Central and working hard. She is a real "Honey Bee," as all of her friends here at school will testify. Bee has not decided yet what she would like to do, but we wish her luck in whatever she chooses.

RENA LEAH TEPPER

Rena has only been with us for two years. But in that short time she has worked her way into the hearts of all those who know her. Always cheerful and with a sunny smile, she is always to be distinguished in the crowd. Here's to you, Rena, and the best wishes of us all go with you.

ELIZABETH ANNA THOMAS

"Tommy" is just one of those good-natured girls who is always willing to help the other fellow out of a tight place. She is a true daughter of the South, and her Southern accent is quite fascinating. During her four years at Central, she has gained the reputation of a budding modiste. Good luck to you, "Tommy."

EDWARD PRICE TOWERS

He is one of those quiet chaps, with that unassuming manner which so often deceives you until you really know him. Then you are sure that he is a "regular fellow," without a doubt. Still water runs deep, you know, so watch out, lads, for Eddie's smoke. He is the successful sort.

ALBERTA LOUISE WALLACE

Of course, we all wish Alberta the very best of luck. After three and a half years of studious work, she has completed her four-year course. She has not told us what she intends to do after she graduates, but we have an idea. Good luck to you, Alberta.

RETTA ESTHER WALSMITH

Notwithstanding the fact that Esther has crowded into three happy years the regular four-year course, she has found time to make many warm friends. Now she will take the next step toward the goal she set herself at three years—kindergarten teaching. In watching the play of Esther's dimples, the little folks will find the road to learning a cheerful, pleasant path.

RUDOLPH ARCHIBALD WARE

When Central opened her arms in 1920 to welcome Rudy, she might have had suspicions as to what a credit he would be. Having taken a business course the full four years, he has easily become the prominent young banker he is. Rudy expects to seek further laurels at George Washington University.

LUTHER PARSON WARING Class Prophet

Luther came to Central a rookie from the Park View School. He is greatly liked by all who know him, and, to show their fondness for him, they elected him to the esteemed office of prophet of the class. He leaves old Central to go to Penn State in order to become an electro-chemical engineer. The best of luck, Luther.

GERTRUDE WEINBERG

"Gertie" is one of those persons who is always happy and has a perpetual smile on her countenance. She is the only duplicate of the Victrola at Central and, of course, holds the talking record of the class. Her ambition is to be a banker because of her rare business and borrowing ability. Central is glad that Washington produces such ambitious characters.

HELEN GALLIHER WEST

Helen is one of the most lovable girls at Central. She is always sweet, cheerful, and helpful. She is a good student and expects to go to college and be further "eddicated." This will improve her mentality, but personally we do not think she can be improved, as she is already so gracious and charming in every respect.

VIRGINIA CLAIRE WILLIAMS

Regardless of the fact that Virginia has not been with us during her whole high-school career, we feel that she really belongs to us and is a true Central "light." Before entering Central, Virginia attended Western High School of Baltimore. She is graduating in three and one-half years and expects to enter George Washington for the remainder of the year.

the Committee of the second of the first

VIRGINIA OTEY WOODWARD

Class Vice-President

"Otey" came to Washington from Roanoke just in time to enter Central as a rookie. Her laughing blue eyes and cheery "Hey, there!" have won her a host of friends—so many, in fact, that we made her our vice-president. Whatever she does, wherever she goes, Otey will always be a success and will continue to win many friends with her sweet disposition and sparkling wit.

February Paledictory

E COME tonight to celebrate a great achievement with a feeling of regret and yet of triumph. We have reached an important milestone on the road to our ambitions, and we are glad and proud that this milestone represents a mentality fit to keep pace with our desires.

Before us lies the unknown future; behind the familiar path of our recent activities, the travel of which has brought us to this point with the greatest of all assets, experience. But few of us realize that during our daily life at Central, from our triumphs and defeats, we have been accumulating a store of knowledge that will be of amazing help to us in the future. Central has proved to be a real school of experience and we, its graduates, go forth into life with a record that should help us to solve our future problems with ease and surety.

Associations and environment have also played their part in our betterment. In many of the friends that we have made we will find not only a present pleasure but a future profit. Our associations have given us examples to parallel; heights of perfection to strive for, and in the striving we shall attain worthwhile standards in life. Our excellent environment, the ever-prevalent atmosphere of endeavor and accomplishment has molded us into better students with higher ideals and resolves.

Four years ago the majority of us did not realize what an education meant. At the present time, through personal contact with knowledge, and the superiority that knowledge gives, we come not only to a realization of what we know, but we see in the future the untouched wealth of a higher education and the opportunity that is ours. Here at Central, we have seen many successes, and we have profited by them. We have seen the results of hard work, of concentration, and of endeavor, and these examples have made us to resolve to do our best, to strive to pull ourselves to the top of the ever-struggling mass of humanity, to lead and to excel.

We have accumulated a store of knowledge. However, though what we have learned is important, the development of our faculities as we have striven to learn, is far more important. As we have applied ourselves to the study of the sciences, our powers of observation have developed, as we have learned our lessons in history, our memories have improved, as we have struggled with mathematics our reasoning power has become more reliable, as we have studied the classics, we have become more proficient in conveying our thoughts to others, and always, as we have applied ourselves to these tasks we have learned to concentrate.

We shall find as we strive for success in our chosen vocations that these faculties, namely, observation, memory, reasoning, expression, and concentration, backed by character which is the foundation of success, comprise the requisites for all advancement.

The population of the U. S. has been steadily growing, and, with its growth, the amount of work that must be done has increased, and our opportunities have multiplied. If we do our share, we shall certainly find those opportunities that equal our abilities. International law with the developing importance of world-wide problems, and medicine with its ever-changing prospects and angles may be mentioned as illustrative of special opportunities. The development of aerial transportation and the transmission of speech and pictures by radio are fertile fields for those of an engineering inclination. Owing to combinations in industry and growth in consumption, business has become so large and complicated that it is no longer a matter of finding jobs big enough for the man, but a question of finding men big enough for the jobs. Our opportunities are unlimited, and we need not be concerned about an opportunity, but rather about our ability to take full advantage of our opportunities.

Our education has only begun, and we must carry on. By hard work we should continue to develop our faculties. The next logical step in this undertaking is college, and then a continuous post-graduate course in the school of experience.

We have begun to understand what Central has done for us, and what unusual opportunities confront us. In looking back we realize the importance of the part that Central has played in whatever success we accomplish. May we go forward using that advantage to its utmost, and thereby attain our highest ambitions.

June Class Poem

Tonight another goal is won,
Another page of life is done,
The winged hands of time have turned
Too swift o'er days wherein we learned
To love and honor Central's name,
By faith to guard her spirit's flame.

The record which tonight doth end
Will to each heart throughout life lend
A spark by which to carry on,
As did each class before us gone,
That, striving upward, now has gained
Life's harvests by us unattained.

As from the home of some dear friend
One ling'ring parts on homeward trend,
So do we pause now at this gate
Past days again to contemplate,
Days which to each of us should tell
Wherein each one may best excel.

To these great halls in whose repose
Children from youth to manhood rose
And vanished in the sea of life,
To battle there midst toil and strife,
We bid farewell, we, like some song
Once heard, and then, forever gone.

To those who nobly strove always

To lead us on through learning's maze
To reach the height where now we stand—
To those who lent their guiding hand,
We bid farewell, yet, ere we go
Some parting tribute we would show.

We pledge ourselves success to gain
To prove their efforts were not vain;
And as the future years unfold
May we bring honors manifold
To pay the debt we owe each name
That helped to make our Central's fame.

June Class History

ISTORY is the record of human progress; applied to a graduating class, it is the chronicle of those events which mark its progress toward the final goal. The fourth and last milestone of our journey through the halls of dear old Central has been passed, and we stand tonight upon the threshold of a new life. The record has been written; the power lies in none of us to change it. We have gradually emerged from the greenness of rookies to the dignity of seniors. During this transition the ties of friendship and of loyalty to Central have been ever growing stronger, and tonight we pause to look back upon the principal events of our four happy years at Central.

In the fall of 1920 we entered this building as "wee sma' rookies," not without the usual amount of verdancy so characteristic of freshmen. However, we were not long in casting aside this air of timidity and shyness, and by the end of the year we realized just what a "wonderful, remarkable and illustrious" class we were. Our pride was strengthened by the knowledge that we were the first class under the able guidance of Mr. Maurer.

In our sophomore year we were unusually sophisticated and proud, due not only to the natural tendency of sophomores, but also to our school's clean, victorious sweep in all its contests. As Mr. Maurer's first class we must have been something like the first child in a family. Perhaps that explains our superior wisdom, ability, and talent—in our own opinion. Despite our sophistication, we realized that our time to lead Central to victory was not far away, and we therefore devoted ourselves to earnest endeavor.

Our junior year was one of conquest and of glory. With our representatives in the athletic field, drill field, and indoor school activities we had the satisfaction and pride of seeing our school presented with the trophies and the rewards of our victorious efforts. The bonds of friendship, the love for our school and its traditions, and the spirit of loyalty and cooperation had been instilled into our hearts, and then, as Juniors, we were closely united, working together to live up to the high ideals and standards of Central, striving to better them, if possible.

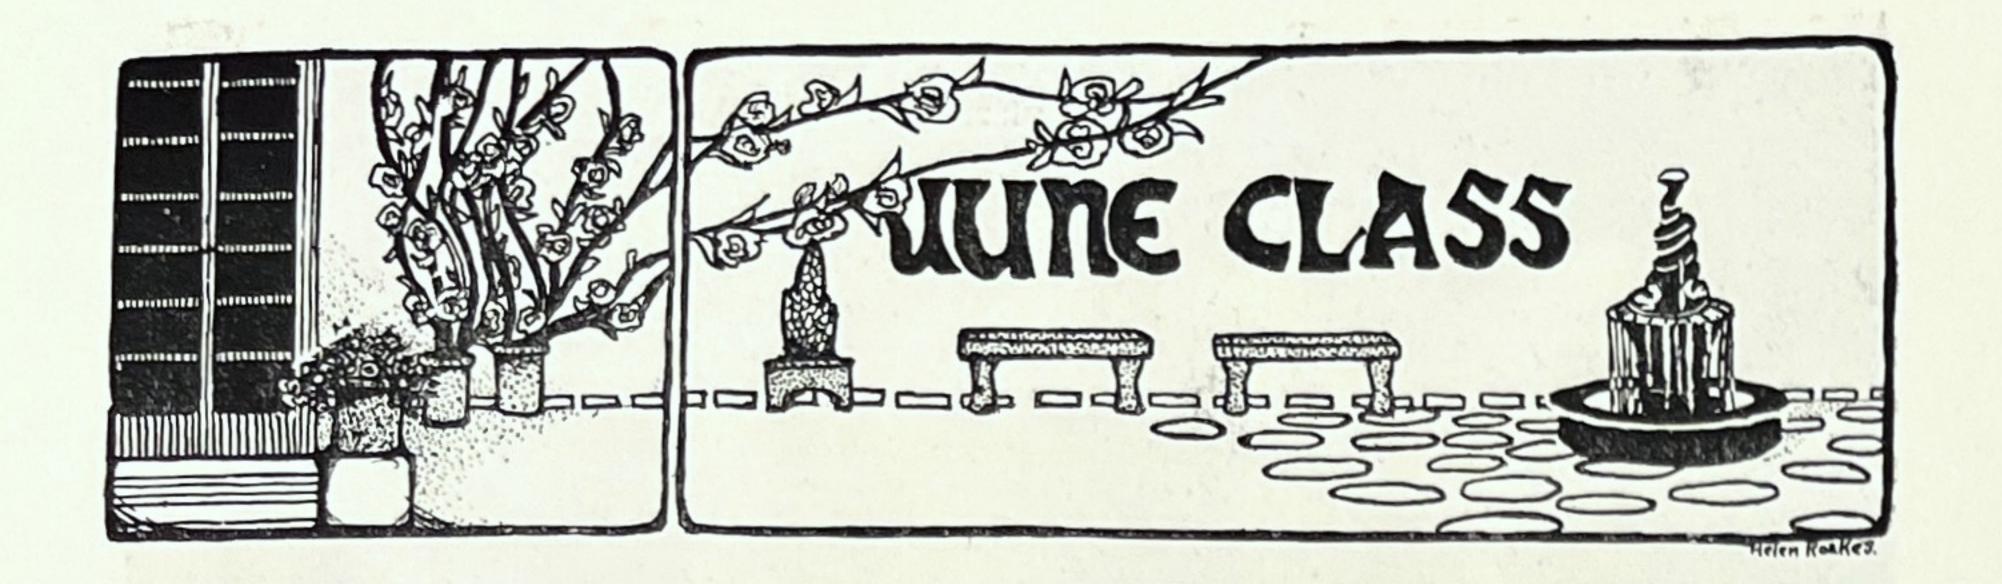

It was in our third year that our beloved principal, "Bob" Maurer, left us. Though we grieved at our loss, yet we rejoiced in our gain, for our guidance was entrusted to the capable and willing hands of Mr. Kramer. The chapel which was held as a farewell to "Bob" and as a welcome to "Steve" will long be remembered. It was there that Mr. Kramer received the key not only to our school but also to our hearts, and we know that when he looked into our hearts he found them clean, staunch, and true.

Seniors! A dream come true! A desired goal attained! A renewed determination to give the best in us for our school! With such thoughts we entered our senior year—the climax, the reward of our former labors. We have given our best, and although our best has not always proved the best there is, we have upheld Central's standard of good sportsmanship. Some of us have been the leaders of the school activities; others have encouraged and cheered our friends on to achievement. The success of the spring play, the athletic teams, the publications, and the cadets has been due, in large part, to the tirless efforts of the class of 1924.

And so we look back over our four years in high school with the fondest memories. Our greenness as rookies, our "wisdom" as sophomores, our gayety as juniors, and our activities as seniors have developed us and prepared us for greater things to come. And employed in various vocations, yet we know that we shall uphold the honor of dear old school days are over, we still have the opportunity at our class reunions of renewing Central.

Our greenness as rookies, our "wisdom" as sophomores, our gayety as juniors, and our though we may be care things to come. And employed in various vocations, yet we know that we shall uphold the honor of dear old school days are over, we still have the opportunity at our class reunions of renewing Central.

FABIUS AARONSON

After surviving two years of high school in a small Oklahoma town, "Ok" decided to come to Washington and really complete his education. We do not know where he is going from Central, but we are sure of his success anywhere. Good luck, "Ok!"

BESSIE ABRAMSON

Attention! Why? It's Bessie, come to soothe us with her quiet, modest ways, which have won her a permanent place in the hearts of all those fortunate enough to know her. We do not know what her life ambition is, but if graduating in three-and-one-half years is any sign of ability, she surely will succeed. Here's luck!

NELLSON REED ADAMS Scholarship

Nellson has kept up the family record at Central, as an excellent student. He is an aspiring debater, and one of our foremost chess players. His jolly disposition and ready smile have made many friends for him. He excels in everything he takes up. We are wondering when he will take up dancing. The years will tell. Watch out, Rudolph!

WILLIAM WELLS ALEXANDER

"Alex" will always be remembered by his contemporaries as a conscientious, hardworking (?) man, and one of the most popular members of his class. During the years he has been with us, scholastic difficulties have hampered his athletics, but in the past year he has made an impressive record on the swimming team.
Central will miss him.

JAMES CLEMENT ALLISON 2nd Lieutenant, Co. A, 1923-'24 Review Staff, 1924

Known to his many friends as Jimmy or Clem, he has at last reached his goal. Jimmy has been a member of the cadet corp, having been made a non-com in his fourth year; and has written for the Bulletin and Review. He expects to take up medicine at college, and we all know that he will eventually be Dr. Allison, once and always a true Centralite.

HARRY CLIFFORD ALLDER

He is known among the fellows as "Cliff," and began his career in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, on December 15, 1905. He came to Central four years ago, and since that time has been all that a true Centralite should be. He hopes to go either to the Naval Academy or to Harvard. so we wish him the best of luck.

ROY GLYNN ALLMAN

Last September Central received Roy from Daleville College, where he had already made a great record as an athlete and a student. Owing to the short time he has been with us, he has not been able to compete in athletics, but he has endeared himself to many of his classmates, especially the ladies. We all wish him the best of luck in the future.

EARLE FLETCHER ALLEN

As good Centraliteism requires ambition, industry and sportsmanship, Earle has been all that; while the happy medium that makes him so successful socially as well, has probably been supplied by the imaginative strain developed inventing radio yarns. And he is going to be an engineer! Miserable picture, that cannot show his glowing color, but trust the girls to remember it!

MARIE THERESA AMREIN

Sweet, lovable, with blue eyes and adorable black curly hair—that is our "Terry," the Terry who holds a large corner in the heart of each one of her many friends. Her present chief desire for the future is to attend G. W. Otherwise, her future is unknown, but sweetness and lovableness are charming characteristics, which are very rarely overlooked.

CARL EMIL ANDEREGG Track "C," 1923

Carl received his grammar school education at Emery and on graduating from that school launched upon his career here at Central. During his course at Central he has made innumerable friends through his pleasing personality. Carl has also made quite a name for himself in track. He expects to matriculate at Syracuse University upon graduating from Central.

JULIA GRACE ATKINS

There are many complimentary adjectives used to describe Grace, the most important being dainty, petite and attractive. It cannot be denied that she has "graced" Central's Halls during her short sojourn with us. Her ready smile and fondness for "brown" eyes is well known to her friends. In the autumn she will go South to acquire more knowledge.

CATHERINE THOMSON ANDREWS

She never says anything about it, but away back in Catherine's head there's ambition, the kind that rings true, and plenty of it. When one can quell that shyness—what a wonderland! Sometimes her eyes are its mirror—but only for an instant. All she will tell us is that she is going to Goucher.

VIRGINIA WARREN AYLOR

Everyone knows "Dee." Her sweet smile and fascinating personality have made her one of Central's most popular girls. A truly modern girl is "Dee," and her pet hobbies are playing golf and dancing to some snappy tune. Her fluffy bobbed hair and chic clothes make her an altogether charming person. Her only "failing" seems to be for tall, slender boys.

FRANCES FOYE ANDREWS

Frances is a true Centralite, but it is said that her heart is lost to the University of Pennsylvania. If you want to have a good time, just page Frances, for she is one of Central's jolliest girls. She is also one of our most gifted, as any who has heard her play the piano or seen her poetry will testify.

FRANCES BACON

When Fuzzy's around "there's no rest for the weary." Just ask her friends, if you want an explanation of "laughter holding both his sides," especially in Costume Design and Crafts. We have heard that if Fuz were shut up in an empty room, she would think of something original to do. "Resourceful" should be her middle name.

ALBA LYNETTE BAILEY

"It's nice to be natural when you're naturally nice." And that fits Alba exactly. She is a jolly companion and an allaround girl, whose ready smile is frequently flashed on us. She plans to go to Normal next year to continue her studies, and her place here will be hard to fill. Good luck to you, Alba!

CATHERINE THACKERAY BANNERMAN

Lots o' humor, Lots o' wit, Lots o' nonsense, Lots o' grit; this is Catz. True to her Scottish nature, she has consistently maintained a high record. Dancing and drawing are her hobbies. Rumor decrees that a certain young man's influence might keep Catz from attending George Washington, but she answers with her pet phrase: "I hae me doots."

ARTHUR GORHAM BAKER Track "C," 1923

"Dunk" has been a mainstay and a record-holder of the track team for the last two years and a large and oftenseen land-mark around the school the last four years. He is big-hearted, good-natured, and a prince of a fellow. He hopes to graduate from the University of Pennsylvania, and his friends wish him luck.

SHELTON JOHN BARNETT, JR.

Here's to "Reds" from Mississippi—a shining light in his studies, a beacon to his friends, and a spark to the ladies! His greatest hobby is baseball from a spectator's viewpoint. After graduating from Central, he intends to study Pharmacy at the University of Kentucky, and some day to be head of the wholesale druggists' firm of Barnett and Company.

GEORGE LINDSAY BALL

Although George Ball was born in this city, Central does not have the first claim to him. He entered Central in the autumn of 1922 from Cristobal High School, Canal Zone, Panama. His easy-going manner and amiable ways have won him many friends in Central. He will reap the rewards of an energetic and deserving student.

ELIZABETH BARR

Is there anyone in Central who does not know Elizabeth? Her great success in athletics and her charming personality have obtained for her her many friends. Watch her play basketball, shoot and swim, and you will not need to ask what her hobbies are. Her future aim is to join the basketball and rifle teams at George Washington, next year.

HENRY HALL BARR

Tennis "C," 1923-'24

Winner Tennis Tournament
1924

Four years ago Henry came here from John Eaton grammar school, one of many forlorn little rookies, but now he is a distinguished personage, having proved himself to be a master of the racquet (both on the court and anywhere else.) Henry holds the tennis championship for the fall tournament of 1923. Good luck!

MARIAN MITCHISON BAUMGARTEN Scholarship

Marian entered Central four years ago from Monroe School. She has high ambitions, and expects to enter Law School on leaving Central. She has a cheerful disposition, and her marks have been excellent. Good luck to you, young lawyer!

RUTH BARROWS

If you are looking for a true friend, one who is always goodnatured, go no farther than Ruth. She is all that anyone could wish her to be. Ruth's chief hobby is studying (?) Well, just ask her. All her friends will be sorry to see her go and certainly wish her all good luck in whatever she undertakes.

ANNA HELENE BEALL

Anna Beall's winning smile, big brown eyes, and sweet and charming personality have won a host of friends for her during her four years at Central. "Annabelle," when you are traveling far from home, think of us once in a while. Goodbye and good luck!

IRMA MARGARET BAULSIR

Irma is one of those girls who help to give Central her reputation for "wonderful" girls. Everyone knows and loves her for her ready smile and her unaffected, charming personality. Although her extreme modesty made it awfully hard for us, we did discover that her ambition is to attend the University of Illinois. Here's loads of luck to you, Irma!

DOROTHY IOLA BEALL

What's so rare as a faithful friend who is always ready her things to lend, who never passes in the hall without shouting a friendly word or call? With her love for books and her winning smile, she'll travel life's road to a place worthwhile. Though we'll miss her much in every way, we wish her success for many a day!

Bue Beall

ELIZABETH MAY BEALL

Elizabeth's lovely disposition has made her a favorite among her friends, who are numerous. History is her hobby, but she intends to make a specialty of art. Good scholarship, social activities, and lots of fun marked her course through Central, and we all wish her well as she goes off to Maryland State.

CLARA AVIS BEATY

Clara needs no introduction, as we remember her as one of the candidates in our elections. She hails from the Philippines, but has spent all of her school years in Washington. Some day she hopes to be a trained nurse, and her work in the "Rest Room" shows her capability. Good luck, Clara, to you and your patients!

the same of the same of

LILLIAN BEATRICE BEALL

Lillian has been known for four years by all her friends at Central as Bee. Her many friends whom she is leaving behind are sorry to see her go, because they will miss her friendship. She has started a career in music, and is planning to continue this study. We all wish her happiness and the best of luck.

LILLIAN POWELL BEECH

Do you know Central's Rapunzel? You would not recognize her in the person of Lillian Beech, but her blond hair, which is usually rolled in a bewitching knot, makes her worthy of the name. But she is not destined for a secluded castle. She adores gowns and hats and is fully determined to be a second Lucille, Limited.

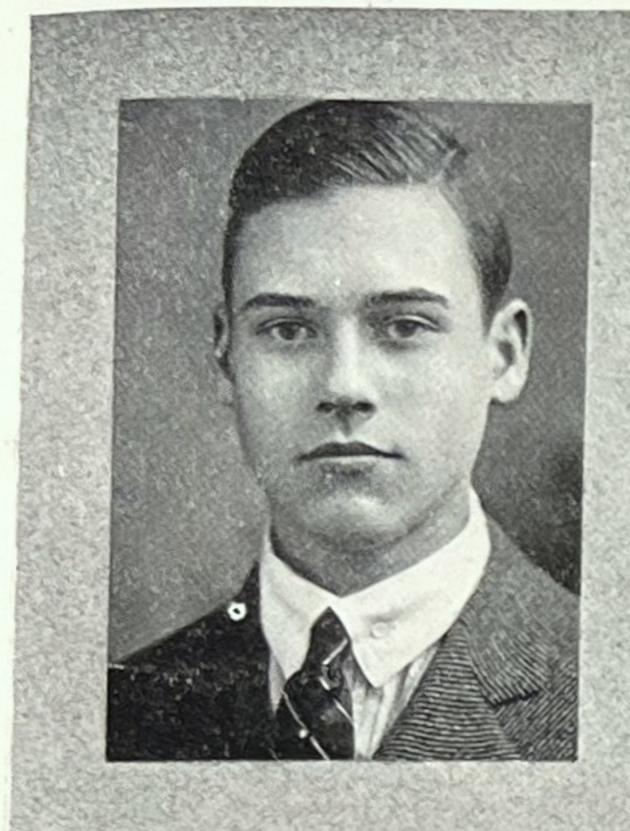

ROBERT CORNELIUS BEAN

Robert Bean is some fellow! Back in the old days, Beanie used to go to Brookland School, and he was into everything. He came up here and continued to make friends, all because he knew how. Now he is leaving—a great loss to Central. But we'll say good luck, Beanie.

CARLTON ROSS BEHRENS
Review Staff, 1923-24
"Still waters run deep."

We have found Carlton to be a liberal thinker, but a conservative speaker. His sincerity and rather dignified affability have won him many friends, both among teachers and students of both sexes, while at Central. Judging from his attitude displayed at school, he should make a fine impression in whatever course he follows in later life.

PHILIP FLETCHER BELL

First Lieutenant, Company H,

1923-24

Phil was born in Missouri, and, after living in California and Colorado, he decided that the proper field for his endeavors was Central. His perseverance in his studies has won for him the regard of the faculty, while his interest in the cadets, in the "Review" and in the "Arc" has made him many friends.

DOROTHY RAYMOND BERNHARD

Everybody knows what a sweet girl "Dottie" is, but we feel quite sure that there is one person who is absolutely convinced of it. She says she is going to Normal and hopes some day to teach. Perhaps she will, but we have our doubts! However, we wish her luck.

SARA FLORENCE BENNETT

Sara, throughout her four years of studious work in high school, has won a generous space in the hearts of all her classmates. Her ambition, we are told, is to climb to the limelights of the business world. With so much enthusiastic willingness, we know, Sara, that a bright future awaits you. Our sincere wishes are yours.

THERESA BERNSTEIN

and be how and and and the

Theresa is a lithe young Lilliputian, with swishing, bobbed ebony hair and sparkling brown eyes; an excellent dancer and a cute young wench who undoubtedly will assume the prerogative of dragging a virtuous young Lothario by the nose to the altar to the accompaniment of the happy groans of her friends and direful glances of her indignant enemies.

CARL BERGSTROM
Football, "C," 1922-23

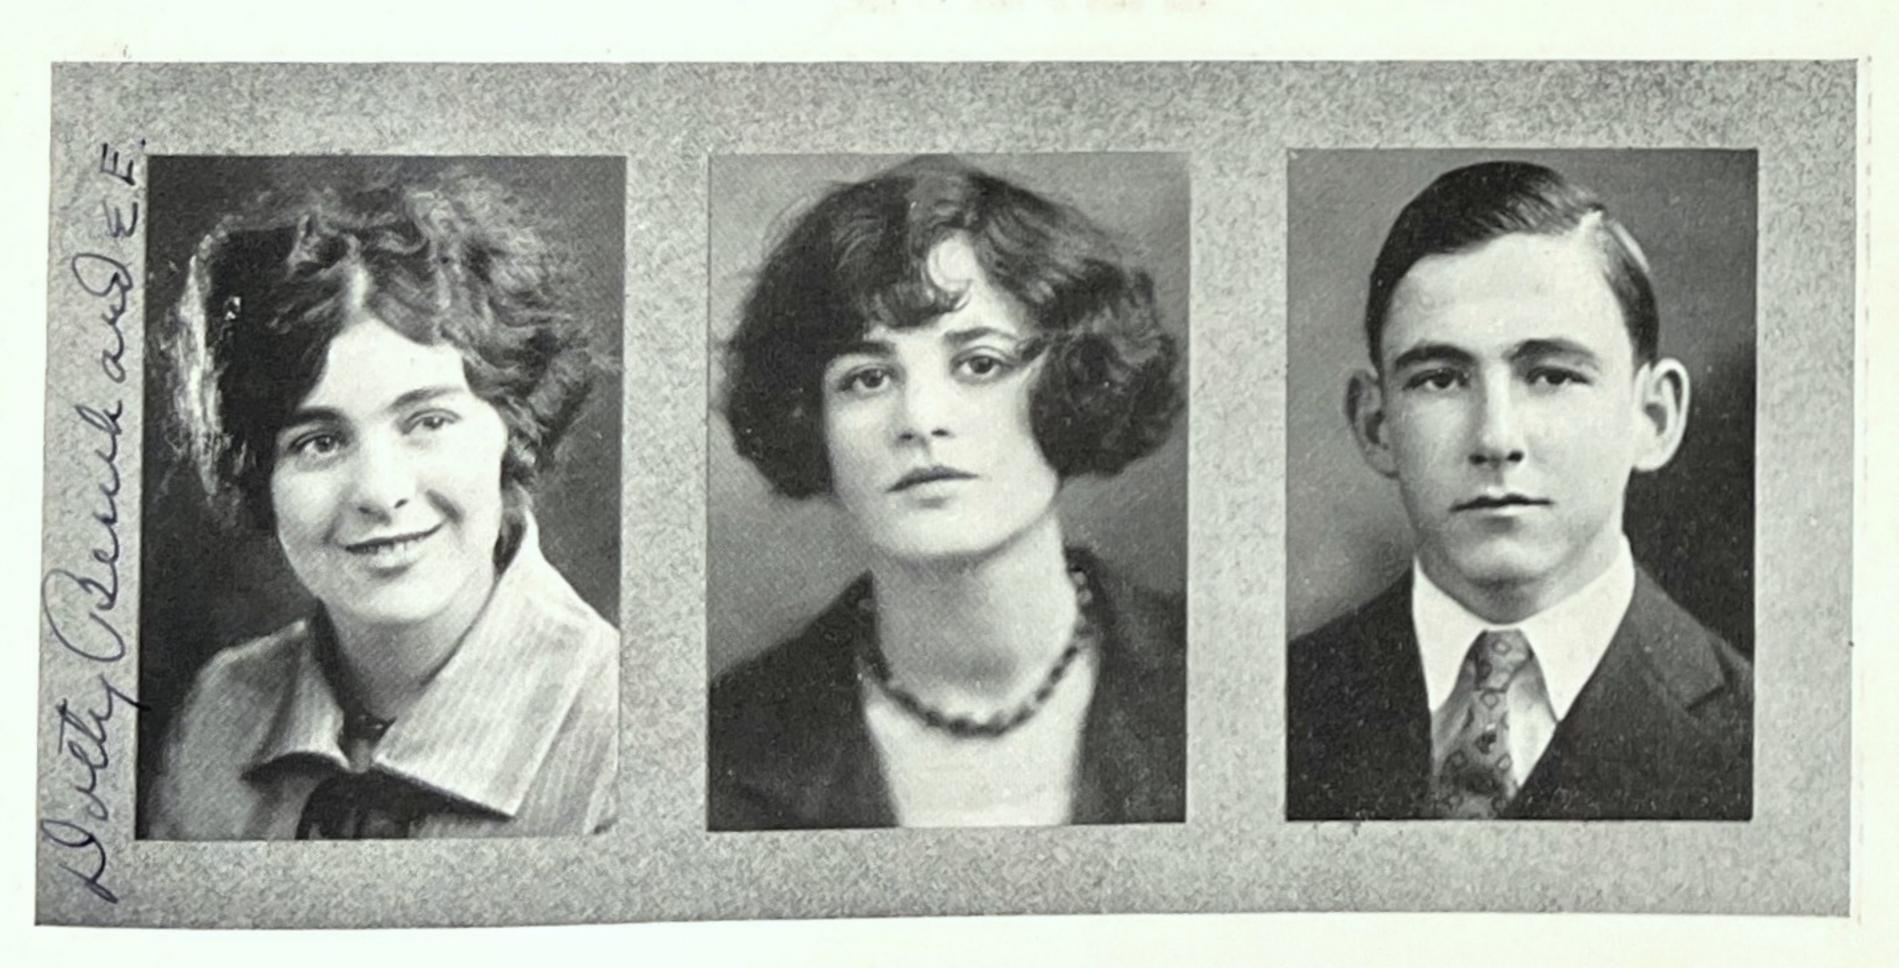

Carl is one of Central's bestknown and best-liked athletes to depart from the school. None of us will ever forget his smiling face and witty sayings. He is a true Central boy, well liked by all and a good example for the younger numbers to copy Good-bye, and best luck and future success!

THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN

Charlie hails from Ohio and aspires to follow the footsteps of other famous men from this presidential state. His mind is usually active, but not as much so as his vivacious feet and guilty conscience. He is well-liked because of his friendliness and humor. He is meditating between the University of Cincinnati and Ohio State. Good luck, Charlie!

Margaret Persis Birtwell Scholarship Class Poet Review Staff, 1924

"Pack up your troubles in your old kit bag, "And smile, smile, while you have Persis."

Why go further? I am referring to one who has a sunny disposition and who is editor of "La Chronique" and a charter member of the Sketch Club. Her ambition is to graduate at Goucher and achieve success in some literary line.

JACQUELINE BLACKWELL

Charm, vivacity, wit, cleverness! What more could one wish? Although she has been with us only a year, having come from Texas, she has made a host of friends who will be sorry to see her leave. Her ambition is to go to college and then—Oh, well, we'll leave that to a dark-haired admirer.

LYDAGENE BLACK
Scholarship
Senior Council

This fair daughter of Texas has been with us for four years. She is loved by all who know her. Her ambition is to go to college to learn the arts of cooking and sewing. Rumor says that the influence of Annapolis has brought this desire about. A certain Kensington prophet foretells success for her in everything she undertakes.

KATHARINE STICKNEY BLISS Tennis "C," 1923-24

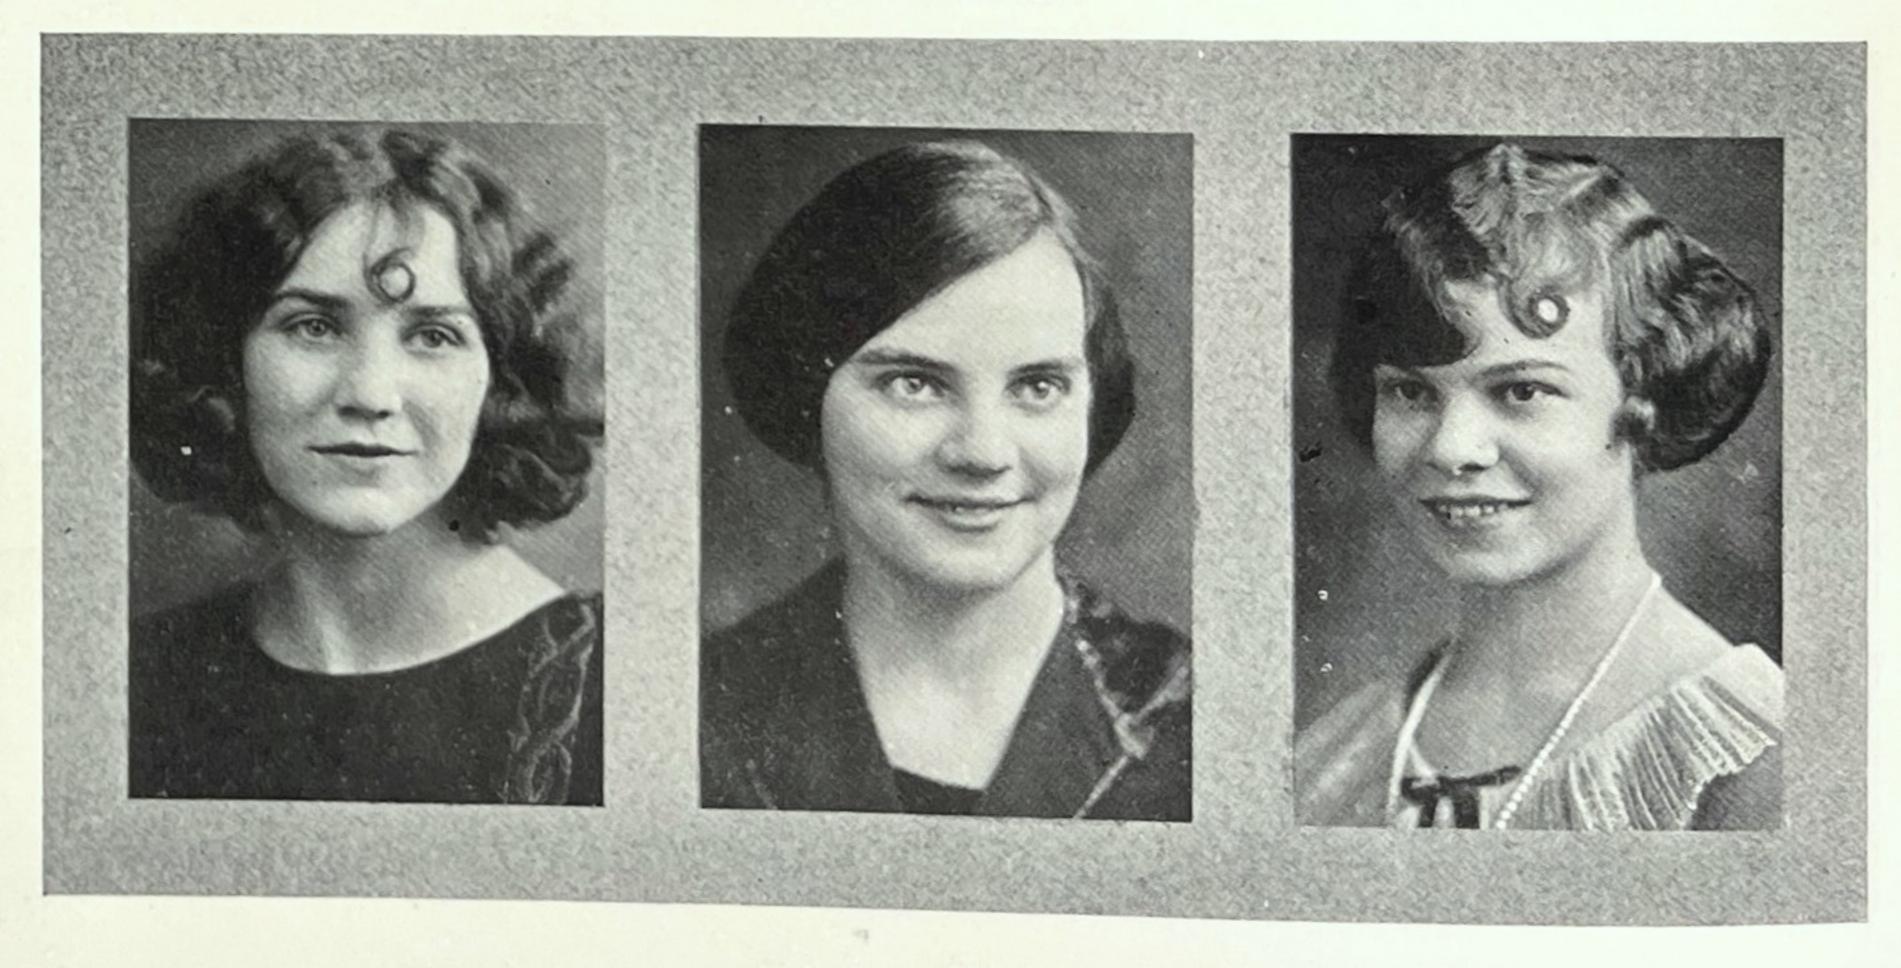

"Kitty" is one of Takoma's shining lights at Central. To appreciate her greatness, one should watch her play tennis or basketball. She has won her "C" in tennis and is known as a participant in rifle and the girls' chorus. She will remain another year at Central as a post-graduate before entering the halls of Swarthmore. Here's the best o' luck to her.

VIRGINIA FAIRFAX BLACKISTONE

Virginia is one of Central's sweetest graduates this year. Her rare personality has won her many friends. All those who know her have found her a true companion and an all around sport. G. W. is to be her next step on the road to success. We all wish you good luck, Virginia.

EVELYN MAY BODWELL

Those who have failed to make the acquaintance of this jolly little golden-haired girl have missed a priceless friend Everyone likes Evelyn except those who know her—and they adore her. She is so modest that she declines to talk about herself, but we know that with her many sterling qualities, she will be successful in whatever she undertakes.

SAMUEL BOGORAD

He will be remembered by all whom he has met as a cheerful young fellow, well liked by everyone—including some teachers. His career in Central has been marked by frequent interruptions from the office, but he persevered and has miraculously graduated in the regulation four years.

RICHARD D'ARCY BONNET
Swimming "C," 1922-23-24
Captain swimming, 1923-24
Senior Council

No sooner had "Dossy" landed in Central than he started out to make a name for himself. As a reward for three years of faithful service, he was elected to the captaincy of this year's swimming team. Next September will find him entering Maryland State to study landscape gardening. "Dossy," here's wishing you success and the very best of luck.

LAWRENCE JOSEPH BOMBERGER

Here is a chap that hails from the "sticks" of Maryland. He is a very clean-cut boy in all his dealings, both in work and play. His sunny smile and pleasing personality are wont to impress everyone with whom he converses. There is only prosperity for "Larry," as he has never known the meaning of the word "quit."

EDITH CECILIA BOWLING

Friends may come and friends may go, but with Edith friends go on forever. All who have made acquaintance with this girl from Maryland during her two years at Central have discovered among her many qualities sincerity and sympathy. With these characteristics she will always continue to win many friends, but next year, instead of at Central, it will be at Goucher.

MAE CARLYLE BONNER

Mae comes from the Sunny South, and there's a bit of southern sunshine in her smile. After three years at Central, she entered Lynchburg College, Virginia, where she excelled in soccer and basketball and won her letter in hockey. She dances and swims and is an all around good sport. Central is glad that she came back to graduate.

THOMAS ALDEN BRADFORD
Football "C," 1924
Assistant Business Manager of "Brecky"
Senior Council

Alden is one of those likeable chaps with an abundance of ready wit. He is popular around school, especially with the fairer sex. We should like to shout his praises from the housetops for his success in football, dramatics and many other school activities, but space does not permit. He expects to enter Wesleyan College.

Louis Francis Bradley, Jr.

Louis hails from the Petworth School, where he was one of the main attractions. He has kept up his reputation at Central, as we all know, and he has been an ardent supporter of all Central's interests during his four years' stay. We all know that he will do the same at college next year and wish him all the success possible.

1923-24

Katharine is a thoroughbred from old Kentucky. Her charming personality has won for her many true friends. After she has made a few more "E's" in college entrance examinations, she expects to enter Mount Holyoke. When this young lady finishes college—well, just watch for her name. It will be great, but sure to change. Well, good luck, Katharine!

MARTHA ADDERTON BRAGAW

The little blond-haired Martha is a "Tarheel," but came to Central in September from New Orleans. With her sunny smile and sweet disposition she has won many friends. Although she is fond of dancing, she is a most ardent student. She has already ventured into the world of dramatics and poesy. From college she goes to journalism.

MARIE LOUISE BRASWELL

Charm and personality, along with a happy disposition, make Louise. She is one of Central's most popular and best-liked girls. She has been a true friend to us all, and we hate to see her leave. As to her future—we are not sure, but good luck to you, Louise!

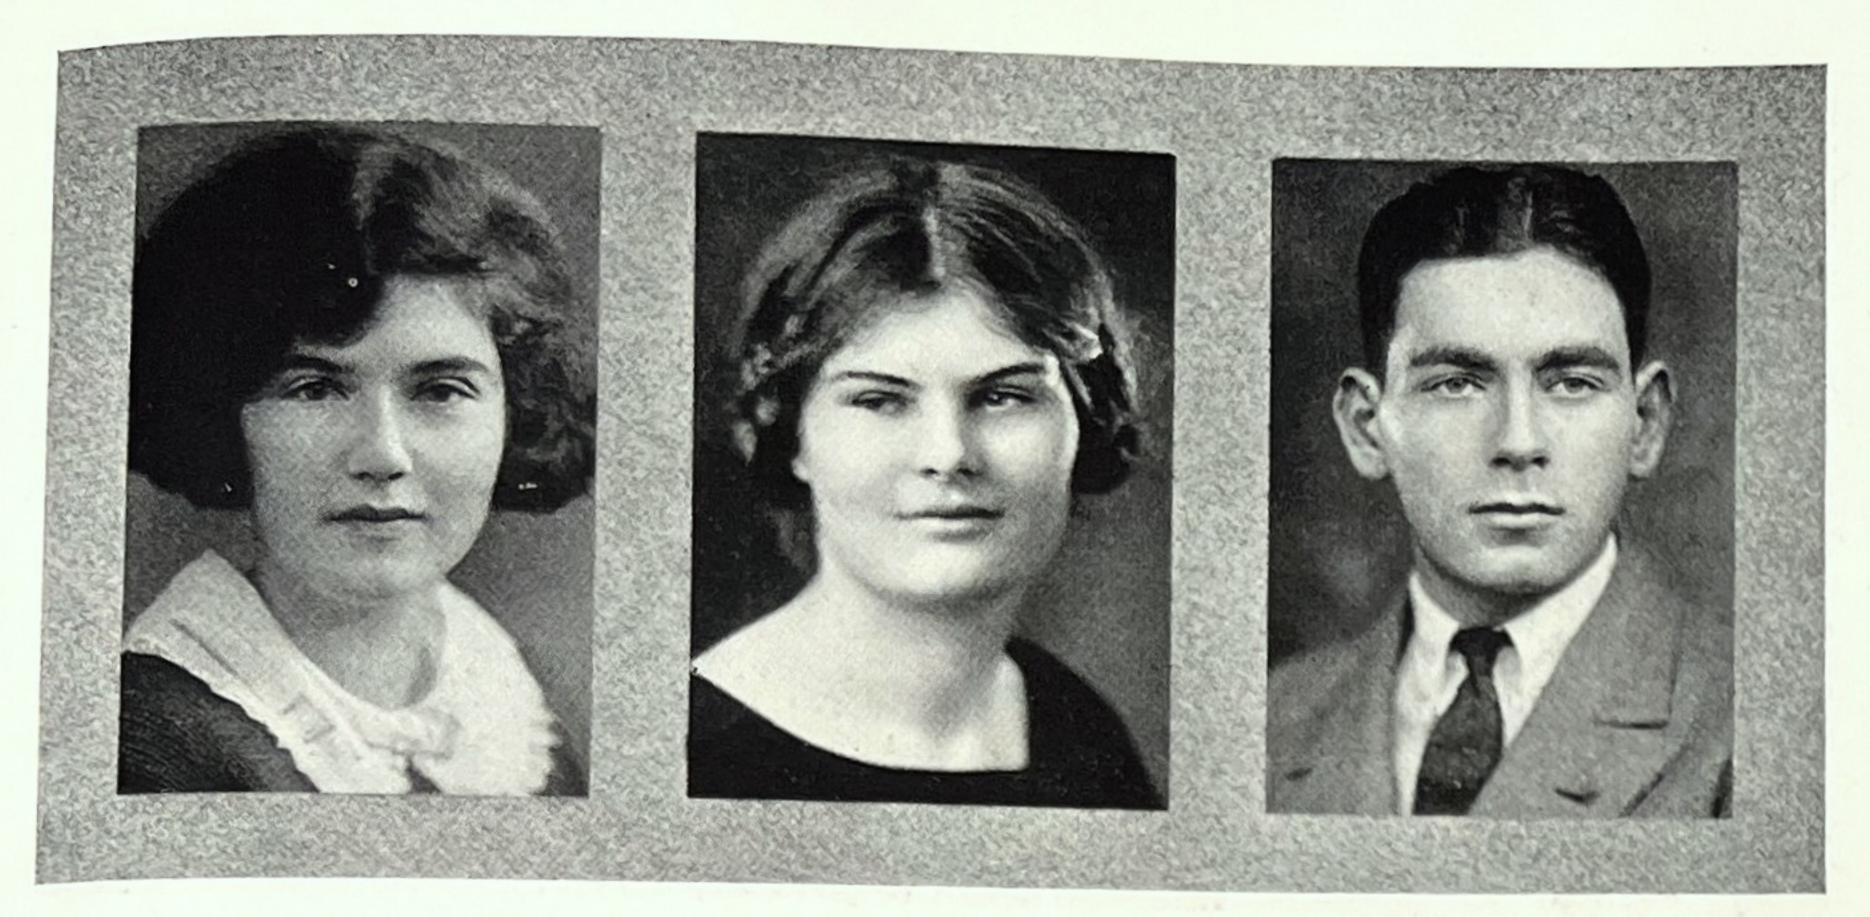

ROBERT ETTER BRAKE
First Lieutenant, Company C, 1923-24
Bank Staff, 1923-24

Here's good luck to Bob in his career as a certified public accountant. Who is he? Why, that genial gentleman who always knows you when you go into the bank. Hailing from Brooklyn, he graduated from the Park View School and came to Central. Four years in the cadets rewarded (?) him with a first lieutenancy in "C." Now he will represent Central at Pace Institute.

VIRGINIA BRECKINRIDGE

"Virginia" from "Virginia!"
This is the explanation of that winning personality and those charming southern manners. She came to Washington, first as a pupil in boarding school, and now after four happy years at Central, she is going to complete her education at George Washington University. Best luck to you, Virginia, and lots of it.

HESTER BROOKS

Hester! You know her, the girl with dark curly hair, red cheeks, and a laugh that makes you smile just to think of it. She does a little bit of everything—swimming, dancing, tennis, shooting. Then, too, she has quite a row of "E's." Above all, she's a good sport. Oh, Hester! How Central will miss you!

MADGE FENTON BROWN

Madge is a dear little girl from "Ole Virginie," who is as smart as she can be, and as nice as she is smart. Graduating in just three and a half years, she leaves Central with a host of friends. Madge wants a career, and we daresay she will get it. Best luck to you, Madge!

MARY BROOKS

One Year Dramatic Certificate

Mary, from Newburg, New York, came to Washington and started school at seven. She entered in her second year at Central and will go to college. Much traveling has added to her education. In the Dramatic Association she won the one-year certificate, making her a member of the Mask Club. Her favorite study is science, but she shows promise as a poet.

MARGARET ELIZABETH BROWN

Margaret entered Central in September, 1920. Although she found her lessons difficult, she studied hard, getting good marks her first year. Since then she has continued successfully her high school life and has never faltered when called on to help the school. What her plans are for the future we do not know, but we wish her all success.

MILFORD BROTMAN

Assistant Advertising Manager,
"Brecky"

"Mil" came to us from the Hubbard School in 1920. While at Central, he has always worked hard and therefore, as a matter of course, received good marks. He served two years in the cadets. During his last year he was made one of the assistant advertising managers of the Brecky. We say with regret, "Good-bye, 'Mil,' and good luck."

WILLIAM SPROUL BROWN
Advertising Manager, "Brecky"
Assistant Advertising Manager,
"Review," 1923-24

Bill's life has been chuck-full of travel; he has already seen half the globe. We know him to be a handsome fellow and a good sport. His ambition is to build skyscrapers that will dwarf the Woolworth. Here's wishing you luck at the University of Pennsylvania and all through life!

Donald Buckingham Review Staff, 1923 Bulletin Staff, 1922 Senior Council

Donald is a worker in the classroom and on the track. Always willing to help, always full of pep, a pal to his friends, a friend to be proud of, a popular representative for his section. His ambition? To study at Harvard with the ultimate object of getting on the "inside" of the Standard Oil Company. That's Don.

Scholarship Captain, Company C, 1924 Senior Council Winning Company, War Games

Herbert is one of our most studious and most successful classmates. He entered the cadets in his first year at Central, and the fact that he is captain of Company C this year testifies to the sterling quality of his work in that activity.

Jo Borden Buckingham One Year Dramatic Certificate

Yas-suh! A Southerner and from Louisiana, too! Not only has Jo a quaint little accent and a broad smile but a disposition to go with the smile. Despite the fact that Jo lives on chemistry, with poetry for dessert, we all love her and wish her the best o' luck.

LEROY DEWOLFE BULLION

This true Centralite was born in North Dakota in 1907. Coming to Washington, Bullion graduated from West School and showed his wisdom by entering Central. Due to his sterling scholarship, he graduates in three and a half years. He will study electrical engineering at George Washington. Good luck to you, Leroy! May you soon take Edison into partnership!

NORMA GENEVIEVE BUDKE

Norma is one of those jolly girls who greets the whole world with a cheery smile every morning—and Norma's is a dimpled smile, too. Since she's been at Central, she has been most interested in dramatics and will probably shine on the stage at Goucher, where she goes next autumn. In whatever she does, may success follow right close on her heels!

JESSIE MAY BUNCH Scholarship

"Ginger" is her name, and it surely suits her disposition. Just call her "Reds" and find out. She seems to be a "bunch" of laziness; but as she has made high school in three and a half years with a large percentage of "E's," we know this can't be true. As for the future, you never can tell!

SARAH FRANCES BURGER Associate Editor of Brecky

Frances is a very demure person, with brown eyes, dark wavy hair and cheery smile. She is an ambitious little student and succeeds in all that she undertakes. Her many friends can vouch for her lovable personality and keen sense of humor. Frances expects to be a private secretary. We wish her the best of luck.

HOLM OTTO BURSUM

Zane Grey might say that the sight of "Kid" suggests the purple deserts with their warm wind and flowing sand. He is tall and rangy and has a look of strength and steadiness which wins admiration from all who are acquainted with him. Holm recently blew in from New Mexico and chose to graduate from Central. We admire his judgment.

DAVID EDMUND BURKE

David has attended schools in New York, Baltimore, Philadelphia, and Washington (sounds as if he didn't pay the rent) before he finally had a lucid interval and came to Central in 1923. He expects to go to Harvard, but from his past performances, we prophesy that he will attend at least forty-seven universities, graduating from Vassar in 1928.

DOROTHY TOWER BUTTS Senior Council

If you know Dorothy, you're lucky; and if not, you have missed something worth while. What is it that makes her different from everybody else? Maybe it is the way she laughs, dances, and draws, or the little freckles on the tip of her nose. It takes all of these things to make her the lovable little bluechaser she is.

WILLIAM BURLEIGH, JR.

Associate Editor, Brecky
Assistant Editor, Bulletin,
1923-24

EDNA MAY BYNG

Remember "a friend in need is a friend indeed," and there you have Edna. She possesses the enviable qualities of being a sincere friend and a good sport. She has also attained an admirable scholastic record. Edna hopes to become a private secretary, and as we all know that she gets what she goes after, we feel sure of her success.

LUCILLE ELLEN CAMP

Lucille needs no introduction to the many who know and love her. She is a girl of strong personality, delightful humor, and a distinctive charm. She is a talented pianist, and can she dance? Rather! Now you know the reasons for her overwhelming popularity, Graduating from Central in three and one-half years is a proof of another asset—brains.

JESSIE BYRD CARNEAL

Jessie has not decided where she is going, but we feel sure that when she sets out she will hitch her wagon to a star, forget all traffic rules, and go to the top—or bust. For that is the kind of girl she is. We all wish her the best of luck!

DALE AYERS CARMAN

Dale has the making of a great man. If you want information concerning radio, just ask Dale. But if you don't want to start an argument, don't disagree with him. Which will it be, radio engineer or lawyer?

MAUDE YOUNGS CARRIER

"Muddie," as she is better known, is one of those individuals who come and go, but are never forgotten. Her sunny disposition, generous nature, and attractiveness are only a few of the qualities that make her friends adore her. What the future has in store for "Muddie" is not known, but we are sure "Dame Fortune" will not pass her by.

MARY ELIZABETH CARNAHAN

Mary continually fills our hearts with joy by her smiles and ready wit. For though gloom is in the atmosphere, when Mary appears she brings the sunshine with her. Her ambition as well inspires us, for it makes us aim to reach a goal worth while.

MARIE REGINA CASASSA Swimming "C," 1923-24 Review Staff, 1922-23-24 One Year Dramatic Certificate

In all Central there is not a more outstanding star than Marie. She is an expert in s w i m m i n g, basketball, and tennis. Her literary, scholastic, and dramatic ability speak for themselves. Appearances are very deceiving, because Marie looks innocent enough, but—who causes those mysterious giggles in her classes? Her ambition to become a famous newspaper writer will surely be realized.

HELEN CASEY

Although Helen seems a quiet, reserved girl in her classes, she is known among her friends for her talkativeness and keen sense of humor. She is undecided whether she will go to Normal or enter the business world. Whatever she attempts, we are sure she will come out on top. Helen, here's luck from a host of friends.

ELEANOR CHANDLER One Year Dramatic Certificate

Eleanor, known to her many friends as "Torchy" because of a delightful mass of red hair, goes out with the June class. Her interest has been claimed by the Dramatic Association, where she has been brilliantly successful. Although she has loyally carried the "Blue and White," she is terribly attracted toward brilliant green. Northwestern University will claim her.

INEZ MYRTLE CHADWICK

Although she has been at Central only a year, this charming Southern maiden has won her way into the hearts of all who have had the pleasure of becoming acquainted with her. Along with her good looks, charming manner, and pleasant drawl, she possesses a remarkable talent for basketball. We wish her the best of luck in whatever she undertakes.

GEORGE EDWIN CHAPPELEAR

Eddie is a chap cut to the latest and most approved pattern, tall, slim, fair and debonair. He is a good student and shows real promise in the field of art. His popularity is universal. Eddie hopes to work his way through college by dancing and afterward into an office with "Architect" on the door. A howling success.

HARDEE CHAMBLISS, JR.

Hardee spent his freshman year in the Sheffield High School, Sheffield, Ala. In 1921, however, the South got too hot for him and he "headed "No'th," coming to Central. He proceeded to show us that he had plenty of pep by making the swimming squad and taking an active interest in tennis. He expects to go to C. U. after graduation.

CARO MARGARET CHENAY

New Orleans was the native home of our sunny-haired "Pat." Now that she has finished her four years at Central she is going to Johns Hopkins, where she expects to study medicine. We all know that "Pat" will be successful in anything she does, for she always has been in the past.

MARY-EUNICE CHISHOLM

With her good sportsmanship, her bright sunny disposition, and her lovable ways, Mary-Eunice has won many true friends at Central. We know that she made a name for herself with her domestic talents; also her musical ability makes Paul Whiteman green with envy. She is going to be dignified for once and go to college.

RUSSEL HITT CLARVOE

In 1919 this tall boy graced the halls of Central with his presence. When a sophomore, he joined the cadets, and is now one of our heroic fourth year sergeants. His awe-inspiring length and consistently good marks are his chief attainments at Central. He expects to be an architect, rebuilding all the schools he has helped to tear down.

DELMAR BAILEY CLARK

Clark is indeed a true Centralite. Living in the remote country of Silver Springs, he has for four years found it necessary to get up before going to bed in order that he might get to school on time. Clark has seen three years' service with the cadets and has many friends at Central. Here's luck to you, Clark!

JOSEPH FREEMAN CLARY Second Lieutenant, Company C, 1923-24

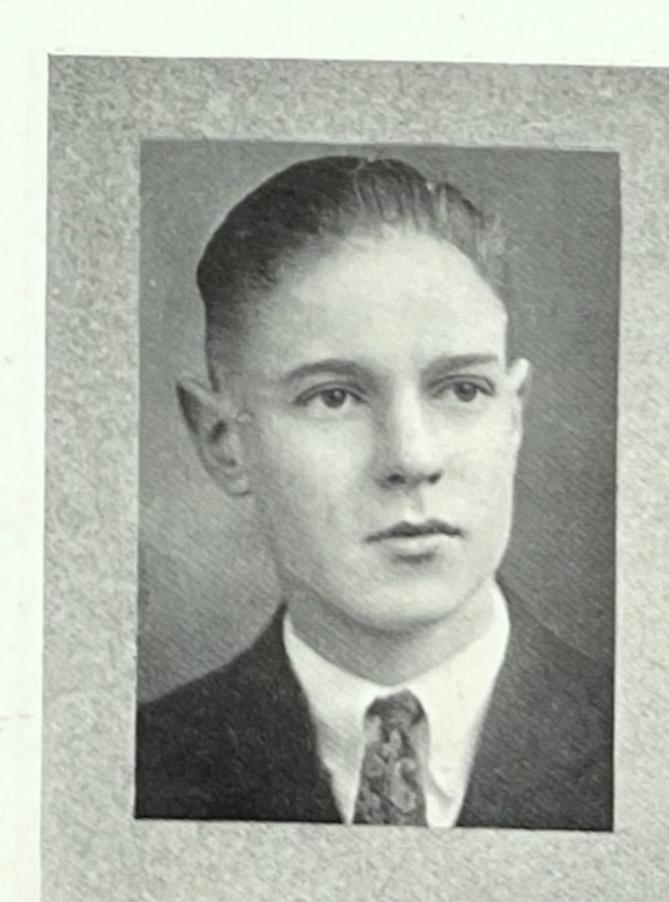

"Cap" first entered Central in 1920 after having graduated from the Gage School. He is well known around Central for his good nature and friendliness. When he graduates from Central he intends to take a course at George Washington before entering the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. We wish you all the luck in the world, "Cap."

HELEN CHARLOTTE CLARK

Helen came to us from Wisconsin. Though not a daughter of the National Capital, "she is a daughter of the gods, divinely tall and most divinely fair." Helen's home is now in Washington, but her ambition is to enter the University of Wisconsin next year. We wish her good luck and an enjoyable college career.

WALTER VOORHEES CLAXTON

Those who do not know "Claxton" are "few and far between." He is a true Washingtonian and Centralite, and the school and students will miss him when he leaves. Walter is one of those undecided persons who do not know what he will do after graduation. Well, here's wishing you luck in whatever you may pursue, Walter!

ALEXANDER BENJAMIN CLAYTON

Alexander is a student of art. He did his "bit" for Central by painting beautiful posters for the Spring Play and the Christmas Play. He is accomplished in still another art, the piano. He was a pupil of Fabian and is now taking from La Salle Spier. If Alex intends to make this art his life's work, here's good luck to him!

MARGARET VALERIA COLE

Peggy came to Central from Wisconsin for her last year of high school and she likes it, even though she gets homesick sometimes. Everyone likes her for her quiet ways. Next year she will go to the University of Wisconsin. She is deeply interested in art, but is modest about her accomplishments. Good luck to our future Rosa Bonheur.

ROBERT CLINTON

"It's never too late to do good." This saying Bob proved when he entered Central early in March. For more than three years he attended a New York high school and then decided that he wanted Central for his Alma Mater. His scholastic record in New York was so high that Central welcomed him eagerly.

NANCY CALHOUN COLE

The life of the school. Who? Why Nancy Cole, of course! Just ask some of the many friends she has made, why they like her. The reasons are too many to set down here. Nancy says she wants to study kindergarten teaching, and with her sunny disposition we know she will succeed. Anyway, here is good luck to you, Nancy.

CATHERINE LUCILE COCKERILLE

She's a bit of fragrant arbutus that's only been with us for two years, but, oh, how her loveliness has permeated her surroundings! From Virginia, she is a typical Southern girl. Catherine is going to join the ranks of many other ex-Centralites assembled at Normal and she cannot be excelled by any in dreams, ambitions, and enthusiasm.

RAYMOND JONES COLLIER

Raymond, a lad from "Ole Virginie," came to us at the beginning of our Senior year. He is a mighty good fellow, a hard, conscientious worker, and a friend to those who know him best. His one ambition is to be a great musician and, knowing him, we are sure it will be realized.

DORA FERN COLLIS

Fern's pony has at last come to a stop. After a long and toilsome journey through the historic towns of Caesar and Cicero, her pony has dropped off at Virgil. But next year she rides to Lynchburg, where we are sure she will make as good a scholar as at Central. Next to studying (?), Fern delights in dancing and skating, both of which she does with that ease and grace that accompany one of such athletic ability.

ALBERT DERWIN COOPER

Coming from the wilds of Greater New York possibly accounts for the pep Cooper has displayed in Washington schools. Entering the sixth grade quite young, he breezed through Thompson and Junior High, when Central claimed him. After such an early start he bids fair to become a boss bricklayer while his fellow alumni are in the apprentice stage. Here's hoping!

BRUCE STRANGER COLTON

Bruce comes and goes "smilin' through" and always has a good word to say. That's why he has so many friends who know him as a good fellow to have around. Bruce belongs to the "Bone Crushers" and is an industrious student, especially in catching biology specimens.
He is adapted to succeed in the world.

WILLIAM CARLETON COPENHAVER

In his stay at Central, Bill has been known by many who are proud to be his friends. "Math" is his hobby. He expects to take the finance and commerce course at the University of Pennsylvania and then go into a financial business. We know he will succeed in the future as he has done in the past.

JOHN CONLIFF, JR. Secretary, Radio Club, 1923-24

Everyone knows "John," the popular secretary of our Radio Club. John entered our hall in 1920 and since then has made many staunch and loyal friends. He has done good work in the cadets and promises to do well this year as a member of the rifle team. We all wish him good fortune and the best of luck.

KARL COATES CORLEY, JR. Captain Company A, 1923-24 Senior Council

He dropped in at Central in '20 and has been with us ever since. His friends acclaim that he is easy to find in a crowd, but we will at least admit that he is a shining beacon. His smiling face will be viewed soon under a freshman cap at Yale, but he will come out on top in the end.

ADELAIDE COTTER

Vice-President Athletic Ass'n

Rifle "C," 1924

"Addie" is one of our true sports. She has brought many laurels to herself and her school through her skill as a marksman. She is a cheerful friend, as all who know her will agree. We know that she will make as many good friends at George Washington as she has made at Central. We wish you luck, "Addie"!

DOROTHEA CREAGER Scholarship Two-Year Dramatic Certificate Art Committee

"Dot" is a true daughter of the District, in fact, she chose D. C. as her initials. Her dramatic ability and artistic talent have been ably displayed in Central's plays and in the Sketch Club. Her smile and cheerful "Hi, there" are well known around Central. "Dot's" main ambitions are to be an illustrator, have red hair, and travel.

JESSAMINE COULSTON

Jessamine is one of those girls wno are filled with manly ambitions. She craves overalls and orphans. She is kind to everything but Latin, rats, and angleworms. She was born in New York and emerged triumphantly from the Emery, Gage, and Park View Schools into the longed-for Central. Her favorite flower is the buttercup.

MARGARET CRISTADORO Scholarship

I say! Do you know "jistadorable" Cristy? Of course! The little brown-eyed student and accomplished pianist. Her middle name is "excellent." But look! That isn't all! Her greatest ambitions are to enter Mount Holyoke, and later to become a musical instructor. We predict that her earnest, conscientious efforts, plus a winning personality, will lead her on to success. Best wishes. Cristy!

CHARLES CALVERT CRANFORD

In losing "Cal," Central is going to be deprived of a jolly fellow and a good sport. Whenever you see a group of fellows in the corridor, you may be sure to find this congenial Centralite the center of attraction. We might add, in closing, that the same holds true with the fairer sex. Good luck to you, "Cal."

EULA LUCILLE CROISSANT

Eula has always impressed her friends by her sweet, lady-like ways. Her ladyship—if we may venture to call her so—has taken her chief outside interest in dramatics. After hard work in this line, she has at last won her "Trafalgar." That we might all do as well! May she, next year at Cornell, continue this success.

AARON CROWELL Scholarship

Aaron during his stay at Central has proved himself a splendid student. His chief interest while at school has been cadets. He had the honor of being a member of third place, Company D, in 1923. His friends at Central will lament his departure. We all wish him the best of success and luck through life.

Swimming "C," 1923-24
Hail to the athletic s

VIRGINIA CLAIRE CULLEN

"Hail to the athletic girl. She's full of life and vim." Another "C" girl! She shines in swimming and in tennis and is right on the spot when it comes to athletics. Next year Virginia expects to enter New Haven Normal. Her "winningness" certainly has won her many friends and will continue to do so in the future.

KATHERINE MARIE CULLINANE Assistant Manager, Rifle, 1923

Well known is Kitty for her lovely big blue eyes. Her great many friends have found that she is just as true blue as they are. She always has a smile and a cheery greeting for everyone. She is a dependable friend, a good old stand-by and a peach of a girl.

ESTHER ADELAIDE CUMMINGS

She has those beautiful eyes and a happy smile. She's always late, but usually there. We often wonder which she's been riding, a horse or a—
We often wonder what she's been hunting, a fox or a—
Now what will happen to our old friend? Why did she take household accounts? Maybe she'll run a boarding house, who knows?

LORETTA HEANY CUNNINGHAM

"Rets" stands for a happygo-lucky girl with Irish blue eyes. Her ability to blush is also another of her charms.
Her hobby is driving her Maxwell, which has become a familiar object during lunch hour.
Normal may claim "Rets" in the future, so Central wishes her luck and success.

HOWARD JAMES CURTIS

He may be "Howard" to teachers, but to us he is just "Bim." If this were the story of a baseball game, you might learn how he received the nickname, but it is not. After spending three long years in the cadets and becoming a sergeant, "Bim" devoted his time to other activities. He will leave many friends at Central.

HELEN CHURCHILL DALBY
One Year Dramatic Certificate

A regular little Dresden China Shepherdess! Attractive is she, and also a peppy little dramatic star. She has a prominent part in the 1924 Spring Play. Helen is interested in commercial art and she will probably go to a New York art school. We all wish her the best of luck and hope she will succeed.

LEONARD LOWELL DALY Captain, Regimental Staff, 1924

When Leonard first entered Central's imposing and awesome portals, there wasn't much of him, and it was sort of hard to single him out. Now he has grown to be our regimental adjutant, and most of us know him. His ready smile and happy wit have made him many friends, both in and out of school.

DOROTHY MAY DAUDT

Dorothy needs no introduction, for we all know her sweet smile and her readiness to lend a helping hand where it is needed. She is one of those rare girls who is instantly labeled "sweet" by everyone who meets her. We all hope her path through life will be as bright as were her four years at Central.

DOROTHY DAVIS

Dorothy wears a very worried expression on her face, for she does not know what to do—go to Normal or get married. If she does neither of these she can find a situation as a cook, as her cooking is scrumptuous. She has a sweet smile for everyone and is known as "skinny" by her most intimate friends.

HELEN DAY

Do you want to go horse-back riding? Just ask Helen, and she'll tell you where to get the best horse. As for swimming, her favorite parking place is down at our pool. She has talent in music and a splendid scholarship record. Although Helen does not intend to stay in Washington, we know she will never forget Central.

OLIVE MARIAN DAY

No new student coming from an outside school would feel unwelcome at Central with such a girl as Olive. She may seem a little cold at first, but after you know her, you can always find sunshine with Olive. She expects to become a lawyer, and I hope that she will always carry her sunny disposition among her clients.

THURSTON NOURSE DEAN Basketball "C," 1924

Thurston Dean, curly haired wizard of the basketball court, is one of the most popular students at Central with the girls as well as the boys. Thurston remained content in being an excellent student until his senior year, when he decided to show Central how basketball should be played. After graduation he intends to go to West Point.

He has gone out for crew, won his letter on the rifle team, worked in the cadets, and has been on the Bulletin staff. After graduating, John expects to go to Annapolis. Good luck to you, John!

AARON DEITZ

A good pal and a true friend is Aaron. A better student or truer companion will be hard to find. His ambition is to go through Johns Hopkins and to acquire an M. D. In future years, if you happen to need an excellent doctor, just call Dr. Deitz. Central wishes him the best of luck in his chosen profession.

JOSEPH DESSOFF Review Staff, 1922-23-24 Scholarship

To find a true Centralite, look into the names listed in Central's activities, and you will see Joseph Dessoff surpassing all. Joe intends to take up the study of medicine at Georgetown and in later years he will tap our chests with a stethoscope and remark that evidently no one is at home. Luck to you, Joe!

MAXWELL ALVORD DE VOE

There is not a truer Centralite here than "Tacks" Devoe. For nearly the whole four years that he has been here he has done his best for Central while on the track team. So far, "Tacks" has gone through school with good marks, and so he thinks that he will try another four years at the Naval Academy.

MARCUS WALTHALL DINWIDDIE Captain, Rifle, 1922-23

"Marcus" first appeared in our midst in '21, and from the first has made his presence known. After a hard working year on the Championship Rifle Team of '23, he was elected captain for '24. Though not determined as to his future career, he has decided to make the University of Virginia his stepping stone to success.

VIRGINIA BYRNE DEY

"Ginna" is the little gray-eyed girl who, by her charming personality, has won so many, many friends at Central. She hails from the Sunny South, which is ever apparent in her slow, happy-go-lucky way of taking life. She is one of Central's own, and we shall be sorry to lose her.

HELEN DIX

Dixie came in with a laugh one morning in her Senior year. No, she is not from the South, but from Massachusetts. You can guess how charming and jolly she is with a New England conscience and a Southern nickname! She thinks her Southern friends the best ever, but her ambition is to teach them to pronounce "cow" correctly. May happiness be hers!

ELDRED GIVEN DICKINSON

"Dick" has worked hard and played hard. He came to Central with high standards, and has kept them throughout his course. He has participated in many school activities, such as cadets, track, and crew. "Dick" has made many friends and we all wish him the best o' luck in his college life.

"Bob," our little brown-eyed, bobbed-haired lady, is from 'way down South in Georgia. She is the pep of the class, and her cheerful "'Lo there" is known to all Central. Her literary ability has been shown by her numerous stories in the Review. "Bob's" future is not definitely known, but there is an awfully heavy mail between here and Annapolis.

GENEVA MARGARET DYE Scholarship

"Thought is deeper than all speech." And before many years have passed, "Dr." will follow her name, for Geneva is the sort of girl who will work for what she wants and in the end will achieve success. Latin, the average student's "Waterloo," is her hobby. "The fairest garden in her looks, and in her mind the wisest books."

LEONA GERTRUDE DOWLING

Four years ago Leona entered Central as a timid little "rookie" with blonde curls hanging down her back. As time passed, we found her a bit changed, for she soon became a full-fledged Centralite, and a member of the royal family of "Flappers." Leona will further her education by taking a kindergarten course at Normal School. Good luck to her!

WILLISTON LAMAR DYE

In Fruitvale, Calif., one bright day in June, 1906, Williston Lamar Dye first saw the light of day. He moved to Washington in 1907 and became a rookie at Central in 1919. In 1922 he went to Port-au-Prince, Haiti, and lived there a year. However, he has returned to graduate from Central and expects to enter the Naval Academy.

MILDRED MADELINE DOWLING

Mildred, the counterpart of her twin sister, has had an easy time at dear old Central, for she has done only one-half the studying required. You may say that she has followed the path of "least resistance," getting a two-in-one education polish for a small expenditure of mental energy. Nevertheless Mildred has done well in her studies.

EDWIN BUTT ECKEL Track "C," 1923

"Reds," as he is popularly known, has been a prominent figure in school activities during his four years here. Besides serving three years in the cadets, he has made his "C" in track, and may be expected to shine on the cinder path again this spring. "Reds" will carry on his good work at either Cornell or Lafayette, where he will study engineering.

EVELYN VIRGINIA ECKERT

Those who haven't met our "Eve" don't know what they have missed. She is one of the few who has a love for "math," in which she will specialize at Maryland State. Her wide circle of friends have been won through her everready smile and helping hand. We have no doubt but that her future will be a success.

CLYDE STICKLES EDWARDS Bulletin Staff, 1921 Review Staff, 1922 Captain Company H, 1923-24

Everybody knows that snappy looking cadet captain, and therefore everybody knows Clyde. During his four years at Central, Clyde has done much for the betterment of the cadets. Wherever there is a good time going on, you can always find him. And, oh girls, won't he look smart in an Annapolis uniform?

ELIZABETH IRWIN EDMONDS Senior Council

No one at Central has to ask who the good-looking girl with the black hair and blue eyes is, that drives the blue Jordan. Everyone knows Elizabeth, known by her most intimate friends as "Wickie." She and her numerous cars have been the landmark of Central for the past four years.

ADAM CHARLES EHLSHLAGER

Adam came to Central from Dennison School in February, 1920. He will always be remembered by his friends at Central for his pleasing personality. He expects to continue his studies at George Washington next year. We don't know what his ambition is, but we do know that he will succeed in whatever he undertakes.

MENA EDMONDS

Demure and sweet—that's Mena. We all love her for her ready smile and sunny disposition. Speaking of school spirit, Mena has more than her share. Her pet hobbies are stags, candies, and "flivvers." She hopes to be a kindergarten teacher. We surely envy the lucky kids.

GEORGIA GREGG EIKER

Our demure little brown-eyed "Jo" is an Illinois maid, who first honored Washington with her presence in 1918. She has made many friends and proven herself a mighty staunch one. Central will not lose her entirely as she favors George Washington. She is not yet sure of her future, but is interested in library work. We are exceedingly sorry to have her go, as we count her a true friend, one who makes life worth while.

THELMA ALBERTA ELLIOTT

Thelma of the Elliott Family is ever kind and true. Many blues have been taken away by her jolly disposition, and "when a fellow needs a friend" she's right there. Her gray eyes always hold something mysterious, but it comes out sooner or later. Broader fields will open to Thelma and here's wishing her good luck, but not good-bye!

DOROTHY MAE ESTERLY

Mae is one who radiates gladness from morning to night, and this accounts for her host of friends. She is not one to be burning midnight oil over her lessons when she could be dancing, which is her hobby, although she has always made good marks in her studies. Her chief ambition is to go on the stage.

JULIA MAUD ESCHER

"Irish" hails from sunny Georgia. She is a sweet, old-fashioned, Southern maiden, always happy and ready to scatter sunshine in the darkest corners. The girl with "the smile which won't come off" will be sadly missed by Central. "Irish" expects to study Commercial Art, and we are sure success awaits her, for you can't keep a good man down.

Louise Ellis Evans Rifle "C," 1923, 1924

"Lucy" is known to her numerous friends as a dandy sport, a fine marksman, and an all-round athlete. In a crowd, no one is more fun. With her good sense and witty sayings, she will surely be a success in life. After finishing high school with a splendid scholastic record she hopes to become a private secretary.

ALICE VIRGINIA ESPEY Class Secretary Senior Council

Alice is a modern girl, aglow with bright and happy thoughts, and bubbling over with jollity and pep. She is an experienced gloom dispenser, but quite serious at the proper time. It is hard to find one more capable, competent, and willing to help, whatever the undertaking. Alice is a most charming girl and loving friend, and the popular Secretary of our class.

MARY EWIN

Mary is always ready for work or play, and is an all-round good friend. She is very fond of sports, especially basketball, tennis, and swimming. Her chief pastime is working out math problems. We predict that she will be an expert mathematician. However, we know that Mary will always brighten the corner wherever she may be; a successful jollier.

RAPHAEL BRILL EZEKIEL

Raphael was born March, 1907, in New York City. During his four years at Central almost all of his marks have been "E's." Last semester he received "E's" in all of the six subjects he was taking. He has an appointment to West Point by one of our leading Congressmen.

DOROTHY HOOD FIELD Scholarship

Dot's middle name should have been "Scholar." She is completing her course at Central in three and one-half years with some extra credits, too. Everyone who knows her can vouch for her as a real friend. She has ambitions, too, to become a math teacher, and expects to continue her education at George Washington after she graduates from Central.

DANIEL COX FAHEY Review Staff, 1923-24

Dan is one of our well-known Hyattsvillians. Central is indeed fortunate in having a hurdler of Dan's ability on the track team. He is tall, dignified, wears knickers, and is well liked by everyone. Dan will resume his intense (?) studying at Maryland University. We wish him the best of luck and are confident he will succeed.

LILLIAN DOROTHY FINCH Scholarship

Dotty is known by all for her smile and curly yellow hair. She loves music and is always willing to play for the bunch. Besides being a talented musician she is extremely artistic. Next year will probably find her at Maryland taking a normal course. We know that her future pupils will love her as much as we do.

GEORGE WALLACE FESSENDEN

George was born April 11, 1907, in New England. However, he came to Washington very early and has had all his schooling here. He attended Cooke for eight years. Then he chose Central as the place to carry on his studying. As yet he is undecided as to what college to attend, but good luck to him wherever he goes!

RUTH EVELYN FINCKEL Art Committee

All who are acquainted with Ruth admire her, and class her in their list of "girls worth knowing." She is very vivacious and always adds to the life of the party. She can be counted upon to do anything and do it well. She is a dandy girl, a wonderful friend, and a true pal.

CHARLOTTE MINERVA FISCHER

Here's to the girl that can smile when everything goes dead wrong. Everyone knows that "Minerva" stands for "Wisdom," and Charlotte tries to live up to her name. Her highest ambition is to graduate from Johns Hopkins. Goodbye, Charlotte, we all know you will find success, because Central is with you.

WILLIAM BREWER FLEHARTY

This genial fellow began his career in the city of Baltimore, November 7, 1905, and at the age of eleven entered the Adams School in this city. Upon graduating he came to Central, where his winning personality has shown itself for four years. Although not participating in athletics, Brewer has made a fine scholastic record. Good luck, Brewer, in your future endeavors!

MARY VIRGINIA FISTER

"No matter the weather—it's the smiles ye wear that's making the sunshine everywhere"—that seems to be "Ginny's" belief since she is a most cheerful little lady. But just mention V. M. I. and she gets into quite a "huff." She is very athletic, too— a devotee of basketball especially. She intends to enter either Normal or Trinity next fall.

FREDERICK MADISON FOLGER

Like a great many other famous men, Fred was born in South Carolina. He attended the Bailey Military Institute of Greenwood, S. C., and came to Central last October. Tennis is his favorite sport. He is interested in accountancy, and attends the Pace Institute at night. He is quiet and unassuming, but firm in his convictions. Oh, those Southerners!

AMELIA BERTHA FITCH

"Meecy," as she is better known, has acquired many friends during her four years at Central. But no wonder, for everyone is bewitched by her dimpling smile. Her hobby is to make everyone as cheerful as we always see her at school. Her ambition is to become an expert stenographer. Central wishes you luck, "Meecy."

EDNA CULVER FORD

Most "Fords" have some defect, but not this one. She makes things run smoothly whether the road is agreeable or not. Wherever this little "Ford" is found, she is ready to show both herself and her friends a very enjoyable time. Her highest ambition is to study law. In this and all other work we wish her luck.

REUBEN FREEDMAN

In Reub we have a track man. As an indoor sport, though, he writes poetry. However, he seems to have a guilty conscience when reciting poetry for he always looks away from his audience. So, girls, when he speaks poetically of your eyes, be sure that he isn't being inspired by the vamp across the way.

MARION GADDESS

We call her "Minkie," and she is one of the liveliest and most popular girls at Central. She is one of those girls who can be the life of the party and yet carry on an intelligent conversation. By the ability she has shown in the past, we know she is sure to succeed in whatever she tries in the future.

JULIET WARREN FROST

Three words describe her—lovable, pretty, and a "good sport." Lovable? Well, ask the hundreds here who know her. She simply "gets you." Nothing definite, just "there." Pink and white complexion, black hair and lashes, dark, Irish blue eyes. Enough said? A good pal—always ready to help you out. Normal School next. After that, some lucky—place.

FLORENCE LILLIAN GARDNER

Florence, a Washingtonian, is one of Central's finest and truest girls. She is well liked by all of her friends and teachers, and is accomplished along many lines. Everyone knows that whatever she is going to choose for her future work will be well done, and we all join in wishing her luck!

LILLIAN FRANCES FULKS

Lillian, better known as "Lil," is a tall, graceful blonde. She entered Central four years ago, and won everyone by her witty sayings and cheery smiles. Her one hobby is "hats." Each week we look forward to seeing "Lil" in one of her wonderful models. Her favorite color, blue, is very becoming.

ROBERT WILSON GARDNER Manager Baseball, 1924

Do you know Bob? Why of course, we all do! He is the chap who hailed from the Blue Ridge Mountains. He has proved himself a mighty good sport throughout his four years of earnest study, to say nothing of his excellent sportsmanship as the manager of the 1924 baseball team. Hurrah for Bob!

VIRGINIA ELIZABETH GAY Review Staff, 1923-24

As Virginia hails from California, her pet ambition is to return to the orange groves as soon as possible. FRANKLIN TUCKER GARRETT

CATHERINE ELIZABETH GOETZINGER

Catherine is one of Central's smallest girls, but her petiteness has not kept her from being full of life and from having a good scholastic record. Her ability to dance has brought her many friends. Wilson Normal School will certainly be bettered when this little package of pep goes there next year.

VIRGINIA GITTELMAN

Because Virginia is going to be a "June bride," she decided that she must be a "June graduate"; for that reason she cut a semester to be with our class. Virginia is taking singing lessons now. Although the teacher is in Colorado recovering her health, we hope that Virginia will sing for us some day.

MORTON GEORGE GOLDBERG

"Mortie" Goldberg, Washington's most promising future lawyer, intends to enter Georgetown University Law School upon his graduation from Central High School. He is of a very friendly nature, and he is always willing to aid his fellow students. He has made a name for himself in his classes through his argumentative ability. May he keep it up!

GEORGE FRANCIS GLOVER

"Pat" Glover is one of these people who get along with every one. His cheerful disposition makes him a general favorite wherever he goes. Since coming to Central he has developed into an able track man. "Pat" is going to Maryland University next year, and we may be sure he will make a successful repetition of his sojourn at Central.

WILLIAM DAVID GOLDBERG

During his four years at Central, William has impressed all those who have come in contact with him with his earnestness and willingness to help others. We are all sure that he will be as great a success in the school of life as he has been at Central.

JENNET RICHARDS GOVER

Ask any senior who the tall girl with the big brown eyes is—but don't be surprised if they talk for ten or fifteen minutes about Jennet. For she is a subject really worth talking about. In fact there are so many nice things to be said about Jennet that sixty words couldn't begin to do her justice.

DONALD WILLIS GOOCH Scholarship

Donald Willis Gooch has been an ardent student at Central High. He is greatly interested in foreign languages. After graduation he will continue his study of these for a while in Washington, following which he will go to college. He is interested in railroad construction. "Jo" is not yet sixteen and she is already famous both as the able manager of Central's mermaids and for her abiltiy to get good marks with apparent ease. One has only to see this rosy, dimpled cheeked maiden with her twinkling eyes and friendly smile in our Peacock Alley to be assured of her popularity.

GABRIEL GUIJARRO

Although he was born in San Juan, Porto Rico, and his first three years of High School completed there, he decided that Central was the only place for him, so he joined us a year ago and has won his way into our hearts by his brilliant scholarship and friendliness. We all wish him success in his study of chemical engineering.

MARY KATHERINE GURLEY

This demure Washingtonian with the glorious brown eyes, is one of Central's best scholars. She is very fond of music and of all sports, especially swimming. It is said that she is also a very fine cook. However, Mary's one desire seems to become a real chemist. Good luck to you, Mary!

ALTON KYES HAINES

Although Alton came to us from George School three semesters ago, we now think of him as a Centralite from the rookie stage. We feel sure of his success.

LOUISE HEBERTON

The state of

Behind "Hebby's" mask of seriousness, behind those small dark eyes lies a wealth of fun and jollity never guessed by the casual acquaintance. ### ISABEL PERRY HEISLER Scholarship

Any of her many friends will agree to that. As an athlete she is not so good, but, if you want a "peppy" time, ask Isabel along. She's rather bashful when asked to sing, but other than that she's right there. George Washingotn will probably get her next year. Good luck, Isabel!

"Alex" is a very quiet boy. One is seldom aware of his presence until he speaks. A hard worker in his studies, he has left behind him an enviable school record. Elizabeth, known as Betty to her chums, is very small, but remember—the best things always come in small packages. In addition to completing his High School career in three and one-half years, he has found time to go out for athletics, besides building up a reputation as one of Central's most popular boys. His goal is Dartmouth.

DORA LYNDON HUGHES

Although Dora has been with us only during her senior year, she has become known to a great many of her fellow-students, and they all say she is a peach. She also has about the loveliest eyes in Central, and surely can use them to advantage, when she feels in the mood.

IONE HUNT

Those who have not met Ione do not realize what a good friend they have missed. She is a quiet, sweet girl but is always ready to enjoy anything with her friends. Ione is especially fond of cooking, sewing and other household duties. She intends to go to Maryland State University. We wish her all good luck.

RUTH LOUISE HUNTINGTON

George Washington University is Ruth's Road to Success. She works hard and usually accomplishes what she goes after. She is much interested in languages, especially Spanish. Her hobby was Latin her first years, but as it is a dead language, she has buried it. She has devoted these last two years to Spanish, and hopes to perfect herself in it.

MILLICENT LAURA JACOBS

Millicent, or "Peggy," was born in sunny California, which, of course, accounts for her wonderfully sunny disposition. She was always a good old sport, was a charter member of the "Singing Club," and very much interested in basketball. Bright! I should say so, as her record shows. We think that Maryland State will be lucky in getting her this fall.

WALTER FRANCIS HYDE Scholarship

Walter surely has starred in everything at Central the last four years. He not only makes all E's in his studies and is a junior Walter Hagen on the golf links, but is also a true friend to everyone who knows him. worthy Centralite is Anne. We bid her God-speed, and the best of luck in all she may undertake.

Max expects to go to George Washington next year where we hope he will make good, as he has at Central.

SUZANNE MARGARET JAMISON

Suzanne, otherwise "Mop Top," of Denver, Colorado, has been with us for only one short semester, having studied previously in two Colorado high schools. #### ANNE STILES JONES Class Prophet Bulletin Staff, 1923-24

GERTRUDE MARIE JOHNSON

Gertrude, whose second nature is to dance, has, during her four years with us, danced her way into our hearts and then won the right to remain there by her sunny disposition. No one ever saw Gertrude lose her temper. No one ever saw Gertrude blue or unable to dance. Personally, we think Mrs. Vernon Castle had better look to her laurels.

HELEN CARTY JONES

Helen is tall, very tall, and fine-looking. She is capable and very clever with her fingers. I have heard that she has an interest, of one kind or another, in the University of Maryland. She is a splendid cook and although she has not decided what her future career will be, surely, success will be hers. Good luck!

LASKEY WANSTALL JOHNSON

Who is that girl so vivacious and merry, the girl always ready for a frolic? Why, that is Laskey. There are many Johnsons, but only one Laskey Johnson. Her ambition—can you guess it? She wants to be an aviatrix. We are sure her vivaciousness will carry her up and over. Good luck forever!

MARJORIE MARRIOTT JONES

Like most of us, Marjorie came to Central, three years ago, with a light heart that has rippled all through her stay here. Her curls and sunny Southern smile are known throughout our halls. Her ambition is to go to Sargent and be a Physical Training teacher. Her accomplishments are many—she's from Missouri!

ROSALIE KAMINSKY

Brown-eyed Rosalie has made for herself a host of true friends among us Centralites. Is it small wonder? Of course not! The reason she has been able to make friends is because she has such a pleasing personality and is so willing to help others. Her main ambition is to lead at college.

HENRY JULIAN KAUFMAN "C" Football, 1923

Henry has been a true son of old Central. He has shown his ability in athletics and in the classroom. His ambition is to become a newspaper man, and his many friends wish him the best of luck. We all hope that his success in this line will equal his success as a student at Central.

EMMA MAGDALEN KAMMERER

The District claims the honor of being Emma's birthplace, although her sunny disposition reminds one of the South. She hasn't quite decided whether she will brighten some office as a stenographer or some hospital as a nurse. We wish you luck in either, Emma, and feel sure you will succeed.

MARY HARRIET PEARCE KELLAR

Picture sunlight on golden pansies—and you have Harriet's hair; then imagine swaying goldenrod—and you'll know how she moves. Her helpfulness and friendliness have enhanced her charming good-nature; and, in the minds and hearts of her class-mates and teachers, she will be a fond remembrance. After college—well, only Fate knows what a bright future will be hers.

Sollie Katzman

First Lieutenant, Company F,
1923-24

During his four years at Central, Sollie has been an enthusiastic member of the cadet corps and has won numerous awards. However, Sollie does not intend to save the nation in time of war, but to save humanity in time of peace. Therefore, he plans to enter the George Washington Medical School this fall. May he attain great success.

BARNEY JOSEPH KEREN Lightweight Football "C," 1923

When "Barney" entered Central from Junior High, he had high ambitions, now in his last year he has decided to study dentistry. He has won a lightweight "C" for playing end on the lightweight football team and was also on the lightweight basketball team. He expects to go to the Georgetown Dental School. Watch him rise.

DCROTHY AMERICA KEYES

Dorothy is a quiet, modest girl, but after the continuous babble nowadays, all the world loves a good listener. During her four successful years at Central, Dorothy has made many lasting friends. She will not say what she intends to do, but we know that she is domestically inclined and will make a good home for someone.

LOUISE HAMILTON KINSEY

This is Louise's first and last year at Central. Although she has not been with us long, she has made many friends and is a true and loyal Centralite. Her record is one to be proud of. To be a private secretary is her ambition, and our wishes for her success are with her, wherever she goes or whatever she undertakes.

JOSEPH KEYSER

"Joe" is one of "our men about school." When he graduated from the Jefferson school, he decided that Central was the only school for him. He showed the first example of his school spirit by enlisting in the cadets his first year. He has gone out consistently for athletics; and, although not a flashy performer, he has won the admiration of all.

KATHARINE EMMA KIRK

Katharine, of a sweet, demure and lovable disposition, has made her quiet way through Central winning many friends among teachers and pupils by her earnest work and willing response to any call for assistance. Katharine, "To those who know thee not, no words can paint; and those who know thee, know all words are faint!"

HARVEY WINTER KING

On September 2, 1906, Harvey W. King came into this world. His past before he entered high school is too shady to record. In September, 1920, he entered Central an unsophisticated rookie but soon learned the way to Mr. Maurer's office. His brilliant intellect soon showed itself in his ability to get out of classes. We hope he is as successful in his later life.

ROSE KRAVITS

Rose has achieved an enviable name for herself in the world of art. In her circle of friends around school, she is well known as an accomplished pianist. She is an all-round athlete, her specialties being tennis and swimming. She is going to continue with her music after leaving Central. Rose, may prosperity accompany you in your path of life.

WILLIAM LAWRENCE KREBS

Scholarship
Manager, Basketball, 1923-24

"Hotts" is one of the well-known boys of Central. He is one of Central's athletes. All know his friendly smile and cheery Spanish greeting. He has never suffered from ineligibility, getting nearly all "E's." "Hotts" is going to the University of Virginia, and we guarantee that he will make good. May he always be successful.

FRANCIS AUGHBRY LAMB

Aub graduated from Emery and decided to obtain higher knowledge at Central. After four years of laborious study at Central, he will graduate a well-known and well-liked student. He is, also, quite a lady's man. Aub expects to continue his education at college. We wish you luck, Aub!

CHARLOTTE KUSHELEVSKY

In 1923 she came to Central High, and ever since she's been here, her ambitions have been high. She is only sweet sixteen, this pretty bobbed hair miss, and her head does fairly glean, such knowledge does she possess. She has a goal worthwhile, a college right in town; and we've still to see the conquests by which she shall win renown.

JOHN A. LANE

Second Lieutenant Co. D, 1924

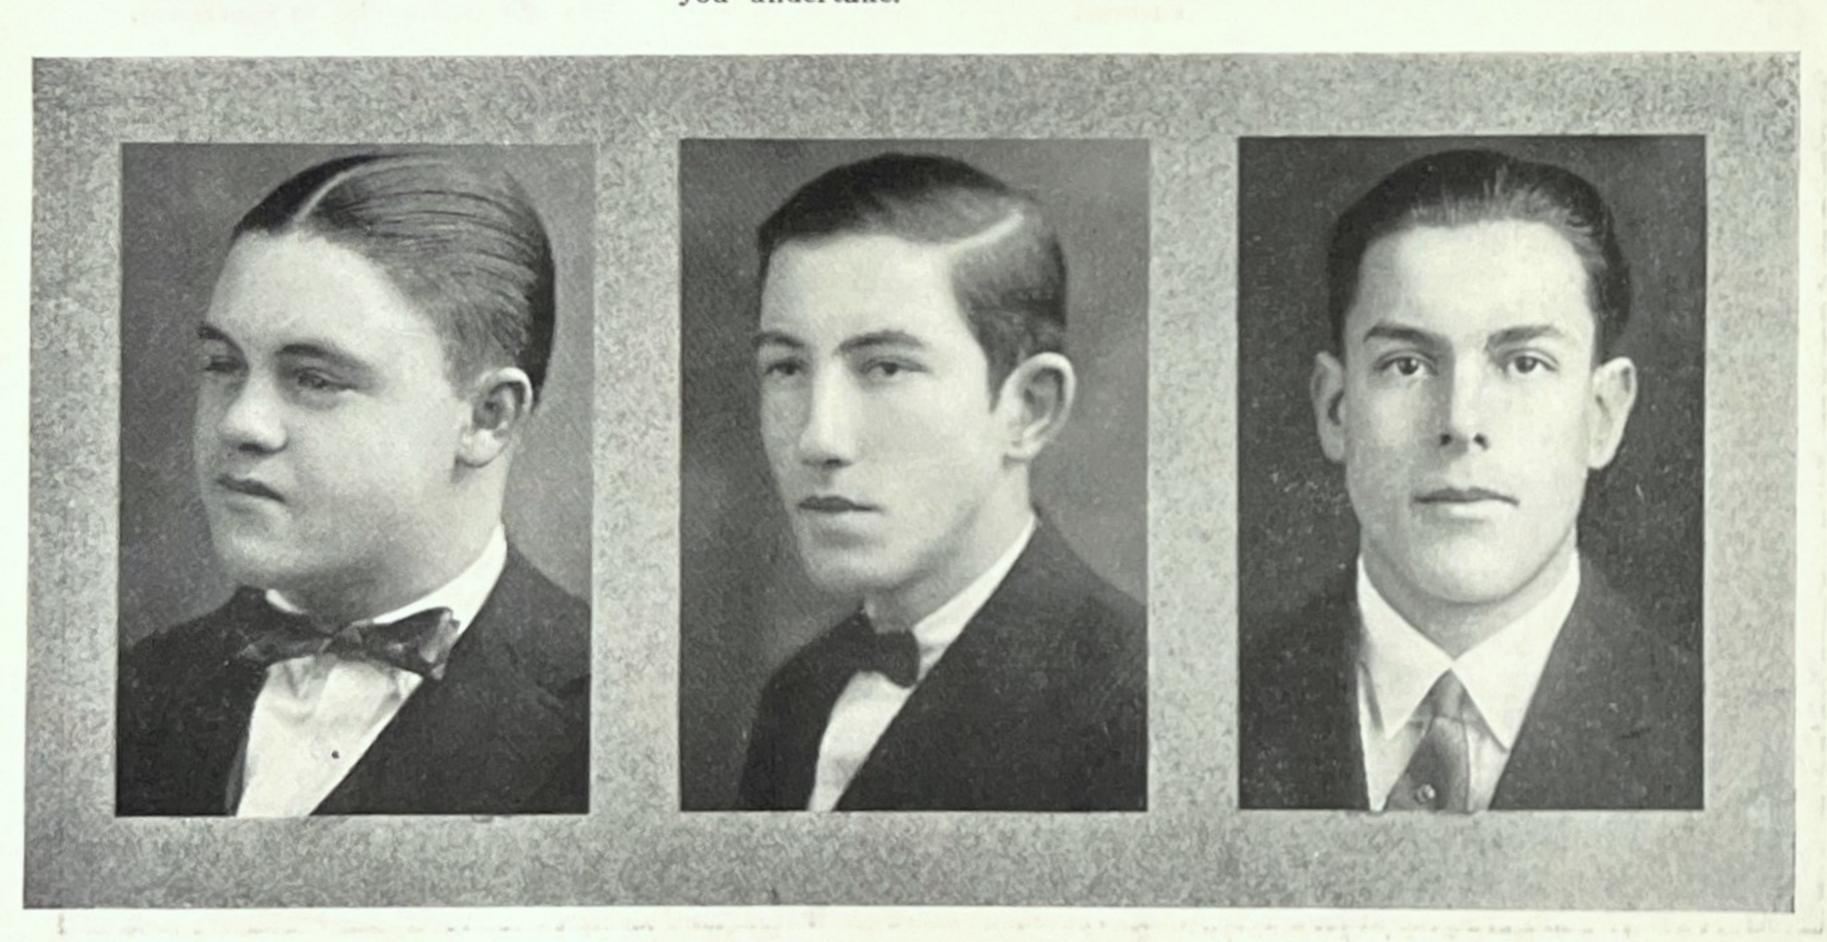

John is one of Central's most popular boys. He has always had good "marks" and is a Lieutenant in the Cadets. Next fall, he expects to enter Carnegie Tech of Pittsburgh and in due time to flourish forth as one of the country's greatest electrical engineers. Here's good luck to you, John, in whatever you undertake.

KATHLEEN LAKEMAN

Kathleen came to our fair halls as a rookie and valiantly pursued a course in academics. Her golden hair and deep brown eyes will soon grace the office of some lucky man, who will indeed have the gifts of the gods upon him in Kathleen's ability as a secretary.

OSCAR GEORGE LANGE, JR.

Although Oscar, often called "Oh, Gee!" has not been prominent in Central athletics; he is a true Centralite. He has wandered around the corridors of Central in search of an education and has at last attained his goal. We do not know what he intends to do after graduation, but we wish him luck.

ELLA AURORA LARSON

A jolly good fellow, a good sport, a peppy pal, a regular pain-killer, happy-go-lucky, can all be said of her. We fear that "Work Before Play" has not always been her motto, but how could it have been "Rora" if it had? None know what the future holds for her, but certainly she will never lack for friends.

RICHARD LEDGER

"Richard" never seemed to suit him. So early in his smiling life someone called him "Dick" and Dick he is today. Always genial, smiling, and witty he has in his two short years at Central made many friends, and we all know that he will succeed after he leaves us. Here's to your prosperity and success, Dick!

LORRAINE SHORT LA RUE

Lorraine came to us in his second year from West School, Rochester, New York. Although he has not spent four years at Central, he has made many friends and taken an interest in school activities. Lorraine hopes to take up agriculture at Maryland State. We wish him much success in this endeavor.

ANDREW WHITE LEE Major, First Battalion Review Staff, 1923-'24

"Andy" Lee, famous for his long strides, "overseeing" ability and inimitable smile is about to leave us. Ability, thoroughness and courage, those qualities which so exactly typify real Central spirit, are as truly characteristic of "Andy." He expects to take a Finance and Commerce Course as well as Law in college and enter the business world. We wish him success.

DOROTHY STONE LATTERNER Vice-President June Class Rifle "C," 1924 Bulletin Staff, 1923-'24 One-Year Dramatic Certificate

Dotty, a mixture of beauty, brains and personality, blends into an altogether popular girl. During her stay at Central she has won a host of friends, but has also found time to participate in many of Central's activities, making for herself a name of which Central may be proud.

LAURA CANFIELD LEE Brecky Art Committee Scholarship

Central is losing the most original giggle ever heard with the graduation of Laura Lee. She is an active member of the Bon Secour Friendship Club and of Dramatics. She shows her artistic ability at the meetings of the Sketch Club of which she is a member, and in which line she would like to specialize.

MARTHA ELEANOR LEE One-Year Dramatic Certificate

Who has not heard the shrieks of the White Queen with her hairbrush and high falsetto? To those few who don't know "Molly Darling" we can say that it wasn't her natural voice, but it is her natural nose. She couldn't change that and we don't want her to, because we love it just as it is, and Molly, too.

Yvonne Augustine Levy Scholarship Three-Year Dramatic Certificate Review Staff, 1922-23-24 Debating Team, 1923-24 Captain Debate, 1923

"She came" from Louisiana to win a place in Central's hall of fame. "She saw" opportunity knocking at the door and she seized it. "She conquered" our hearts by her friendly ways, and our admiration by her achievements.

ALLEN EDWIN LE HEW

Allen is a native of Washington; and, because of his winning smile and good nature, he has won a host of friends while at Central. He expects to become a great doctor in the future, and since his chief hobby is Radio, we may look forward to the time when "Doctor Le Hew" will broadcast good health to the world.

FLORENCE ELIZABETH LIGHTBOWN

After four years of hard (let us hope so at least) study at Central, Florence has to leave the dear old school, and I am sure there are many who will miss her sweet dimpled smile. She expects to go out into the business world as a stenographer—until she gets married. That sounds rather suspicious, doesn't it?

SAM LEVINE

It is plainly seen that Sam does not feel at home in his new school, and is always dreaming of the happy days he left behind in New York. Although he is very slow in "breaking in," I am sure that after he graduates he will remember Central as well as his old school of yore.

MIRIAM EVA LIKENS

Miriam is a real pal, a sport, and a girl of admirable personality. She attained success in the grades at the Elizabeth V. Brown school, and was elected historian of the class. She has also made an unusually good record in high school. Let us hope that she will continue to keep her slate clear of failures at Bethel College, Ky.

MARIAN CARLOTTA LOCKWOOD

When we asked Carlotta for suggestions as to what to say in the write-up, she glibly responded, "Oh, tell 'em I'm a nice girl." She's out for all activities, pulls down good marks, and a mighty big crowd can testify that she's a peach of a good friend.

ROBERT STANLEY LONEY

"Bob" Loney's first step toward education was in the Park View School, Washington, D. C. He entered Central four years ago, and for all his seriousness and modesty, we know him to be a real sport and a true Centralite. We wish you good luck and prosperity in the future, "Bob."

MARIAN AGNES LOCRAFT

The old saying goes that redhaired girls have fiery dispositions, but Marian is the exception to this rule. Although her name is not written in the hall of fame, her good sportsmanship has made her many friends. She doesn't even mention her chief ambition, but we all wish her luck.

MANNING LONG

She was born "in Ole Virginie"—a fact of which she is "most ridiculously proud." In her sophmore year she entered Central and ever since, with her native wit and inevitable Southern accent, has made many friends. Some day, "she reckons," she's going to attend Randolph Macon College, down in her own James River country.

MARGARET LOUISE LOEFFLER Review Staff, 1924 Debate, 1924

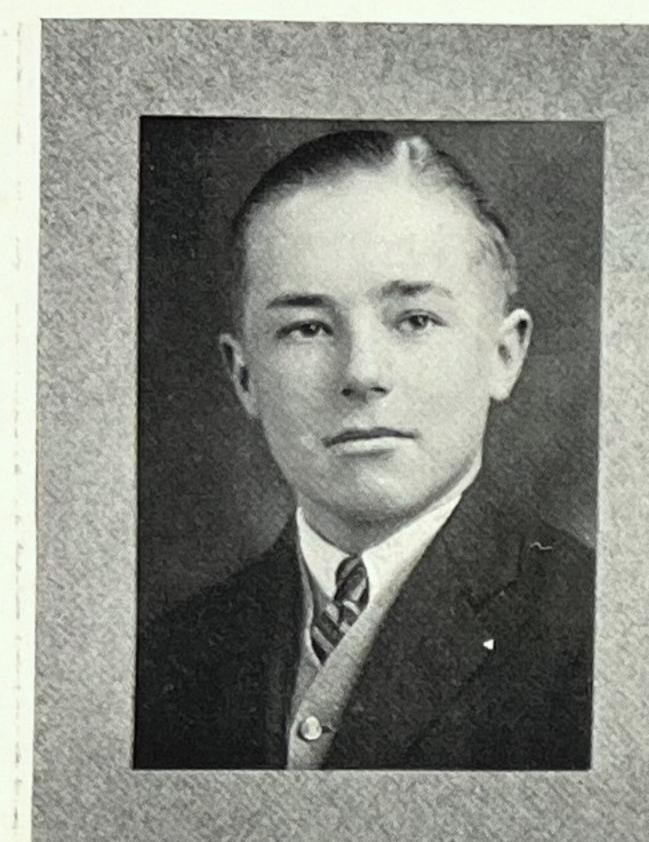

Our Peggy, of the brown eyes, is among those numbered to leave us in June. Peggy chose to give her interest and endeavor to the Debating Society, where she has won a niche in the Hall of Fame; the Dramatic Society, and to the Review as Debate Editor. Columbia's School of Journalism will claim her.

DONALD THOMAS LONGENBERGER

Scholarship
Second Lieutenant, Co. F, 1924
Assistant Business Manager
Brecky

"Don" will always be remembered for his good-natured ways and his willingness to help. As a cadet officer, and as assistant business manager of the "Brecky," "Don" has done his duty by Central. It is with a deep feeling of regret we bid him farewell.

CHARLES KEECH LUDEWIG
First Lieutenant Company E,
1923-24
Bulletin Staff, 1922-23-24

"Ches" is a small but extremely energetic chap. While at Central he has made many friends and a wonderful record. When his high-school days are over he intends to continue his education by studying law. Having made such a fine start in life, he shall, we can rest assured, some day represent his country as a member of the diplomatic corps.

LANGDON PHILIP MCANINCH

"Phil" hails from the State of Missouri, and he had to be shown that Central is the only school in Washington for him, as he tried another before coming to us. He has proved himself a quiet, reliable, and conscientious student during his two years at Central. His many friends wish him the best of luck always. So long, "Phil."

WILLIAM HAROLD LYMAN Review Staff, 1923-24

Who is that chap who has dashed around the corridors of Central exceeding all the speed limits? That's Bill, the son of one of our Western States. His efforts here at Central have been rewarded by good scholarship standing and a position on the Review staff. He is a prince of a chap, and just you watch his dust!

MARY JANE McCurdy Scholarship Assistant Manager, Girl's Rifle, 1923-24

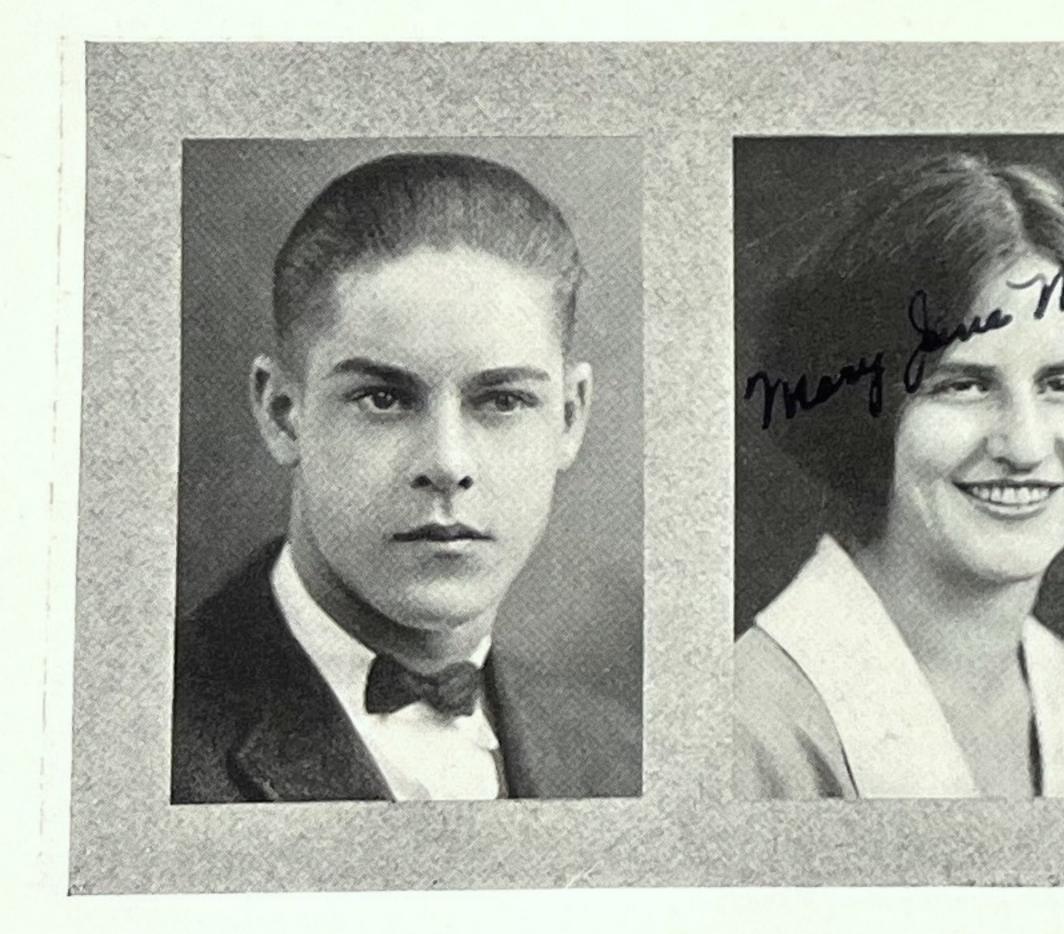

During three and a half years, Central has been graced by this girl with her stately dignity and fine scholastic record. If ambitions come true, we may yet have a farmerette—with cowboys and "Injuns." Such a girl, so full of fun, recalls the well-known quotation, "My heart leaps up when I behold."

ROLSTON LYON
Secretary, Radio Club, 1922-23

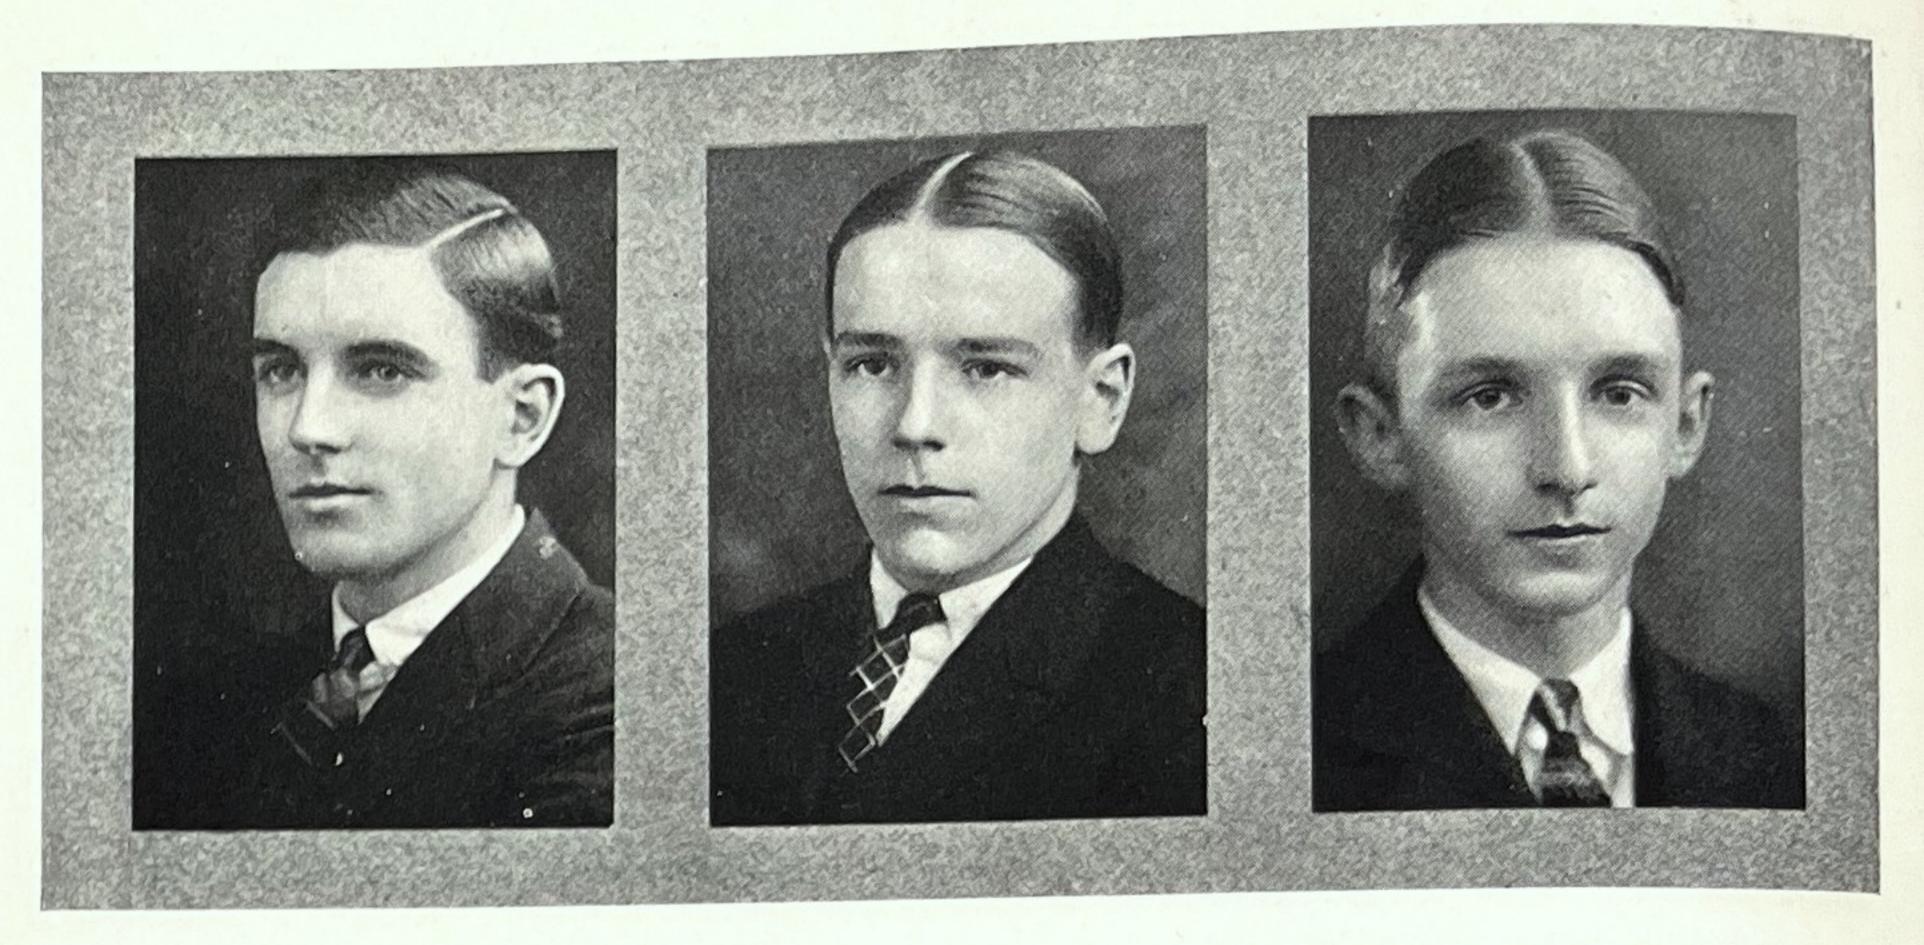

Rolston has graced Central with his presence for four years. He claims his great ambition is to be either a lawyer or an electrical engineer, and toward one of these ends he is going to continue his good work at George Washington University. Rolston is quite a radio bug, and when he doesn't have his English to do he "listens in."

ISABEL ANNE McDonald

Synonyms, "Izzy" and "Pep." With a roll of her eyes, she ensnares every heart from Maine to Florida, including V. M. I. Her ambitions change with the weather and leave us all a month behind. Better by far than any "Georgia Peach," she is the best pal ever, and for all this we love her.

JOHN LAWRENCE McDonald Football "C," 1923 Senior Council

Four years ago, "Mac" entered Central with a desire to give to the old school his best. His sterling character and readiness to help one in need soon won him a host of sincere friends. Next year he will enter the Catholic University on a scholarship, and we know his earnestness will win a worthy place for him.

MARTHA LANE MCGEHEE Senior Council

"First in the hearts of her schoolmates!" That's Martha. Her winning personality, her delightful southern dialect, and charming manner have made her indeed first in the hearts of her schoolmates. Since coming to Washington from "Geo'gia," each year at Central has added to her great popularity. Next year she hopes to go to Sweet Briar. Good luck, Martha!

CURTIS HARDIN McDonnell Football Manager, 1923

We are proud to have a fellow such as "Mac" graduate with us. Since entering Central, he has labored untiringly in its interests. He is a good mixer as well as student. "Mac" has attained success as a cadet, as a football manager, and in many other ways. Next year he enters Wesleyan. Good luck. "Mac."

JAMES MORRIS MCHUGH

"Mac" spent his earlier years in Cincinnati, and he still believes it is the very best city possible. In his four years at Central, he has made many friends; and he has always gotten fine marks. In the summer he follows the "Reds," and his radio set helps to make the long winter evenings short.

JAMES EARL MCGEARY

James McGeary, one of the numerous "Macs" of the class of '24, is a staunch Centralite. "Mac" has been an ardent booster and cooperated with Central at every opportunity. He was one of the original radio bugs and was a member of the C. R. C. "Mac" has made many friends and is the type of student Central is proud of.

MARGARET VIRGINIA MCKEEVER

Of course you know her as "Mac" or "Keeve." She is a tall, blue-eyed girl in whom are combined cheerfulness, a winning smile, pep, and with all these—she is a true friend. She is preparing herself for Normal School, but she is not as quiet as she seems, for two of her hobbies are basketball and dancing.

MARY ARMINA MCLEAN

"Mike" claims that she has no plans for the future—we wonder. Nevertheless we all know that she has smiled her way through four years of Central, and has ever been ready with a helping hand for others. To make a long story short, all the pleasant things that can be said apply to Mina.

Margaret, better known as Peggy, has not been with us very long, but in the short time she has tread the halls of Central, she has made many friends, who will miss her sweet and winning smile. Her ambition is to graduate next to—well, ask a certain young man.

ERNEST SAMUEL MCNEIL Basketball "C," 1923-24

Behold! we have here a true son of Central! "Ernie" may appear lazy, but anyone who saw him play football or basketball will testify that he is not. He has a smile and a pleasant word for everyone, and there are few more popular with both girls and boys.

Donald Frederick Mackenzie

Vice-President, Radio Club,

1922-23

President, Radio Club, 1923-24

"Mac's" howls of infancy were first broadcast September 21, 1906. Since then he has been improving his radio station under the call, 3JX. Mac entered the Powell School at six years of age and stayed there for six years, after which he moved to Chevy Chase, where he could put up a higher aerial. In 1920 he entered Central as a rookie.

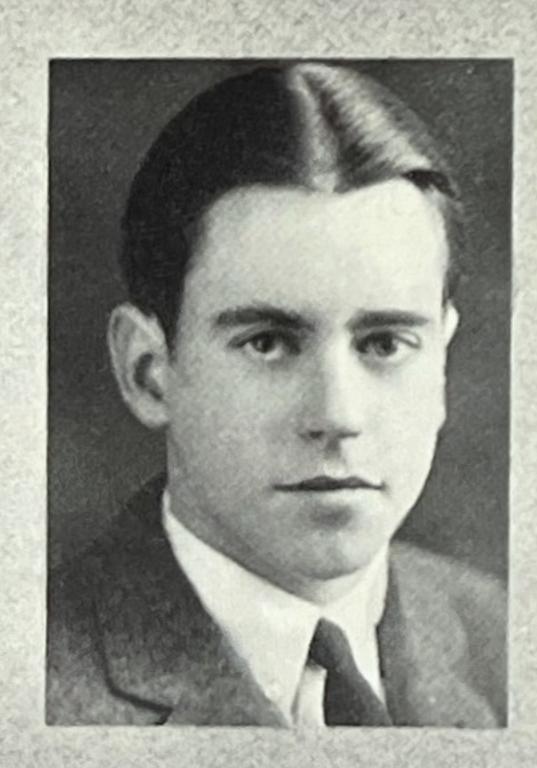

THEOBALD MATHEW MCQUEENEY

With the well-known cheery smile, or grin, which lights his face and when particularly pleased broadens his mouth from ear to ear, Theobald has made many friends during his four years at Central. He professes to have no life ambition, but we are inclined to ascribe that to modesty. Theodore is a great name; why not Theobald?

MARGARET EMMA MACKEY

"Smile, and the world smiles with you." I am sure this must have been Margaret's slogan, for her beaming smile has cheered us all during her four years at Central. Her record is an enviable one, and with the combination of smiles, scholarship, and athletic ability she makes a wonderful friend. Swarthmore will be fortunate.

CATHERINE PAIGE MAGILL

Many Centralites know Catherine. She is no exception to the general rule that red-headed people have plenty of brains, as her fine record shows. She has a wonderful disposition, is full of fun, and is loved by all who know her. She hopes to go to George Washington next year. The best of luck, Catherine.

HELEN ELIZABETH MARVIN

Did you say the girl with the big brown eyes and wonderful disposition? Yes, that is Helen. She is easy to get along with, and we all love her. She has a smile for everyone, and a host of friends. Her favorite occupation is giggling, so her friends have observed.

MARGARET LOUISE MAITLAND

Some folks think that Margaret is a quiet girl, but they have never seen her in the Domestic Science Class. From her diligent application in the culinary lines there is no doubt but that a bright future awaits her. She is one of those cheerful persons, who made life pleasant for everyone, with never a frown on her cheery countenance.

CAROLYN OLIVA MATTHEWS

We've had Carolyn with us for four joyful years, and she has made scores of friends by her good disposition and interesting personality. She goes about her work quietly, swiftly, without show or display. She is such a capable girl and every body likes her so! Oh! how Central will miss Carolyn! "When hearts are true, few words will do."

MARGARET ELIZABETH MAIZE Two-Year Dramatic Certificate

A veritable princess from a fairy tale is Peggy, with her eyes of blue and hair of gold; and like the princess, she has the magic gift of winning friends wherever she goes. What her future life will be we do not know, but, again like the fairy princess, she is sure to "live happily ever after."

JAMES BOLT MAY Scholarship

When Jimmy graduated from Langdon School he used his good judgment by entering Central. He has been a good student, steady and conscientious. Can't you just see Jimmy holding forth at the bar? Don't misunderstand this—he's going to be a lawyer, and plans to enter George Washington University. Will he succeed? No "may" about it; he's bound to.

HORACE MORRICE MAYFIELD

Horace Mayfield was born in Meridian, Tex., June 17, 1907. There he lived for five years, then moved to Austin, Tex., where he attended the grade schools. At the age of fourteen he entered the Austin High School, and a year and a half later moved to Washington, and has attended Central since September, 1923.

GRACE ELIZABETH MELL

Grace has a quiet, dignified, and silent bearing, possessing a very indomitable will-power, which enables her to exercise a remarkable influence over others. She rarely ever takes life very seriously, taking her success for granted, and regardless of opposition, usually gains her point. Grace has a jovial disposition, is fond of pleasures, and sincere in her friendships.

LLOYD TINDALL MEEDS

We all know "Lloyd." He first graced our halls in 1920, and since then has made many staunch and loyal friends. He has shown his spirit by his work in the cadets and, most of all, by his crack shooting on the rifle team. We expect to see his name often in a few years as one of our foremost electrical engineers. Good luck!

WARFIELD SIMPSON MELTON

Kind readers, we have with us one Warfield Melton, a famous track star, destined to influence the world—or at least the women. "Bangs" claims that he gets splinters in his fingers every time he scratches his head, but we are inclined to believe that his head is made of something more noble than wood.

BENJAMIN PECK MEEKS

Old "Bennie" himself. You probably know him because of his ready smile and humorous drawl. With his six feet some inches, and his "sheiky" black hair, he is quite conspicuous in the halls, in and after school hours. Bennie was a member of last year's football squad, but determination to graduate with high honors kept him from participating this year.

MARGUERITE RUSLING MESNY Associate Editor, Brecky

Peggy is our little cosmopolitan. By inheritance she is Anglo-Norman, and likewise has "Egypt in her dreamy eyes." Some voltage, eh? Truly she is a live wire, and hence it seems foolish to predict a commonplace future for one who is so magnetic. One-half high-brow, one-half low-brow! Is it college, travel, or a dramatic school, Peggy? Allons, ma chèrie!

GLADYS ELIZABETH MEYER

a breath of the Sunny South. Her fascinating musical drawl and her sweet southern charm have made her a number of friends in the short time she has been at Central. She is a good scholar, an all around friend, and a true Centralite. She will be missed indeed when she returns to a Georgia college.

NINA MILLER
Vice-President Girls "C" Club,
1923-24
Senior Council
Basketball "C," 1923
Manager Girls Tennis, 1923-24

Some girls are "little mothers."
Nina is "little sister." Do you know that poem about the girl who can sport, sew, dance, and study? That's Nina, too. She has that smile, shyness, good fellowship and dreaminess—all sort of mixed in. Smile, Nina, and your way will be easier.

JAMES MIKKELSON

Jimmy feels himself a part of Washington, as he has attended both grammar and high schools in this city. He intends to study law at Georgetown University in order to remain here. The least that Jimmy can say is that he's had a good time while at Central, and it is with a feeling of regret that he leaves.

DORA MINOVICH

Everyone at Central has on many occasions been charmed by Dora's piano playing. After graduation, Dora intends to continue her study of music, and we hope that some day her name will be known throughout the musical world. This talented young miss, through her sweetness of disposition, has won a host of friends, who join in wishing her God-speed in her future endeavors.

MARILYN MILLER

To know Mary is to love her. It seems a very short time since she came into our midst, but during this time we have all fallen captive to her pleasing personality, and she leaves in Central a place which will be hard to fill. That the coming years will bring her much success is the wish of her classmates.

DORIS LIPPER MINSTER

All the world loves a lover, and all the school loves the girl who helps brighten it up with her artistic posters and a glorious smile. Doris is envied by all her classmates because of her Paris gowns, designed by herself, and the charming manner in which she wears them. Here's to our future artist and designer!

DOROTHY MINSTER

A Central musician was born at Washington in 1906. Dorothy has a good scholastic record of most excellent marks. She is devoted to the violin, and her playing in the orchestra is greatly appreciated. Dorothy will attend George Washington and, as she has a passion for languages, will specialize in French and Spanish. Here's to you, Dorothy Minister, language specialist!

WATSON HINER MONROE

He was born in Parkersburg, West Virginia, and attended school in Ohio and Kentucky before coming to Washington. Watson has a winning personality. He gets along so well in his classes that he has completed the grade and high school courses in two years less than the average. He came to Central from Columbia Junior High, graduating there with honor, and has done fine work here at Central.

MARGARET BLANDY MITCHELL

The loyalest of friends, the jolliest of pals, and the dandiest of good sports—is Margaret! She has a magnetic personality which draws from others their best qualities. The things she enjoys most are beads and camping. Underneath her love of fun is an earnest desire to do and be something fine and noble—and knowing her, we're sure she will do it.

JAMES PAUL MOONEY Review Staff, 1922-'23

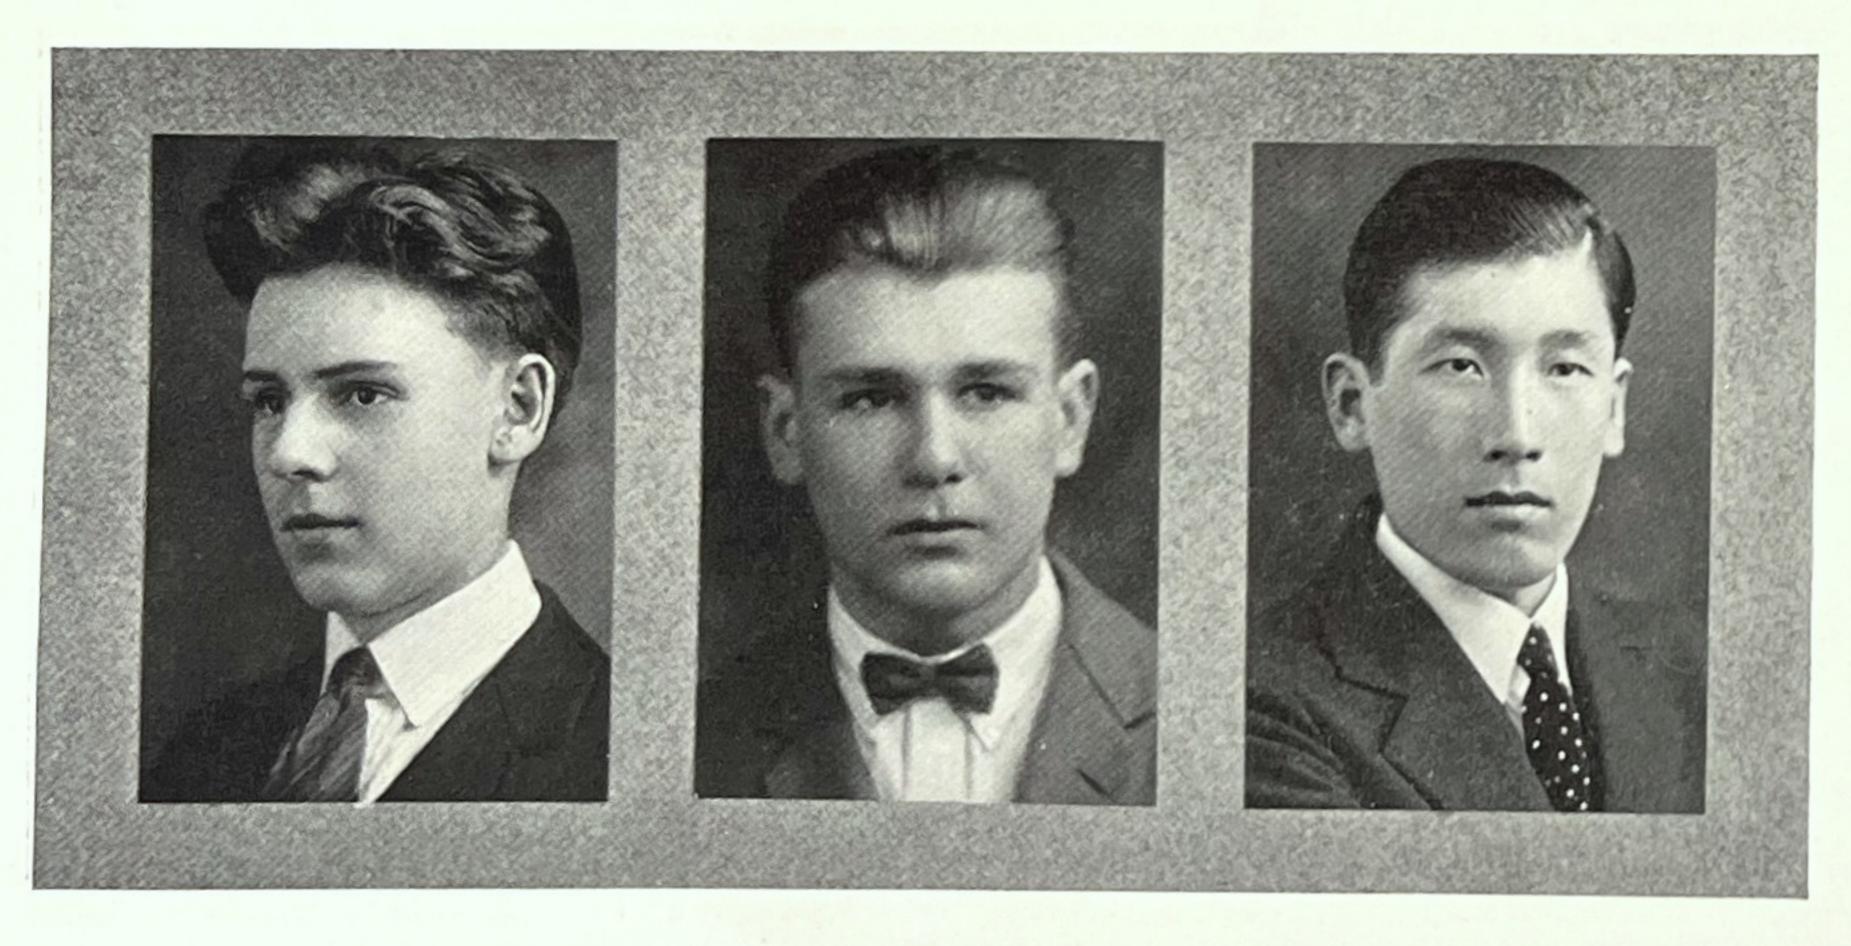

While at Central this cheerful cynic has acquired a shockingly big education with surprisingly little study, but he says that his greatest achievement is having skipped fourteen times in one advisory. If the fates are friendly he will take a European cruise, and then return to develop the splendid literary talent he showed at Central.

George Edward Monk
Scholarship
First Lieutenant, Company D,
1924

George has done much for his school during the last four years and should be remembered as a true Centralite. He has served faithfully in the Cadet Corps and is now a first lieutenant. He has an enviable scholarship record and is a boy of marked ability. Here's wishing him good luck in the future!

HIDEOMI MORI

Coming from far off Meiji University in Tokio, Japan, and suddenly entering an entirely new environment is a difficult task, but Hideomi Mori has mastered the speech and customs of America in a very short time. Our Japanese friend intends to study one or two years at Georgetown in preparation for a course in Economics and Political Science at Harvard.

CHARLES MATHIAS MORRIS

When Charles first tottered around old Central's halls, he was already in his sophomore year. He had completed his graded school course in six and a half years, graduating from Columbia Junior High School with honor. Now, continuing his fine record, he has taken the high school course in three and a half years, getting nearly all E's and G's. Here's the best of luck!

KENNETH EUGENE MULFORD

During his four-year stay with us, "Keny" has made himself one of Central's most famous musicians. He is a wonder on the xylophone, beside being an expert at the traps. The best thing about him is that he's a "reg'ler feller."

ETHEL ELEANOR MOWATT

During Ethel's four long and yet short years at Central, she has by her charming personality won herself a host of friends. On leaving old Central she expects to enter a finishing school and then adventure forth on a business career. Central loses a brilliant student, and her many friends lose a good and true pal when Ethel graduates.

GALE MURPHY

In the fall of 1921 a small boy from Hastings, Nebraska, blew into Central. He came from Longfellow School. From the first day he entered Central until his last day he has been a member of Cadet Corps. During his other spare time after school he has worked hard and steadily in dramatics. He is a true Centralite.

GRACE ANTOINETTE MUELLER

Pep, Vim and Vigor! This is Grace. Although she has been here only two years, having come from "Friends," she has made the most of her time in collecting both wisdom and friends. We all wish her luck in her college work and well—of course after that, who knows?

GEORGE EDWARD MUTH Captain Company D, 1923-24 Prize Corporal, 1923

Captain George has always been a native of Washington. The first part of his education was obtained at Ross School. He showed his usual good judgment by coming to Central to receive the second part. After entering Central he joined the Cadets and in his fourth year became a captain. Everybody can recognize George by his perpetual smile.

DOROTHY LOUISE MYERS

Although she was born in Buffalo, Dot has spent most of her school days in Washington. Some of these, we are glad to say, have been at Central. She has not decided what she is going to do when she finishes here, but we feel sure that she will succeed in anything she attempts. Here's wishing her good luck!

JAMES FRANCIS NEALE

Jimmie, as he is popularly known, entered this world in 1905. He first attended West School and came to us in 1920. He leaves Central this year, but we hope that his stay in this world will not end until after a long and brilliant career, for which he plans to prepare himself at either Georgetown or Maryland University.

SARAH ELEANOR MYERS

When you think of Eleanor you think of her curly hair and winning way. If you want to know anything about clubs just ask her—especially country clubs. All right Eleanor, we are for you. Here's hoping you will be a club woman some day. That's all right, who ever gets you will be proud of you.

MARGARET MARIE NEUMAN

A jolly good sport is Margie who, with her many smiles and winning ways, has acquired a host of friends while at Central. A splendid scholastic record has not prevented her from excelling in rifle and basketball. Great things are to be expected of her during the next four years, which she will spend at George Washington.

KATHLEEN PENDLETON NALLE

Kathleen has been with us for four years and Central will miss her cheerful smile when she leaves. Her charming personality has won her many friends here and they are sorry to lose her, but just the same they wish her all the luck in the world when she studies Art after graduation. Good luck, Kathleen!

RUTH THEODORA NEWBURN Editor-In-Chief Brecky Debate Team, 1922-23 Debate Captain, 1923-24 Bulletin Staff, 1923-24

Ruth is loved for herself and admired for her achievements. She is full of fun but has plenty of dignity when occasion arises. She has made her mark in almost every school activity and also has won the love of her classmates. Ruth reminds us of that old Southern toast: "Here's to beauty, brains and wit."

RUTH VIRGINIA NEWMAN

Bank Staff, 1923-24

Basketball "C" 1924

"Shorty," as she is known to her many friends at Central, is ambitious to become a private secretary to some prominent business man, after attending a business school in Washington. As a dancer, she is supreme, and basketball is one of her favorite sports. Who is the blonde fellow she is seen with all the time? We wonder!

RUTH BURDETTE NICHOLSON

We owe the Dennison School for Ruth, for it was from there that she graduated. Although she is leaving Central, she won't be gone for long, because after a course at Normal she is coming back as a teacher of English. We are sure that "Miss Nicholson" will be the most popular English teacher of 1930. So long till we meet again!

MARGUERITE NEWNAM Swimming "C," 1921-22

Scattering sunshine is Marguerite's specialty. However, that isn't her only accomplishment. She has been one of the best girls on the swimming team ever since her sophomore year. And, as for sweetness, not even the famous Central fudge which was made under her supervision this year for the Spring Play can surpass her.

SARAH VIRGINIA NICKLIN

Sarah was born in Winchester, Va., in 1904, and in 1906 moved to Alexandria. A year ago she entered Central High School. In September, 1924, she will enter the Scarritt Bible and Training College at Nashville, Tenn., where she will prepare for missionary work. Sarah's sweet disposition especially fits her for this work.

GEORGE WILLIAM NEWPORT

George entered Central in 1920 after graduating from the Park View School, and has made a fine record. He was a cadet for three and one-half years. He has lived in the Philippines and has traveled in Japan. He hopes to enter the University of Virginia in the fall. Good luck to you, George!

HERMAN NORMAN

During his four years of hard work at Central, "Ky." has made an enviable record. His real good nature, loyal, generous spirit, and easy humor have won him many admirers and friends. He is not much in a crowd of women but when you get him alone, boys watch out! He contemplates attending Maryland University's Pharmacy School. Good luck!

MARGARET EILEEN O'BRIEN

There is at school a certain very charming and popular young lady, as full of life as possible, known as Eileen, or rather "Iggie." Her ambitions are to be an alumna of Central, and an artist. The former is almost realized, and as to the latter, ask her costume designing teacher. We know she will succeed in whatever she undertakes.

ELIZABETH MILES OWEN

Although Elizabeth hails from Eastern, she has, in her three years at Central, become a true Centralite in every respect. Few there are, who do not know her by her bright and happy disposition. With the exception of her many different "crushes," Elizabeth is all in all a wonderful girl. Here's hoping for her the best of luck in her college career.

WARD OFFUTT

Here he is!—the one and only! Ward came to Central in 1920. In his studies he has received some fine marks of which he may be proud. He is the snappiest jazz-drummer we have seen for many a day. He has engaged in various activities while at Central and has achieved many successes. Central is sorry to lose him.

PAULINE PACH

What a charming girl is Polly; 'tis hard to find one quite so jolly. She is to all a real good friend, one who will stay by until the end. In her studies, too, she does excel. Whatever she does, is done well. Her cheery words and happy smiles will help her over any hard miles.

ELIZABETH GOLDSBOROUGH OWEN

Manager Girls' Rifle Team,

1923-'24

Girls "C" Club, 1923-'24

Zib c an hit the bull's-eye every time. Not only in rifle does she excel, but in everything she does—and she does everything. She hasn't decided what to do after graduating from Central, but we all know that wherever she goes her everready smile and her .22 will go, too.

VIRGINIA DARE PARKE

Out again, off again, on again, gone again—Virginia personified! The inspiring air on the sea wall may be responsible, or perhaps her own emotional nature is to blame, but, at any rate, if she didn't have a "new one" every Monday, the week wouldn't be complete. Central counts her dimples and her "school-girl" complexion among her proudest possessions.

HAROLD LESLIE PARKER

"Shorty's" sorrel top will no longer brighten the halls of old Central. He is one of the many who are leaving happy memories behind, and who will soon be trying his fortunes in the outer world. He aspires to be either a musician or a chemist (what's the difference?) May his bright personality win him the success and friendships he enjoyed at Central.

Tolbert Maynard Pelzman

Captain Company F, 1923-'24

Business Manager, Brecky

Senior Council

Second Lieutenant, Company D,

1922-23

Review Staff, 1921, '22, '23

"Tobby" has been a man of many activities. His list of honors tells the whole story. May "Tobby" succeed in life as he has at Central.

EMILY BARTON PARKS

Senior Council

Associate Editor Review,

1921-'22

Em was born in Washington and has lived here all her life except during trips abroad and to Panama. She has been very popular while at Central, and it is generally believed that her laughing eyes and jolly manners have caused this. Em has taken a vigorous part in Central's activities. She is interested in all forms of art—especially music and painting.

HENRIETTA PERSKIN

Otherwise known as "Henrie." She is a jolly good Centralite, a wise individual, and a little "sunshine spreader." She "trips a light fantastic," and her motto is "eat, drink and be merry," etc! On Central's list "Henrie" will go down among the numerous people who have gone out into the world with a happy memory of Central days.

EDWARD JOSEPH PAYNE

"Ed" came to us from Junior High. His ever-present smile, cheery greeting and ready wit have brought him numerous friends. The silvery tenor used in rendering popular airs is well known to all. We are sorry to lose him but glad to know he is receiving his "sheepskin." Good-bye "Eddy" boy and the best o' luck.

BEVERLY KENNON PETER

"Ken" hails from Princeton, West Virginia, and although he came to Central only last year, he soon became a true Centralite and made many friends. He was always a good student and is now preparing himself for a course in medicine. The school is sorry to lose a real Central enthusiast.

PAUL FRANCIS PETER

Swimming "C," 1924

Football "C," 1924

Treasurer of Senior Council

Treasurer of June Class

A "big handsome brute" with a quick blush, but a man's man "for a' that," an athlete who plays the game whole-heartedly and square, a true friend—Paul Peter. Our bashful Treasurer is headed for Dartmouth, where he may splash joyously in the pool and lift his voice in tender Glee Club harmony.

CHARLES HENRY PHIPPS Baseball "C," 1923 Review Staff, 1923-'24 Treasurer "C" Club

Henry, as he is known around school, has won his way into the hearts of all his classmates. He is especially prominent in being a mainstay on the baseball team for two years. He is going to Maryland next year, and we are all sure he will have the greatest success.

CARL ALLYN PHILLIPPS

"Carl" is one of the most widely known boys at Central, not only among the boys, but for the most part among the girls. He has a very high scholastic average. He believes he will go to Georgetown, and we are all sure that he will be a big success in anything he may pick for his future.

RACHEL ANSELEY PIERCE

During Rachel's four years in Central she has always been pleasant and agreeable to everyone, thus winning for herself many staunch and true friends. We are sure that in the future she will find happiness and sweet contentment, for as Mrs. Child says, "An effort made for the happiness of others lifts us above ourselves."

EILEEN HALCYON PHILLIPS Scholarship

Eileen's smile has won its way into the hearts of many. And why? Because it is the smile of a true Centralite. Her scholastic record is above the average but she finds time to dance. She will be missed when she leaves here in June, but then she won't be far, as she intends to join Central's family at G. W. U.

THEODORE GORDON PIERSON

Tedo went out for track in his freshman year, but when he outgrew his track suit, decided he was cut out for a general, so devoted his time to cadets. His athletic career ended in crew and fortnightly "workouts" on the dance floor. His favorite pastime is trying to get station ZN?XW on the radio.

EMILY BLANTON PILKINTON

Bulletin Staff, 1923-24

Associate Editor, Brecky

It didn't take us long to find out that Pilkie could contribute her share—and then some—of fun and pep. Since then she's lived up to the name of one of the most popular girls of this class. Her present ambition is to be an old-maid kindergarten teacher, but we have our doubts.

ANNE ELIZA POLLARD

Eighteen years ago brought a black haired, grey eyed baby to Old Mother Earth. She's still black haired and grey eyed, but no longer a baby. Ah, Anne striking in appearance, snappy in dress, and brimming with fun and "pep" has well deserved the name we have given her, "Queen Anne." We are wondering who the "King" will be?

CARRIEBELLE PITCHER

Who is always overflowing with good spirits and kindliness? Carriebelle, of course. Her jet black hair, snappy green eyes, and charming manner account for her popularity during her four years at Central. Can she dance! Can she draw! Does she play the piano! Versatility is the word that expresses it. And to cap the climax, she is an excellent scholar.

SPENCER SCOTT PRENTISS Scholarship

Spencer Scott Prentiss was born December 14, 1905, in Washington, D. C. His early school education was obtained at Hubbard School from which he graduated with the 1920 class. The school orchestra will lose a valued 'cello player through this year's graduates. Spencer intends to continue his studies at George Washington University.

REGINALD HARRISON PLEDGER Review Staff, 1923-24

Many of Central's most popular students are leaving this June, and one of the best liked of all is Reginald Plegder; or Reggie, as he is better known. He was born in North Carolina, but Washington was graced with his presence about seven years ago. Next year he intends to pursue his studies at George Washington.

RUTH LYDIA PRESSGROVE Senior Council, 1924

Tennessee's loss was our gain when "Ruthie," as she is known among her hosts of friends, came to Washington in 1919. She has a sunny disposition with a smile for everyone. Just ask him what he thinks of Ruthie and it's "She's a peach of a girl," and "she sure can dance."

SYLVIA HECHT PRESSLER

Sylvia—There now! Just the name tells you what a nice girl and companion she is. When you want a dance partner just call on Sylvia, she can dance, and dance, and dance, and never get tired. But that isn't all she can do. She is an all-round good sport, and will always be sure to be dressed in style.

MAUDE LOUISE QUINTER

What will the office force do without the sweet little girl with blue eyes and light hair? Her winning smile will be missed by everyone. Maude's hobby is dancing and she excels in it. Her ambitions are not numerous but we are sure that whatever she sets out to do will be a success from start to finish.

HARRY WILLIAM PROCTOR

Harry William Proctor was born in Washington, October 30, 1906. In June, 1920, he completed the graded school course at Toner School. He then came to Central a green rookie. But four years have made a change. In place of the rookie with hayseed in his ears we have the stately, sombre and dignified senior. He expects to attend Annapolis next, but has not decided as to whether he will be an admiral or a civil engineer.

JESSIE RUTH REED

Ruth is the kind of a girl who is pretty to walk with, witty to talk with, and pleasant to look on; Ruth has a smile and a greeting for everyone. She has many friends because she is a friend herself. The best tribute we know—an all round girl. "A merrier maid I never spent an hour's talk withal."

ALEXANDER PAUL PROFE

Paul came to Central from Emery School, and he has put four years of earnest study to the foundation he laid there. Paul is well known about school and quite a terror with the girls. Paul is undecided about the future, but he has high hopes of going to college. Here's luck to you, Paul!

JOHN ROBERT REED Second Lieutenant Company G 1923-24

John graduated from the E. V. Brown School in 1920. At that school he built up a fine record for himself. At Central he has preserved that record. He has a good scholastic record, and he has attained the rank of Second Lieutenant of Company G of the Cadet Corps. He will succeed in all that he endeavors.

GENEVA ELIZABETH REICH

Everyone who admires redheaded girls will surely admire Geneva too. She is lively and ready for almost anything that comes her way, especially in basket-ball, in which she has worked faithfully during her Junior and Senior years at Central. All who know Geneva already know that she is clever, and always has a friendly word and smile for everyone.

ILAH REYNOLDS

Four years ago to Central's halls came a glow of Southern sunshine—Ilah—and ever since she has found her way to her friends' hearts with her charming accent and sweet personality. Now she is going to Normal to prepare herself to give the Youths of America a proper start in life—in kindergarten. We wish her the best of luck.

STEUART ADGATE REISS

Steuart Reiss has no school honors—no wreathy laurels of which to boast. During his two years at Central he brought forth only one thing—"Daily Stuff." It was Steuart's attempt at an inter-high school daily paper. It was his ideal. But the pendulum swung—"Daily Stuff" has gone. And now Steuart is following it. Where?

Lois Verna Reynolds

Some call her "Lovins"—a loving name, n'est-ce pas? It couldn't be more appropriate, as many can testify. Although she has studied for three years in the Wabash High in Indiana, she has quite as much, if not more, Central spirit than some of us. Her chief diversion is day-dreaming: her ambition—to be a Maude Powell (?)

PAUL HERBERT REITHMEYER

When "Paul" hopped out of Monroe School and eased into Central, the school knew that it had gotten someone worthwhile. There is only one trouble with "Paul" and that is that he is a woman-hater. He is going to Maryland State and expects to be a first-class accountant. Let us hope you make it, "Paul."

HELEN FRANCES ROBB Scholarship

From the fair state of Iowa, where the tall corn grows, came our dainty, little Helen Robb, with her pretty dark eyes and hair, and her army of E's, to give Central the O.K. We are sure that Helen will accomplish wonders with her charming personality and ready brain, and that Central's loss will be George Washington's gain.

LILLIAN GOLDA ROBBIN

"Goldy" was born in Washington and graduated from graded school here. Mr. Hoover will testify to her musical ability, and Miss Griggs to her ability in art. She is going to Columbia University in search of a higher education, and she will not lose sight of either her music or her art.

LUCILLE CAROLINE ROBEY Scholarship

Vice-President, Bank, 1924

Those who are fortunate enough to claim Lucille as a friend will never forget her charming personality and scholastic ability which won for her the vice-presidency of our own Central High School Bank. Her present ambition is to become a private secretary when she graduates from a finishing school. Here's luck to Lucille in her future business fields.

ESTHER ADAMS ROBERTS

Esther is a native of Washington. Her education was begun at Eckington, and while at Central she has been an earnest worker both in studies and as a member of the Bon Secour Friendship Club. Her ambition is to work in the Library of Congress and all her friends wish her the best of success.

PHILIP ROBIN First Lieutenant Company G, 1923-24

Photographic Manager, Brecky

"Phil" is the kind of a fellow that all the boys like—but they are not the only ones. His four-year record in the cadets is an envy to all. While here at Central, Philip has pulled off great things, and after he has finished a college course at Georgetown he will still be pulling great things—teeth.

JOHN MYRON ROBESON Football "C," 1923

"Dutch" is one of those likeable lads with many true friends. This year he went out for football and won his letter. In fact, with his ready smile, his clever wit and sunny disposition, "Dutch" has been a great asset to Old Central. Annapolis or Maryland will be the lucky school.

IRVING SAMUEL ROSE

On December 21st, 1905, there came into this world the greatest physics shark alive who was later to eclipse Mr. Burroughs himself. This infant protegé, Irving Samuel Rose has already fulfilled all that his doting parents have prophesied for him, getting at least 43 in two Trig tests besides the 31 he got in French. He is assured of a brilliant future.

KATHERINE DE LA NOY ROSE

Katherine, better known to us as Sue, possesses rare qualities. She has that southern sweetness, and the unusual charm of "A Skin You Love to Touch." Sue is undecided as to her life work, but we think that the call of the sea will have an alluring voice for a mere-maid.

MARY LOUISE ROSSTEAD

Mary is one of those quiet, lovable girls, whose blue eyes, rosy complexion, golden hair and sweet smile linger in your memory long after she has gone. Her charming personality and ability have won her hosts of friends, and it is not without regret that we see her leave Central's halls for those of college.

FAY FRANCES ROSENBERG Scholarship

'Mamma loves Papa, Papa loves Mamma,' but everyone likes Fay. With her good-nature and humor she has finished Central in three and one-half years with an excellent record. Fay's greatest ambition is to write a book entitled, 'Salted Peanuts.' Next year will find Fay at Vassar with a chocolate peppermint in one hand and Virgil in the other.

JOHN FRANCIS RUPPERT

What would Central have been without his cheery voice resounding throughout its mighty portals and corridors? I have heard that he is fond of birds, especially the wren. And now as a farewell, to our friend and classmate, we wish him a successful career and a long life.

MARY REBECCA ROSENBLATT

Of all the girls in our school there's none more dear than Mary. She's fair of face and bright of mind; a truer friend one could not find. In business she will be a star—her success will be known near and far, for in play or work, none less will shirk than Mary—our Mary.

Our boy "Sandy" is a real Centralite. Throughout his "years" at Central he has done his best for his school and for himself. He is bound to make a success in life, as he has done as Business Manager of the Review this year.

JACK SCHNEIDER

When Jack entered Central four years ago he brought with him a happy disposition and a general air of determination. The former has made him popular among his classmates and won him many friends. He intends to enter University of Maryland to study Pharmacy. We are sure that nothing but success will attend his efforts.

JANICE ELIZABETH SANGER

Here she is, "Fuzzy," the little girl with the ready smile and the crazy little laugh. She has done her four years justice and in September plans to be a cherry at G. W. Janice is a very clever girl in more ways than one and she'll succeed in whatever she does, G. W., or, maybe, brightening a home.

EVELYN KATHERINA SCHWARTZ

Evelyn, with her brown bobbed hair and lovely complexion, makes one think of the advertisement for "Woodbury's Facial." A "best friend," loved and trusted because of her genial, magnetic personality. Incidentally, she loves dogs. Evelyn shines in everything, especially giggling, and was once known to arrive on time. We wonder if some day she will not out-rival Ann Pennington.

JOSEPH SCHERTZ

The "Gentleman from Nebraska," "Joe," has combined four years of work with pleasure and happiness, and the result is a winning personality. His western smile will be missed by Central. He is hoping to attend the University of Nebraska next year. Here's wishing you good luck, Joe!

RAPHAELLA SCHWARZ

Scholarship
One-Year Dramatic Certificate
Assistant Photographic Manager, Brecky

Raphaella, despite her youth, carries off with her an army of E's. Full of wit and humer, her flashing brown eyes carry a smile for everyone. Although talented in writing and dramatics, she aims to be Chief Justice, following in the footsteps of Mr. Taft (as she already is doing by walking behind him going home from church.)

SARAH IRENE SCOTT

If you don't love Sarah before you hear her talk, you certainly will afterwards, for she has the sweetest little Southern drawl you have ever heard. She has the sweetest smile, the brightest eyes, and the happiest disposition, and is the best and truest friend there is to be found.

MARTINE NO. 1 MAIL

Emily's sweet personality has made many friends for her here at Central. She is jolly and ready to do anything you ask her to, and when it comes to transcribing shorthand notes, she can't be beat! Emily expects to go to George Washington and all her friends here at Central wish her the best of luck. Don't forget us, Emily!

Baseball "C," 1923-24

"Squirt," as he is saluted by many of us, is a Georgian, who has sworn allegiance to Virginia. His fine manly character and everlasting good nature have made him one of our most popular boys. Au revoir and good luck, old boy!

IRVIN SHAPIRO Debate Team, 1922-23 Bulletin Staff, 1923-'24

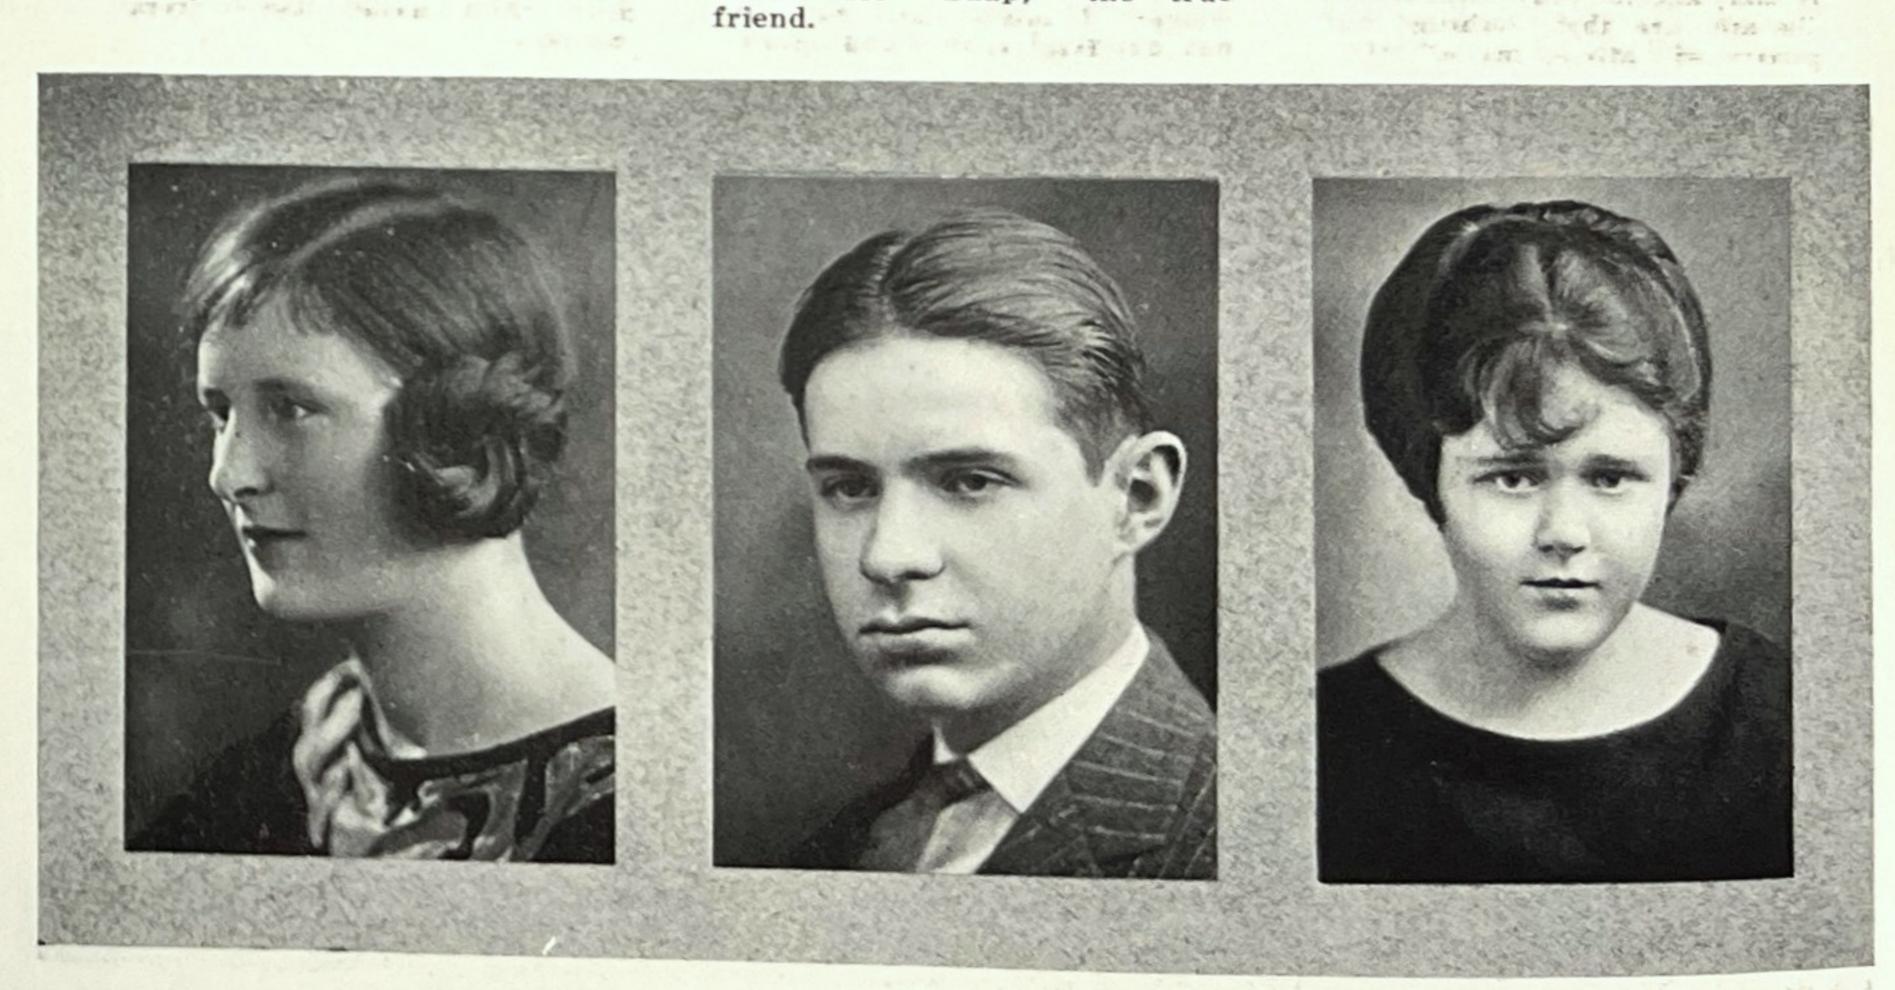

There are probably three or four in this class who, because of some God-given gift or by merit of some highly developed capability, will go above and beyond the rest of us, on to glory. One of these is Irvin Shapiro. But Shapiro, the true genius, must make way in our hearts for "Shap," the true friend

JANE FULTON SEWARD

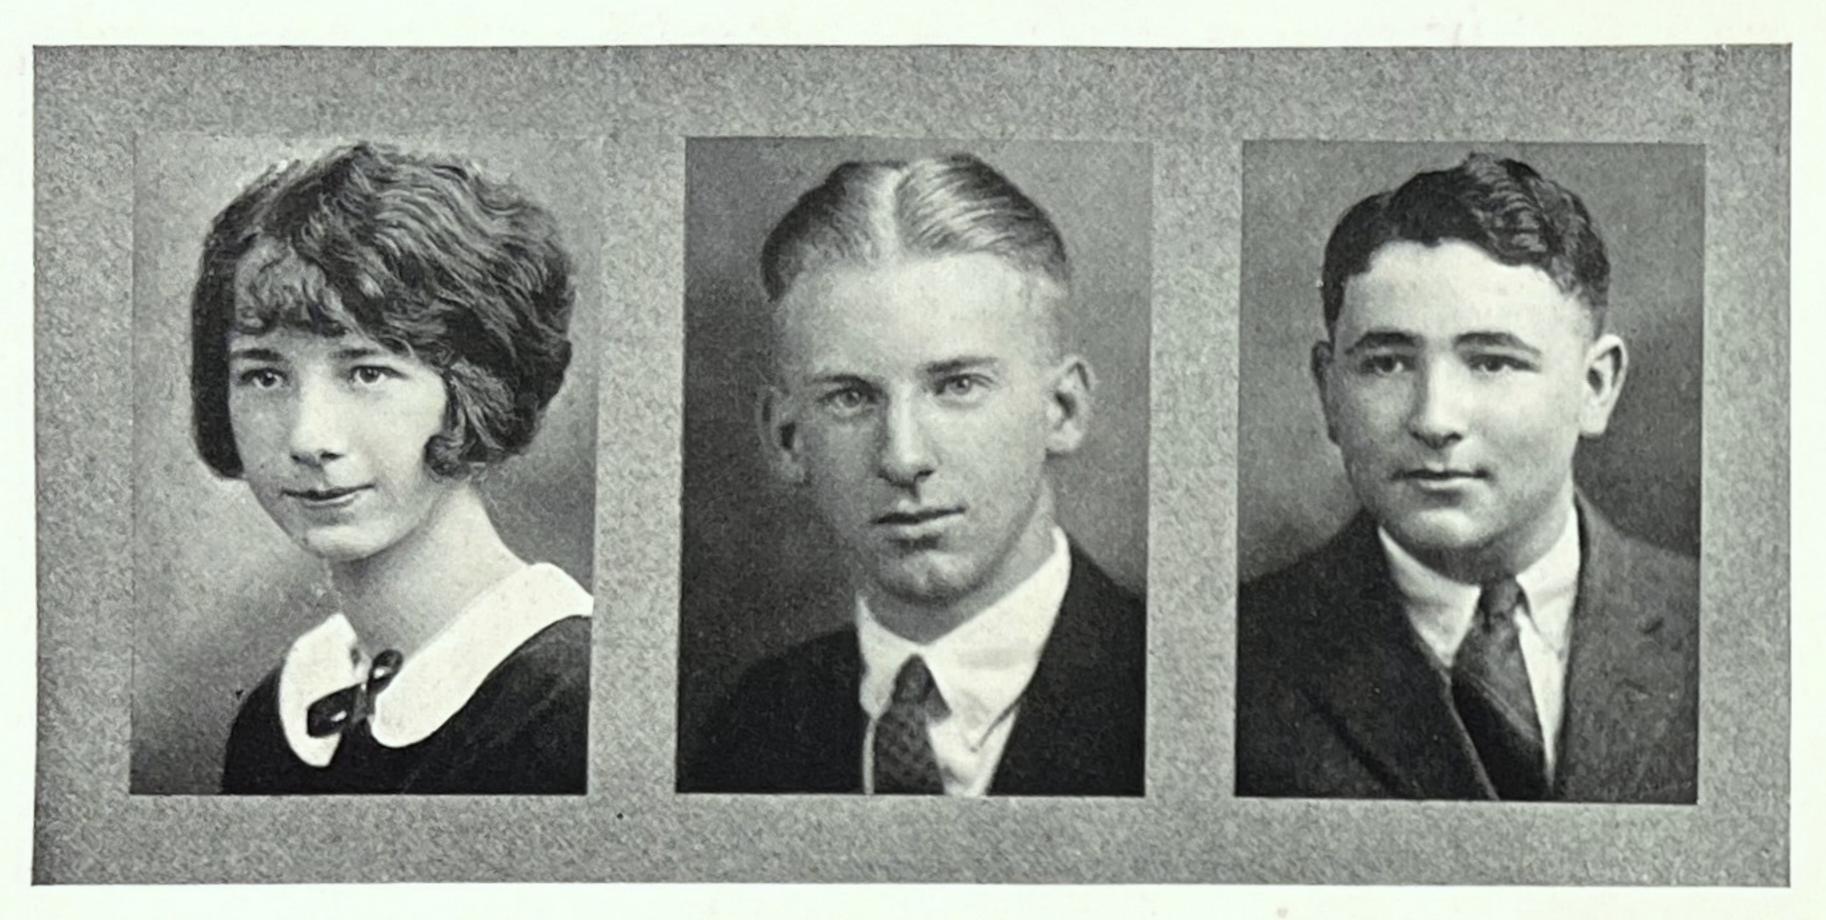

Someone having related a story of our school to Jane, she foresook the scenes of Colorado, and in due course, arrived in Washington to enroll at Central. Her conscientious attention to detail and her cheerful smile, have won her many friends. Her greatest ambition is to learn Spanish well enough to write it in shorthand.

MARGARET ELISABETH SHARP

Here we have a girl who is destined to be a leader in everything she undertakes (even her section teacher says she is the leader in talking.) Despite this asset, she is extremely likeable, and exceedingly goodnatured and witty. She is a particularly fine dancer and very entertaining. The people who don't know Elisabeth have missed a friend, indeed.

Roselia Show

ROSELIA BEATRICE SHAW.

One-Year Dramatic Certificate

We all know Roselia by her ever-present smile and her sense of humor. Nevertheless, she has been serious enough at times to make a fine scholastic record and to take part in basketball, rifle and dramatics. Here's hoping that her Wellesley classmates, four years hence, may be able to wish for her as much success and happiness as we do now.

ROBERTA SHEWMAKER

Roberta is one of the SHEW-MAKER girls. 'Nuff said about her scholarship and personal charm. She was born in Washington and went from Emery to Central as became one of her family. Roberta likes school (dutifully) and enjoys good times. She's a bear at math and languages. She may be sidetracked at Normal, but nevertheless she intends to go to college.

CHARLES LATIMER SHELTON

Tennis "C," 1923

Captain, Tennis, 1924

MARY ELIZABETH SHOEMAKER Basketball "C," 1924

"Tim" is one of the popular members of her class. Besides her popularity, she is an all around Centralite, and dandy dancer, and even better looking. She is a good scholar and will finish her high school course before the average intellectual person. She has no present aspirations, but we know that she will succeed in whatever she undertakes.

SAMUEL SHERR

During Sam's stay at Central he has made many friends. He always does his utmost to support Central in all her activities. He can be seen in the halls of Central carrying his famous 18-kt grin. His sole ambition is some day to be America's foremost business man. His friends all wish him the best of luck.

WILLIAM OLIVER SHREVE

Secretary Athletic Association,
1923-24

WILLIAM TITUS SICHI Lightweight Football "C," 1922

William is otherwise known as "Bill" to all his classmates. "Bill" is a jolly old fellow, always ready for the worst, in fact, he is always prepared for it. And say, can the boy step? Just ask one that knows, or better still, watch him yourself. "Bill" went out for football this year again and the fates were very kind to him.

HAROLD SLANKER Lightweight Football "C," 1923

"Hank," the best trumpetcornet player who has ever graced the halls of Central, has done his best in many fields since he entered the school.
Among these are football, basketball and baseball. He has formed many friends here, and is admired by everyone for his genial camaradie, his sense of good luck!

TILLIE SILBER

We all know Tillie, for her jolly and sunny disposition have made friends for her everywhere. Here's to the lucky employer, Tillie!

NELLIE DYER SLATER Senior Council

It has often been said that "the best articles come in small packages." We can easily believe that when we behold Nell, for she is certainly a small package of sweetness and smiles. With lovely hair and lovelier eyes she is more than sure to take any prize. Here's good luck to you in the future!

WILLIAM REUBEN SIMPSON, JR.

"Bill" as he is better known, has been a hard, conscientious worker during his High School days. He has always given his best efforts to the school, and has not let pleasures interfere with his work. Bill expects to work for a year after graduation, and then enter college. We wish him success and know he will bring honor to himself and his school.

GEORGE HENRY SLYE

Back in 1906 Henry added his name to the list of residents in the District of Columbia. Four years ago he joined us, and helped to make Central shine as only a true Centralite can. He has made his record here, and there are few who do not know and admire him. Say "Tenax Propositi——" and think "Henry Slye."

FAY AGANA SMEAD

To have friends is to be one, and Fay needs no words of praise to raise her in the estimation of her friends. All of us have met her, and to meet her is to know what an excellent friend she is. Her pleasing personality, among her many other virtues, assure her a most generous measure of future success.

Frances Winfield Smith

Scholarship

Manager Basketball, 1923-24

Secretary Girls' "C" Club,

1923-24

Debate Team, 1923-24

If we still followed the custom of having names to suit our personalities, we would have to call Frances—"Frances the Friend." She is all that the word "friend" implies, and more. She's befriended Athletics well, and has always carried scholastic honors. To her many associates, she is, and will always be, Frances the "Friend."

BEAMAN QUINCY SMITH
First Lieutenant, Company A
1923-24

Beaman Quincy Smith is a first lieutenant, and plays in the orchestra. Diplomacy, agriculture, and banking interest him most. He will go West after leaving Central in order to gain experience before entering the Michigan Agriculture College, through which he expects to work his way. Before leaving this college, he will try for the Rhodes Scholarship to Oxford.

NORMA CHRISTINE SMITH

Norma is always ready to lend a helping hand. This characteristic is appreciated in the Alumni room and the office. In the morning she fills slips for tardy students, and during the day Miss Stevens finds her of great assistance. After graduation she expects to travel in Canada, and we heartily hope that she realizes her ambitions.

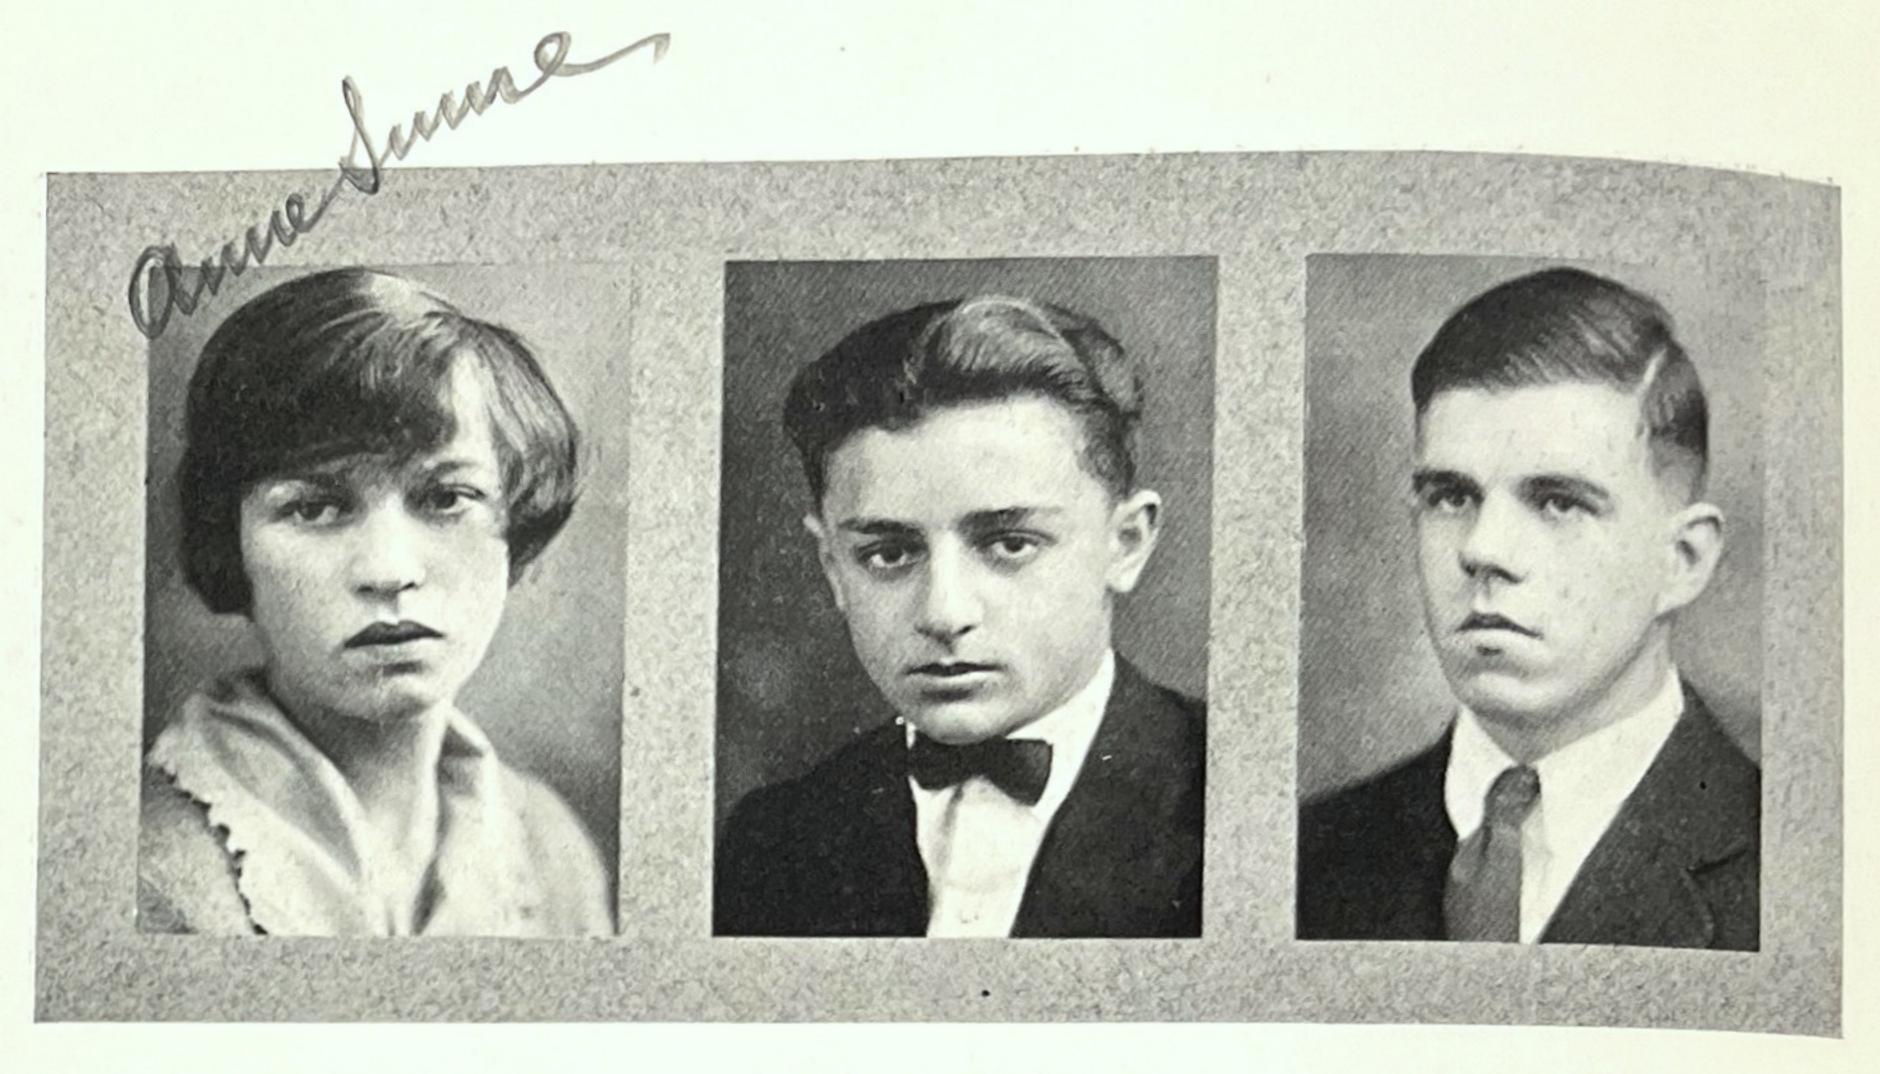

ESTHER CORDELIA SMITH

"Go West, young woman, and grow up with the country!" Esther Smith has spent four highly satisfactory years at Central and plans to spend four more at the University of California. She is a wide-awake scholar, a congenial and interesting companion, and a sincere supporter of Central. We think you lucky, California! Bon voyage, Esther!

THOMAS LEE SMITH Football "C," 1923

To describe Tom in fifty words is utterly impossible, but I say briefly that in his four years at Central he has accomplished a worthy record as a good student and a sterling fellow. At West Point he will, no doubt, bring honor to himself, to the Academy, and to Central.

ANNE SNURE Scholarship

The best friend, dandiest sport, and sweetest girl at Central, that's Anne. We all know her with her brown hair and dreamy eyes. We've noticed that she is sometimes late, but that doesn't keep her from accomplishing things. There's a dark secret about Anne's planning to be an author so let's wish her success and watch the magazines of 1930.

ELEANOR REID SPIELMAN

Her brown hair and mischievous eyes have led her to be called "Brownie" by her many friends. A winning personality, a sunny smile, and a lovable disposition are some of the reasons why Central will miss her. Her ambition? Oh, yes. It is to study Commercial Law at George Washington. "Brownie," Central wishes you the best of luck!

RICHARD ISADOR SOKOLOV Cheer leader

Everyone knows "Soky" to be an exceptionally fine fellow. From Junior High School came he, many years ago and since arriving at Central he has attained distinction as our cheerleader, as did his brother before him. We wish you the best of luck, Richard, and may your future be a prosperous one.

HENRY NELSON SPOTTSWOOD

"Spotty?" Yes, that's he, the owner of those silken locks. We've had a great time together, but the sad part of it is that this gallant son of Virginia, the best of companions and a true Centralite, expects soon to forsake us for the halls of Dartmouth College. Well, old pal, parting comes as parting will, but true friendship lasts forever.

CHARLES SPENCER

After a careful perusal of a list of those expected to graduate in June, we find the name of one, Charles Spencer, known for his quiet, retiring nature and natural antipathy toward those of the other sex. He is to be numbered among those who are never-failing in loyal support of their school in her time of need.

ELIZABETH VIRGINIA SPRINGER Secretary Girls' Chorus

"Betty," the girl with the friendly smile and sunny disposition, is Secretary of the Girls' Glee Club, and has done some splendid work in Rifle. During her stay at Central she has won many friends who will never forget her. She has not chosen her college, but the one which claims her is to be congratulated. Here's hoping the Fates have in store for her a happy and successful future.

ELIZABETH STANTON Scholarship

When speaking of "E's" Elizabeth is always there. As for sweetness, all there ever was or ever will be, is to be found in a small package labeled, "Elizabeth." If anyone has forgotten "Virgil" here is one just waiting to help. She is some little sport too. We sincerely hope that Goucher will appreciate our Elizabeth.

LUTHER CORWIN STEWARD, JR.

Luther was born in San Antonio, Texas, January 7, 1908. After traveling over the United States for several years he finally settled down in Washington. After due time he entered the right school, in 1920. His pep and friendly spirit have endeared him to all of his class mates. He is planning to enter Dartmouth.

ELIZABETH STEIN

Elizabeth entered Central four years ago, and she has many friends to whom she bids farewell. She is one of these quiet, studious girls who usually succeeds in what she undertakes. Her greatest ambition is to go to Normal School and become a teacher. She says she will be one unless—(?) May success attend her in everything which she attempts.

ELWOOD WILSON STEWART

Wilson is the possessor of a happy-go-lucky disposition which has won for him a great many friends. He intends to go to George Washington University in order that he may prepare himself to become a business dictator of Washington. Since he is a good student and a true Centralite, we believe he will make a great success.

MARJORIE STEPHENS

Although Marjorie has only been with us a year, she has become prominent among our great intellects. Not being satisfied with graduating from Central, she is going back to her home state, Arkansas, and show the University of Arkansas how Central raises 'em. We wish her luck, but, knowing her ability, doubt if she will need it.

ELIZABETH WALLER STICKLEY

ATT TO THE PART OF THE PART OF

Elizabeth is a typical North Carolina "Tarheel," who is always full of surprises. She is a decided exception to the rule that Southerners talk slowly, and she can out talk anyone in quantity or quality. Once a friend she is always a friend. She carries with her an atmosphere of joy and vivacity that charms everybody. Sh!! She's red-headed.

PAULINE JO STIRISS
One-Year Dramatic Certificate
Brecky Art Committee

"Jo" was born in the city of bright lights, which might account for her brilliancy in painting. She traveled in Europe in her early years and returned to New York where she graduated from public school. Pauline has honored Central by winning a scholarship to the National School of Art. She is going in for "art with a purpose."

BETTY SPROUL STRONACH

Betty is a "bonnie Scotch lassie" with black bobbed hair, blue eyes, and the sunniest smile imaginable. Although she has just come to us this year from Chicago, she has made numerous friends. Among her many charms is her ability to play the most harmonious, inspiring "jazz" in the world. Her latest ambition is to become a teacher of languages. May she win success!

VIRGINIA MAE STOY

Scholarship
Associate Editor, Brecky

"Ginny" is the kind of a girl you will like to remember in later years as your friend. She has left an enviable record in scholarship at Central, and her friendly smile and happy-golucky disposition have made her hosts of sincere friends. Know "Ginny" and you know a real girl.

ANNA FRANCES SULLIVAN

Our laughing, black haired "Nana" is the life of the party, and is always welcome wherever she goes. We have enjoyed her friendship here at Central ever so much. However, we may not lose her altogether, as she wants to be as serious a person as a doctor, in view of which, she favors Johns Hopkins. She is a true friend and we are mighty sorry to see her leave.

ELIZA HANNAH STREET

Eliza is the kind of a friend all girls love to have. She is very loving and always tries to accommodate one. If you ever want to make candy or cake, ask her, she knows. She has a very bright future, but she doesn't know what she wants to do after she graduates. Central is proud of such girls as Eliza.

EILEEN ELEANOR SUTLIFF

Take a pair of twinkling brown eyes, a contagious laugh, a bit of pure Irish wit, and a lovable disposition; then add a heart as big as the Stadium, the ability to have a good time under any circumstances, a winning personality, and you'll have Eileen Sutliff, everybody's friend.

RUTH DARLING SUTTON

Ruth, as a fair rookie, came to Central's halls four years ago. Her middle name well signifies the type of a girl that she portrays. Her one ambition is to continue her studies at a girls' seminary. Her host of friends and classmates wish her the best of luck in whatever she undertakes to do.

ARTHUR FRANCIS SWINBURNE

Possibly his being born in Atlantic City accounts for "Swinny's" gay and cheerful way of taking things. He doesn't worry; just takes things easy, and he doesn't miss getting along, either. He is a real Centralite with a hearty personality and a sure success with his modest, winning, smile.

EDITH MARGARET SWANSON

She is witty, laughing, original and studious. She originated the "Swanson dive"—from which the swan dive was copied—her idea first! Another characteristic of "Peggy's" is her ability of being in on 'most everything. She will join many of her friends at Wilson Normal, but how could she be serious enough to be a teacher?

DOROTHY RUTH SWOPE Bulletin Staff, 1922-'23-'24 Associate Editor, Brecky

Our brown-eyed "Dotty" is known to everyone by her charming personality, and her great ability to make friends. She is one of Central's most attractive girls, and will be missed by all. When it comes to hard work for Central, she is right there, but she also finds plenty of time for dancing, and for ——.

LUCY ADA SWANTON

Lucy was born in 1906. She entered the Cooke School at the age of five, and has had an uninterrupted course through the grade schools and Central. In the eighth grade she won a medal awarded by a local newspaper for one of the best essays on Lincoln. Her favorite study is English, but her true talent lies in music.

HAMILTON TALBOTT

Ham Talbott was born in this city many years ago. He showed his brains at an early age by coming to Central. Since then, he has distinguished himself by being a Bulletin agent for two years in succession, also by all around good work in studies and on the rifle squad. Ham's ambition is to graduate from Boston Tech.

HORACE WILLIAM TALLEY
Lightweight "C," 1922

Although Horace is a quiet and serious fellow, he has made many friends at Central, who would stand by him. He has been a rather good student and has shown true Central spirit. We are sure he will make good in whatever he may do when he graduates from Central.

MORRIS FRETWELL TAYLOR

Morris is a congenial, popular fellow, who spends a good deal of his time in study or work, but he is always ready for a little fun. He will probably fulfill his ambition of having a very successful business career, provided some lady fair does not claim too great an amount of his time and devotion.

WILLIAM KOONTZ TEEPE

We all know "Bill." His good nature has won for him many friends during his four years at Central. He has been a faithful student, making good marks, and has also become a good distance man on the Track Team. Whatever his plans are for the future, we know he will succeed. "Good luck!"

CLARENCE SYLVESTER THOMAS

Many years ago Clarence Thomas was born in this city. Since then he spent a greater part of his life at Central. He expects to graduate this June. His greatest ambition is to be the world's champion rifle shot. "Chick" showed his school spirit by joining the cadets even if he did not get a commission.

GEORGE BERNARD THOMPSON

In the cold February of 1922 George graduated from the Columbia Junior High School and sought higher knowledge at Central. He found it, but not enough of it, for he plans to go to "Lafayette from here. So here's wishing you all success in the world, George, and best of luck. Don't forget, be good to yourself.

RUBY ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Ruby is an attractive Virginia "belle." Though she has been little in the "lime-light" here at Central, everybody who knows her says that she's a true blue girl. She expects to enter upon a business career after graduation. All her friends wish Ruby the best of luck in her future work.

WINONA THURSTON

Our "Winny" is a typical Georgia "peach," coming from there to Washington on her twelfth birthday. She once aspired to be a Congresswoman, but she said that after her first debate, she decided differently. She usually makes good at everything she undertakes, so we are sure that she will come out on top.

MARY ELIZABETH TONKIN

Libby is a shy little girl with quiet ways. She enjoys painting and may become an artist. Her four years at Central have given her many friends in all the classes. She expects to go to George Washington University and afterwards to a business college. Here's happiness to you, Libby!

MARTHA EVELYN TINDALL

Evelyn is distinguished by her golden crown of glory. She came to Central from Mississippi, where she expects to return to study music. Central would do well if Mississippi could send her more girls like Evelyn. She will be missed by her many friends, but they all say "Good luck to you."

EDWARD LAWRENCE TROTH First Lieutenant, Company B, 1923-24

"Ed," who hails from the distant country of Chevy Chase, is a true Centralite, and one of those jolly good-natured fellows that everyone wishes to have as a friend. Besides being a first lieutenant in the cadets, he is one of the members of "Don" Wheeler's famous championship war game team. "Ed," we all wish you the best of luck!

PAULINE LOUISE TOMLIN Scholarship Basketball "C," 1922-23-24 Senior Council Bulletin Staff, 1923-24

Polly with her charming personality, her winning smile, her ability to make friends among her many other accomplishments, is going to seek new laurels at Goucher next year. May she be successful in her career, whether it be seeking fame or keeping the home fires burning with happiness.

ERVIN JOHN TUCKER Bank Staff, 1922-23 Bank President, 1923-24

His friends know him as "Bill," the true Centralite, who has won himself many friends. His ambition—Well, he isn't saying just which bank it will be, but if he continues with the same success he has had at C. H. S. Bank, we predict for him the presidency of some big bank. Success to you, Bill, and good luck!

RAYMOND UNDERWOOD

Raymond has now completed four years of hard study at Central with great success and hopes to enter Massachusetts Institute of Technology next fall to complete his school career. With his cheerful and pleasing personality, Raymond has won many lasting friends at Central. We all wish Raymond the best of luck upon leaving old Central.

CARLOS CLARK VAN LEER, JR. Scholarship Bulletin Staff, 1923-24

Carlos came to Central from the Cook School in 1920. He has made good marks in all his studies and is star special writer on the Bulletin. Everyone who knows him likes him, as he is always good company because of his humor. A better Centralite is not to be found in the school.

HILDA LEONA UNGER

Do you know Hilda? The little girl with the fluffy, nearly-red bobbed hair? She is a dandy student, but best of all she can dance. She sings, too, and has hopes of being an operatic star some day. "Fluffy" intends to go to Normal and we'll say one thing—we surely do envy the pupils she will teach.

FLORENCE NOYES VAN VLECK Assistant Manager, Rifle, 1922-23 Review Staff, 1923-24

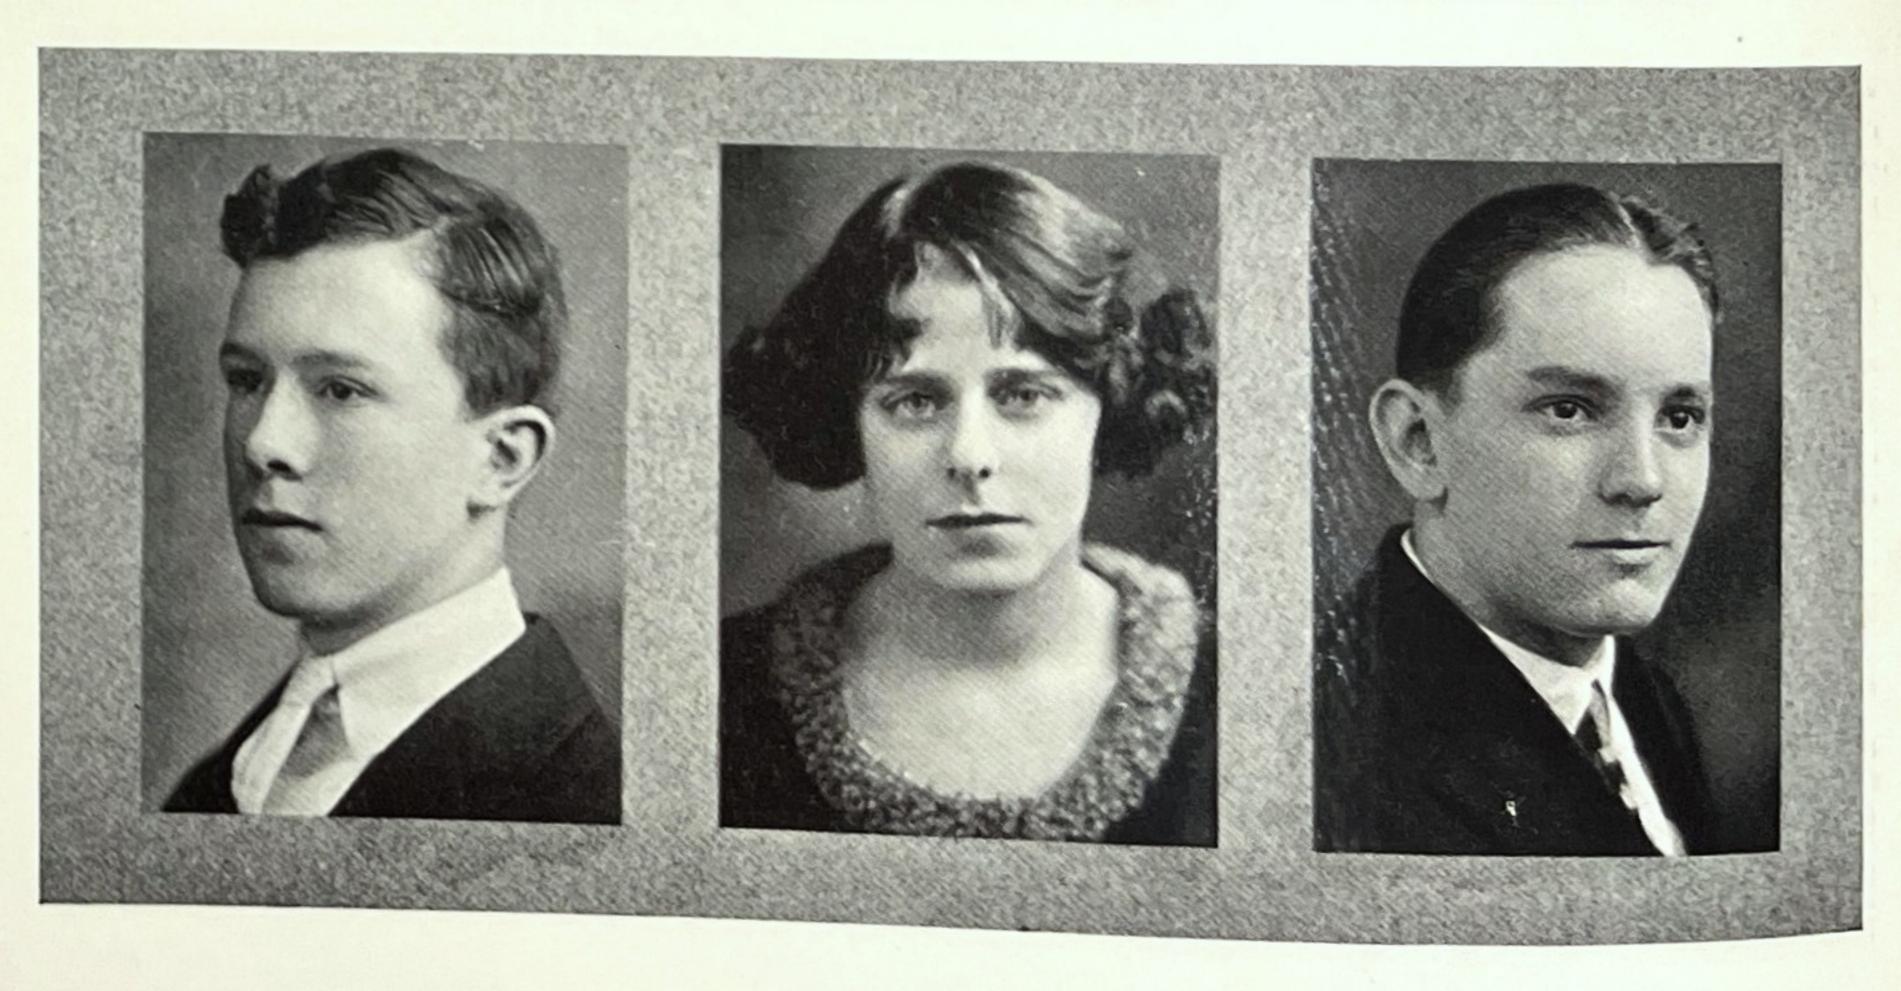

This is the enthusiastic little miss whom we all know and admire as the sport editor on the Review Staff. Her Central spirit has certainly been shown by her keen interest in school activities, especially on the rifle range with her rifle and assistant management. Success and best wishes to "Little Van!"

ELIZABETH VAN BRAKLE

For a stalwart friend, a wonderful sport, a fine scholar and last but not least a worthy Centralite, here is Elizabeth. There are mighty few in Central who can surpass or even equal her in scholarship record. She has worked hard in tennis, and has been assistant manager. Next year she expects to enter Swarthmore. Good luck, Elizabeth!

DANIEL CARACKER VAUGHAN Battalion Adjutant, First Lieutenant, 1923-24

Daniel Caracker has succeeded in keeping his middle name dark for nearly four years, but at last it's out! Dan'l has earned the rank of Battalion Adjutant, and three years ago had the distinction of being the smallest cadet. In spite of studying too much, he is well-liked about school.

MILDRED LOUISE WALDMAN
Basketball "C," 1923-24

Ready for fun always, and sometimes ready for work—that's Millie. Her readiness to have a good time at all times and her hard work for the school in athletics have made her one of the best-liked girls in her class and one of whom Central may justly be proud.

JOSEPH SCOTT WALSMITH, JR. Manager, Swimming, 1923-'24

After four years of struggle Joe has decided to end the fight and graduate. Joe's smile is well known to all Centralites, even though things do not always seem just right. His smile is there just the same. As a hard worker Joe has no equal. Now as Manager of Swimming he is showing these qualities to their best advantage.

DOROTHY JANET WALKER
Scholarship

Central will miss her, she of the shining black hair and sparkling eyes. During her four years here, Dotty has made many friends and is as popular as she is pretty. Everyone knows her by her bright smile and cheery "Hi, there!" Goodbye, Dotty, and the best of good luck be with you after you have left old Central.

MERCER CHRISTIE WALTER

Mercer Christie Walter was born in Washington in 1906. His younger days were spent in the Cooke School, from which he graduated in 1920. He then displayed his good judgment by choosing to enter Central. Here he has made a fine scholastic record and has become very popular. After graduating from Central, he hopes to enter West Point.

HELEN FRANCES WALKER

"Snookie" is small, but great, if you can imagine how that is —a genial, generous genius, with her ready loans of paper, pen and pencils, graciously bestowed. Helen is sometimes accused of being quiet, but when you know her, you'd be surprised. On leaving the old "Alma Mater," she expects to go to Normal, and later on George Washington.

LOUISE MARKLEY WARD

Louise has a good scholastic record to her credit, but she has also been the best of pals—in for all the good times going. With her sparkling brown eyes, she is a sure cure for the blues. Central will miss her, but wishes her the best of luck in Normal School and in her career as a teacher.

ROBERT SPENCER WARD Valedictorian Review Staff, 1923-24 Debate Team, 1923-24

"Whereas, it is well known to Central students that a fellow classmate, 'Bob' Ward, has displayed unusual oratorical talent, literary qualities, quick wit, and a scholastic excellency; and whereas, he has led many of Central's activities and has been a general 'good fellow.' Therefore be it resolved, that his classmates take this opportunity of wishing him success in his political future."

DAVID ANDREW WATT, JR. Major of Second Battalion

"Bill" is famous for his good nature and cheerful grin. He entered Central from a New Jersey school. He joined the cadets, where his earnest, hard work won him a majority. He hopes to enter West Point, where we know he'll succeed.

VIRGIL HOLM WARNER
Lightweight Football "C," 1921
Football "C," 1923

Virgil is the type of boy that has made Central what it is to-day. He has the honor of being one of the most popular boys in his class, and is tremendously well liked by all who know him. For his size, he ranks among Central's best gridiron stars. When he does a thing, he does it well. He will succeed.

MARTHA CANDACE WEBER

This is Martha, ever smiling and always late. She is sunny and cheery in all her ways, and sweet as the music she often plays. For she is an adept at beating time and sweeps out the music line by line. You all know her light hair and dancing blue eyes.

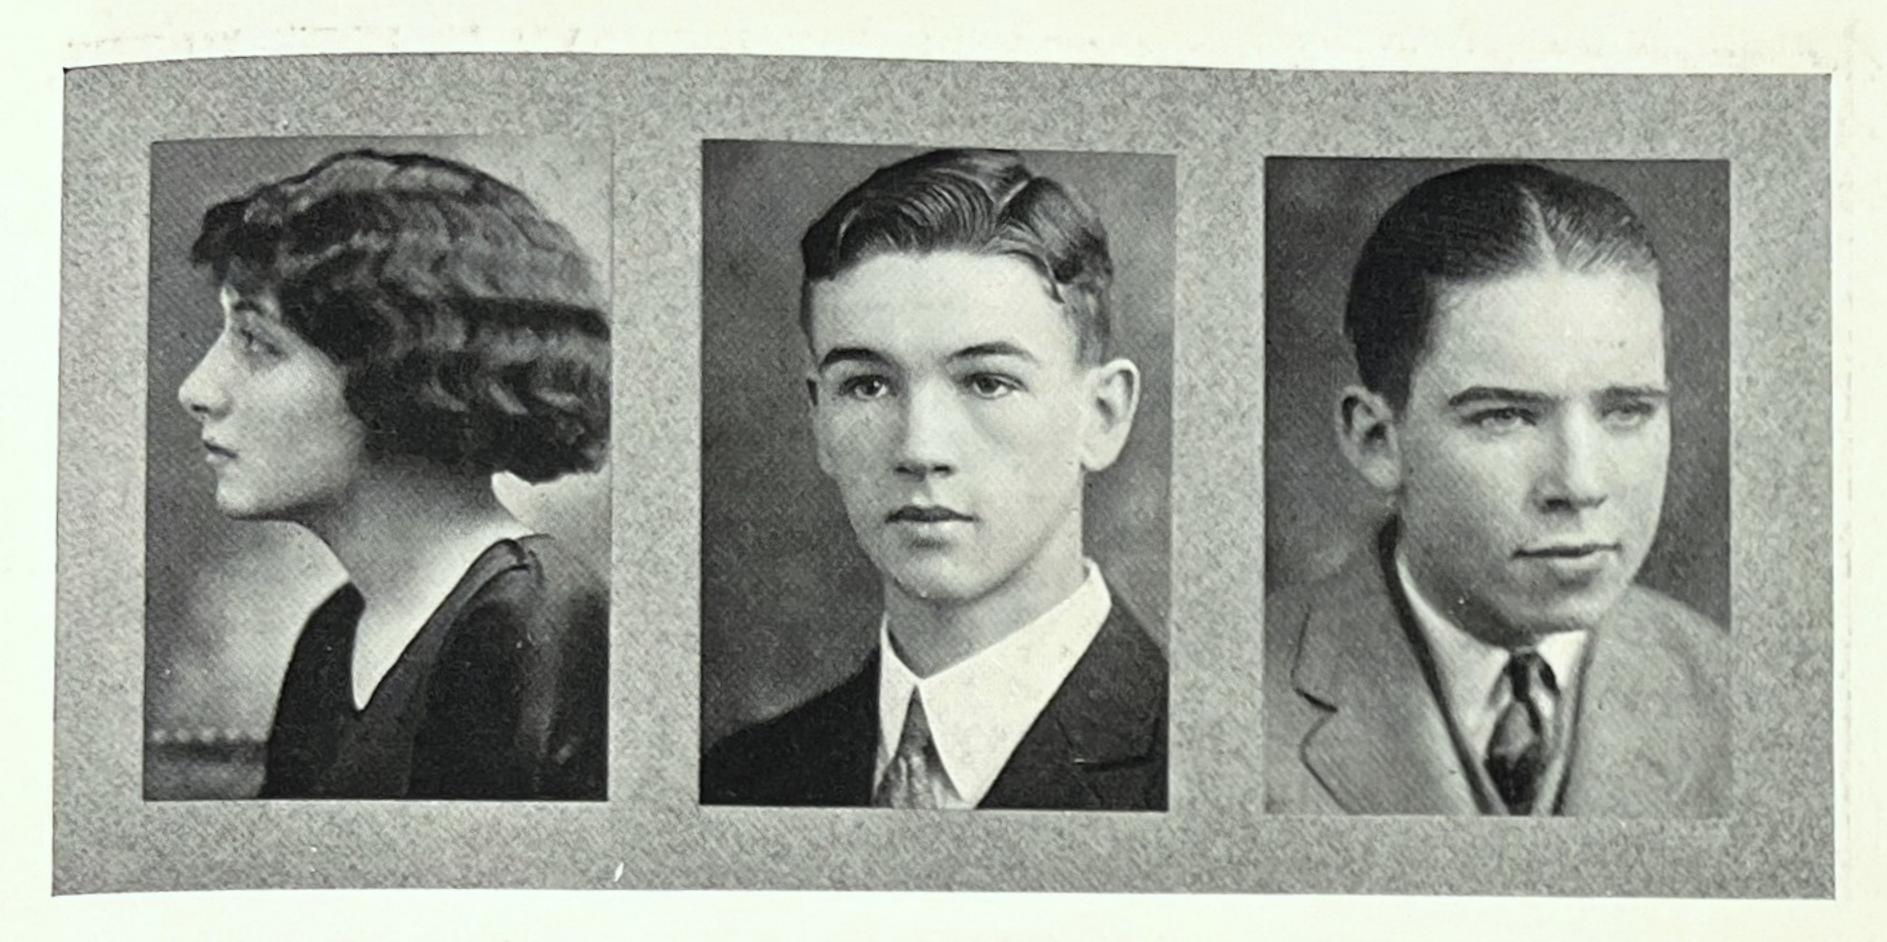

JOHN FRANCIS WARREN

John Francis, commonly known as "Mutt" to his many friends, will never take a prize as a giant, but just mention his name to girls. "Mutt" came from Columbia Junior High and has been with us three short years. The Army will be benefited when he graduates from West Point. We wish him good luck.

LILLIAN WEINSTEIN

A talented violinist from Boston entered Central in her second year in 1922. Everyone knows who this is—Lillian. She is also proficient in drawing. Her ambition is to be an "artiste," either of the violin or art. Lillian is going to matriculate at George Washington University, and we wish her all success there.

HESTER WEIRSMITH

Pennsylvania sends to us for her last year a studious and ambitious young lady, Hester Weirsmith, who is proud to be a Centralite. As the linguist that we know her, we feel sure that her literary efforts may not be unrewarded. "Hitch your wagon to a star," Hester, and the Centralites will boost you on the way!

Mary is a real Centralite. She has lots of pep and school spirit and is interested in all the school activities. Better than this, she is a truly sympathetic and helpful friend. Even though she has been told that she resembles Norma Talmadge, she is going to G. W. and study to be a high school teacher. Here's to her success!

MARY FLORENCE WHITNEY

GEORGE LOUIS WELLER, JR.

George was born in Baltimore, Md., April 10, 1907. He came to Central in the fourth semester from Baltimore Polytechnic Institute. He has always been a fine student and an active member of Central's crchestra. George expects to go to Georgetown and Johns Hopkins Universities and thinks well of medicine as a profession.

Abigail Whiton (known

Abigail Whiton (known to her pals as "Gail") has been faithful to Central for four years. She has played basketball and has worked hard in her studies (most of the time). Now that she is leaving Central, may we wish her "the best of luck" in anything which she may undertake to do in future life.

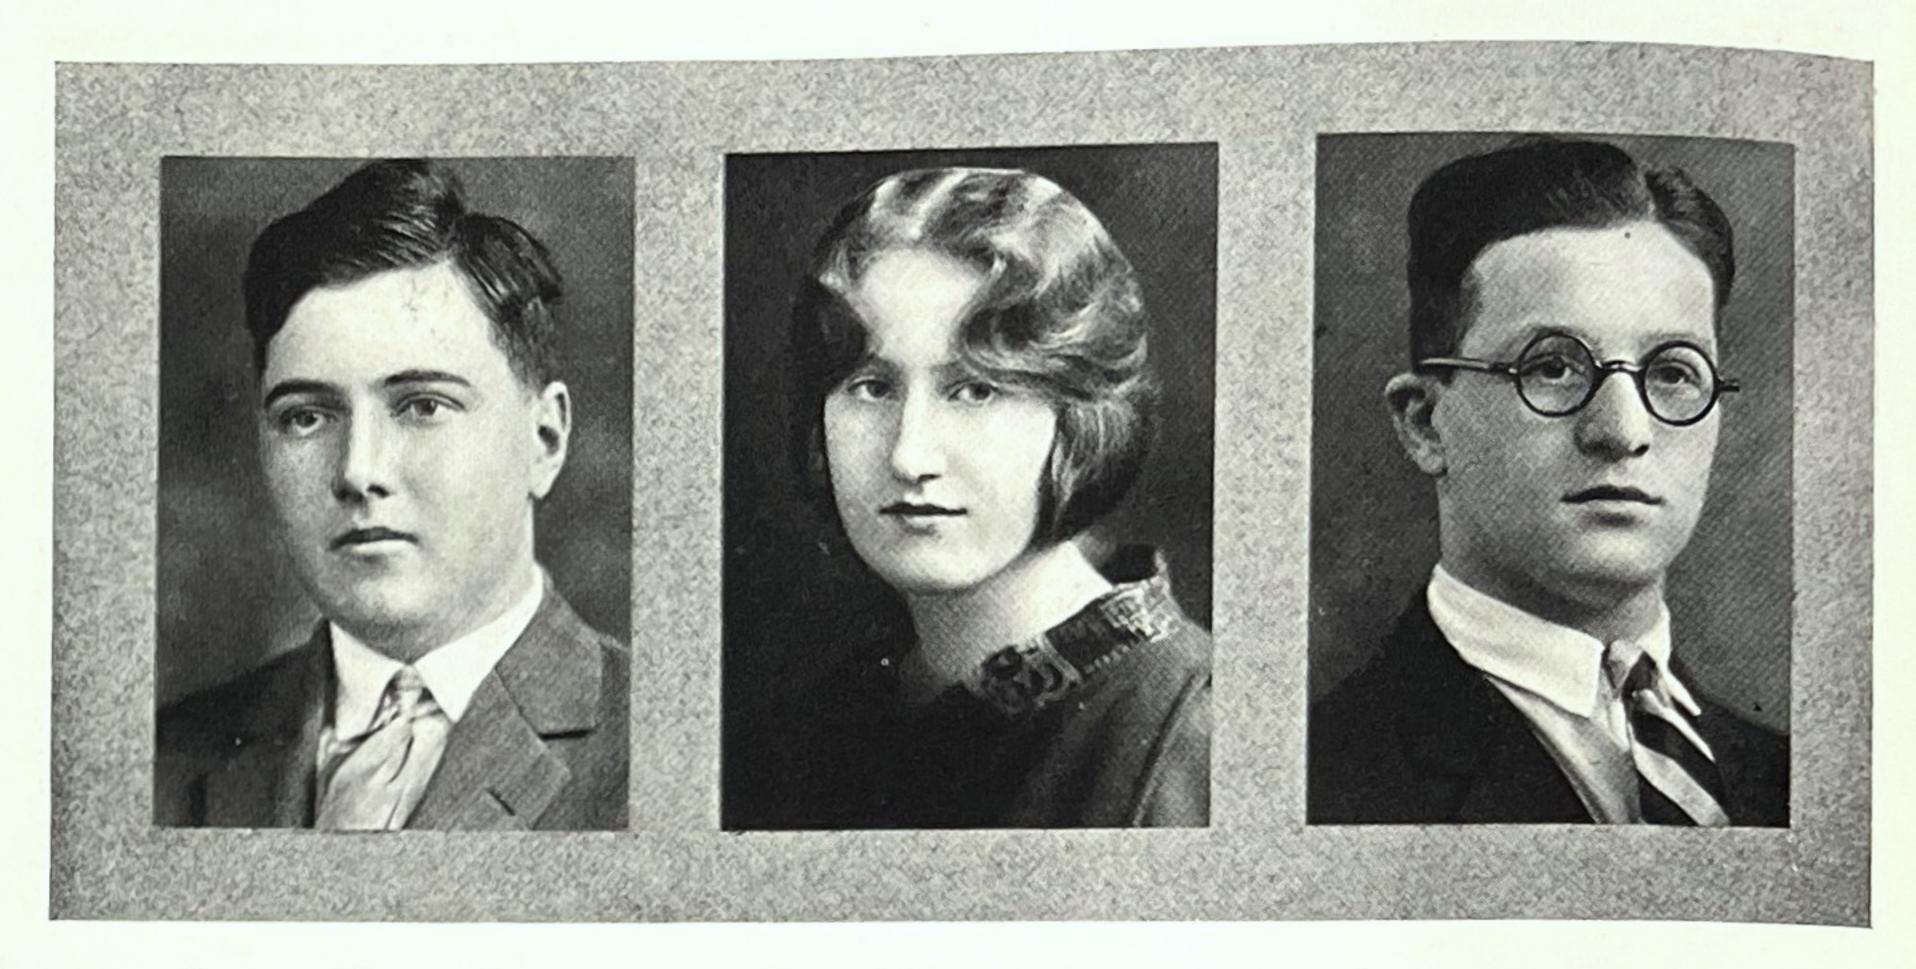

HARRY WARREN WELLS Rifle "C," 1923-24 Manager, Rifle, 1923-24

"Hap" has made a fine record for himself on the rifle range. He is an enthusiastic radio "bug" and spends much of his spare time listening to California. After graduating from Central, he will join some of his friends at Maryland State. Although Harry is very quiet, he has made many friends at Central.

HARRY WIDOM

Harry came to Washington from St. Paul and entered the Bowen School. He graduated from the Jefferson and entered Central in 1920. In his senior year he made a good showing at track, but, unfortunately, an injured wrist made further training impossible. At graduation from Central he intends to take up business as a career.

FREDERIC WILLIAM WILE

"Woozy" Wile, one of Central's three-year students, came to this school in September, 1921. Although his time was limited, his good spirit prevailed, and he joined the cadet corps during his first year. In addition to his membership in the Military organization of the school, he joined the swimming squad in 1922, and for two years showed his prowess as an athlete.

ALICE WILLIAMS

One Year Dramatic Certificate

Alice is just "a dainty bit of rare completeness," a wonderful combination of charm and personality with a lot of sweetness and thoughtfulness thrown in. George Washington gets her next year, and we know her record of scholarship and popularity will be as good there and through life as it has been at Central. Happiness and success to you, Alice!

ETHEL MARION WILFONG

Here's to Marion, the tall blonde of the senior class. She has a happy disposition, and for four years has calmed our troubled and often turbulent minds. She is earnest and sincere, but has all the characteristics which keep her from being sombre. She's a scholar and a good sport in the bargain. Come on, Marion, we're for you!

BURRUS ROBERT WILLIAMS

This great musician has done more than anyone else to prove to Mr. Wood that everybody likes good music. Rachmaninoff has never received more applause than our brilliant pianist did the day he played in chapel. We expect to see him some day in the front ranks, helping to make Washington the great art center of the world.

ABRAHAM WILLCHER
Assistant Business Manager,
Brecky

Our friend "Abe" was born in Washington. He graduated from Abbot School in June of 1918. The following September he entered Central, but had to leave in April, 1920. He returned in September, 1921, to show Centralites what a real student and real school spirit is. "Abe" expects to attend G. W. U., and I am sure he will bring honor to "Old Central."

MARJORIE LEE WILLIAMS

Marjorie has won many friends during her time at Central through her sweet, charming manner. She is a typical girl, fond of dancing, basket ball, and other sports. Everyone who knows Marjorie loves her, and, now that she is going, all wish her good luck in her future life. May it be as fine as her school career has been.

MARY EVELYN WILLIAMS Scholarship

Thorough as her application and complete as her progress here have been, Mary's sojourn with us threatens always to be passing. Born in Pennsylvania, now a true Washingtonian; she quests knowledge of lands yet unseen, languages yet unlearned, routes yet untrod. Young Washington must provide more personal inducements to retain here those far-seeking gray eyes that we cherish so much.

ROBERT WALTER WILSON

As a true Centralite, Bob has done his bit for Central. As a member of the Freshman football team of 1920 and as No. 7 on the crew he has earned distinction in both sports. He has been a member of the Arc Club for two years. At graduation from Central, Bob will continue his talents for architecture at Penn State.

MARY ELIZABETH WILSON

Although her first name is Mary, she is better known about Central as Elizabeth, which her friends shorten to "Betty." Whether she is addressed as Mary, Elizabeth or Betty, the response is always the same—a bright smile. Her next ambition, which is the Wilson Normal School, shows her desire to make as good a teacher as she has been a student.

MABLE ELIZABETH WILTBANK Review Staff, 1923-24

The secret is out! She just couldn't keep the "Mable" hidden any longer, nor the fact that she is from Virginia. Her steady gray eyes smile when she tells of coming from Baltimore High School during her second year and her choice of schools. It wouldn't be good policy to name that other school, but she chose the right one!

MARY FRANCES WILSON

Mary's sunny disposition has won for her many friends at Central. She seems to be a quiet little miss with soft brown eyes, but her close friends know she is full of fun and humor. She is fond of music. Dancing is her favorite pastime. Her sweetness is going to bring her what we wish, a bright and prosperous future.

HILDA KATHREEN WINE

"In my desk my books do lie; they're at rest and so am I," seems to be quite a befitting slogan for such an intellectual person as Hilda. She says she's going to Ohio State for four (?) years. However, we are sure that she will like her college studies, and we wish her the best of luck.

MARY-ELIZABETH WINGFIELD

Four years ago the South lost one of its sweetest girls when Mary-Elizabeth came to Washington from North Carolina. She has won the hearts of us all with her sparkling brown eyes and charming vivacious Southern manners. After two years at Gunston Hall, her pretty hands will probably be busy mixing biscuits and cakes for some lucky man.

SELMA VIRGINIA WITMER

Selma entered Central in 1920, since when she has been a loyal Centralite in every way. Just what her ambitions, hopes, and aspirations are she hasn't yet decided; but whatever she undertakes will surely be successful, for she has that great quality, perseverance. She has won many friends, being a true one herself. May success be yours, Selma!

VIOLET ELIZABETH WINTER

Violet is always nice and goes around in her own sweet way. Kindness and helpfulness are her middle name. One of her charming traits is that she is always agreeable. After graduating from Central, she is going to school in Washington for one or two years, then she is going away to school.

DORIS NORMILLE WOLF

When personalities were given out, Doris must have pushed up to the front of the line, because she has one of the most versatile and jolliest ones to be had. This combined with a funloving disposition and a pair of eyes as blue as her smile is sweet, makes Doris a "regular girl."

WARREN HUTCHINSON WINTER

Meet our sole representative of the land of Old Faithful. Although he has been at Central only one year, he has made many true friends. As a member of the Debating Society, he upheld the reputation of Webster. His one ambition now is to enter Princeton. Later he hopes to follow in his father's footsteps as a statesman.

UNIS WOODWARD

You know her. The girl with the cheery smile and hearty laugh. She is one of Central's most capable girls. Unis received her first diploma from the Ross School after eight years of study. After she receives a diploma from Central, Unis is going to George Washington University. Her clever and cheery ways will win her many new friends.

EDWARD MAGRUDER WOOLF
Regimental Quartermaster
Captain

If it is raining, spend your time with "Eddie" and you will be glad it rained. He always has a cheery and, in most cases, humorous word for everybody. He was born July 21, 1906, at Falls Church, Va., and graduated from the Powell School in 1920. All those who know "Eddie" like him, and very few don't know him.

MANTON MARBLE WYVELL Battalion Adjutant, First Lieutenant 1923-24 Swimming "C" 1924

Manton originally hailed from New York City, but entered Central from the Powell School. He has made many friends by his winning personality and good humor while here. Although we do not know what profession Manton will follow after his "sojourn" at Cornell, we are certain that he will make a success in anything which he undertakes.

JULIA WORONOW

A brown-haired lassie is here at Central, who in her home is mother's delight. Her brothers tease, her sister, too, but Julia Woronow is just true blue. What she will grow to be some day I can't just now be sure to say. But over the sea, and far from home, this bright-eyed girl is sure to roam.

CLYDE DAWSON YEOMANS

Of the many Clydes who have left Central, Clyde Yeomans is probably the most pleasant. As he is always happy, it is very easy to make him smile. His beaming smile is contagious, and has undoubtedly enlightened the hearts of many boys and girls. Clyde's small size does not in the least prevent him from being a true Centralite.

GARLAND EDWARD WORTHY

There's a boy—well known at Central—and, believe me, he's a live wire. The East isn't big enough for him, so he is going West when he graduates. He thinks Washington is too slow for him. But he came from Missouri, which is slower. There isn't much to say for Garland, for he is more than "Worthy." He is one of the "Old Central."

ROBERTA WATTERSON YERKES Scholarship

Who hasn't seen Roberta strolling down Central's corridors observing us intently? Her ambition is to be a psychologist—hence these searching glances. After a year's traveling in Europe, Roberta will go to Bryn Mawr. She is known to the faculty as a good student, and to the school as a good pal. Here's luck to her!

ETHELYN WHITTEMORE ZELLERS
Scholarship

"Hail, hail, our gang's all here." So sing we all when Ethelyn arrives. She's full of pep and vim, and wherever she goes she's chief fun-maker. Her work on the Review Staff and in the Dramatic Association has proved her capability. Ethelyn is just a dandy good sport, and a peach of a pal.

RICHARD EDWARD ZIEGLER

"Dick," as he is known to his friends, hails from Mount Tamalpais Military Academy, Saurafael, California. During his stay at Central he has taken a leading part in school activities, and Central can boast of no person who has been more loyal to the old school. Well, "Dick," here's wishing you the best of luck in your future life.

June Paledictory

as the second of the second of the

THE day is done. And as the dark shadows of eventide gather and the twilight deepens into night, we lay down our tools and yield ourselves to a gentle reminiscence of the past. Only thus it is, when the work is completed and the tumult has subsided, with the setting of the sun, that the real issues become clear, and all things assume their proper places and true values in the scheme of life. So now we may see rightly to what avail we have toiled here, and judge accurately what Central has given us.

All our studies have tended toward one end. That end is the training of the mind. There is no one subject which did not, as we were taught it, bring about the exercise of some particular faculty of the brain. Algebra and geometry gave us the ability to reason closely and correctly. From Latin we learned to concentrate, and history necessitated the use of our memories. The sciences brought the imagination into strong play. The languages gave a wider scope to our thoughts and from English we have the ability to give to those thoughts more perfect expression. Our first gain, then, is a trained mind.

The number of the subjects covered in the curriculum adds an interesting variety to our fund of knowledge. Athletics promote a feeling of good fellowship and frank wholeheartedness. Debating and dramatic work bring an ease and poise in conversation. Through all or a part of these things we come by that indefinable attractiveness called personality. There could be, however, no more direct contribution to our actual happiness than this. Thus our second great gain is a developed personality.

Through a mind so trained and a personality so developed there runs a high purpose, which, partaking as it does of the very spirit of Central, lends force to the one and reality to the other. These three, then, Central gives to us—a trained mind, a developed personality, and a high purpose. For them we owe a debt of gratitude to our loyal teachers. With them we must tomorrow face the world.

The hour of parting draws nigh, and with its approach a rush of recollection sweeps over us. We have loved our school and now must leave her. But the golden threads of memory, stretching from every class-room and corridor in this great building to every heart and mind in the student body of '24, form a lasting bond of affection which,' defying alike time and distance, will hold us to Central throughout the years. Secure in this, with light hearts and high hopes, we go. May God go with us!

ROBERT SPENCER WARD.

Wellington Barto—(Politely to Marguerite Shellenberg)—"Won't you sit down?" Watson Monroe—"Sit down. You finished long ago. Sit down." Marguerite—"You needn't be satirical."

TEACHER—"Sh—sh."

Time-11 o'clock

Watson—"What do I call you? 'Dearest, darling, or just plain dear?'"
ELANOR CHANDLER—"Lovey! Don't you remember?"
VINTON—"That's the cue for muted applause!"
WELLINGTON—"Go on, gang."

Time-11:15 o'clock

CURTAIN—Swish—Bang. AUDIENCE—(Clap—clap—clap—) "Wasn't it fine?"

AUDIENCE—(Clap—clap—clap—) wash to he have a Good-bye. See you tomorrow!"
ACTORS—"Whew. It's over. Congratulations everybody. Good-bye. See you tomorrow!"

"Trelawney" will be only a "pleasing memory," but it will be a memory that will bring happiness and a thrill of pleasure to all of us no matter where we may be, no matter what we do. And when we take out our old programs and read the list of names, we'll be able to say, "Ah, they were a great gang! It was a great play! We had a great time."

YVONNE LEVY.

Competitive Prill Pay

"The judges are advancing to the Colonel. They've rendered the decision. Oh, Annette," breathed Dots, excitedly, "please keep me from jumping over this rail!"

"Now he's turning back to give it to the Adjutant," pants Eileen. "If I only had a pair of field glasses to see his expression! Will this never end? He's already been standing there ten minutes, I know. Can you imagine standing still that long, at a time like this? He must surely know we are all having heart failure!"

"He's turned about," murmurs through the vast expectant crowd.

"Oh," breathes Dots, huskily, "I'm much too thrilled to look. Do tell me, Annette has the Adjutant turned to the right or to the left? . . . ."
